HITLER TO HURL BIGGER U-BOAT FLEET AT FOES

Navy Fixes Schedule for New Raids.

Fuehrer's Lucky Days!

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 14. — German horoscope fans today said the most favorable days in Fuehrer Hitler's horoscope are between Nov. 16 and 23. The horoscope enthusiasts are not among the astrologers who enjoy a big clientele among Nazi leaders. However, they assert that in the recent months Hitler always has chosen the days which, according to their charts of stars, were the most favorable.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 14.—The German navy is increasing the production of submarines as rapidly as possible. It is concentrating its attention on the manufacture of a new type of U-boats weighing 500 tons, it was disclosed tonight. This tonnage figure is about one-third of that of many the British and French submarines.

The Germans possessed slightly more than 100 submarines at the outbreak of the war. Most of the diving boats started raiding immediately. In recent weeks not much has been heard of the activity of the raiders.

Authorities now are working out a new schedule of warfare for Adolf Hitler's fleet of submarines. Under the plan one-third of the available U-boats will start raiding while another third is on the way back to home ports. The last one-third will undergo an overhauling as the attacking ships go to sea and the rest are coming home.

Seek Naval Officers.

The navy also threw the door wide open for the training of naval officers. Youths between the ages of 17 and 24, who are not married, can enlist for training which will start next year. They are promised a chance to become officers in navigation, engineering, sanitation, gunnery, as well as in an executive capacity and in naval construction.

News of the decision to increase the number of submarines came as Lieut. Hahn, speaking for the ministry of propaganda, explained the decision of the naval high command to treat armed foreign merchant ships as "pirates." He asserted that any foreign ship carrying guns risks being sunk.

"The action to be taken by the submarine commanders depends on the circumstances," it was announced.

"Freebooters" Defined.

Lieut. Hahn said the Germans will consider merchantmen flying naval ensigns as auxiliary cruisers. If the ships are equipped with guns of large or small caliber, the vessels then will be regarded as freebooters.

If a merchant ship, which has been stopped by a submarine, sends out an S O S or tries to escape by zigzagging the vessel will be regarded as offering resistance and may be sunk, the lieutenant asserted. If concealed guns are found on the vessel it will be classified as a submarine trap and will be destroyed, he asserted. If its captain submits to search by the crew of the submarine the merchantman will be permitted to continue its passage.

List Armed Ships.

German authorities, after publishing a list of 30 British and five French steamers which are regarded as armed, turned over the names of the vessels to all submarine commanders. Belief was expressed in some quarters that the commanders will attempt to sink these ships.

The Germans emphasized that they do not consider it possible to make a difference between weapons of defense and attack as suggested by President Roosevelt.

Hitler, meanwhile, revealed that he believes there is no possibility of ending the war because Great Britain and France failed to accept the mediation offer from King Leopold of the Belgians and Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands.

Joachim von Ribbentrop, the Fuehrer's foreign minister, told Viscount Jacques Davignon, Belgian ambassador, and H. M. Van Haersma de With, Netherlands minister, that the reply to their sovereigns would be a polite "no." The foreign minister said Hitler's reply would be delivered formally to Brussels and The Hague. Von Ribbentrop was said to have declared that the replies from England and France made peace impossible now.

DISBAR LAWYER FOR LOAN PLOT IN MANTON CASE

Lasker and Others Called Victims.

New York, Nov. 14 [Special].—Louis S. Levy, one of New York City's most prominent and prosperous lawyers, was disbarred from federal court practice here today for his rôle in the extrajudicial machinations of former Federal Judge Martin T. Manton.

Paul M. Hahn, former associate of Levy and now vice president of the American Tobacco company, was exonerated on similar charges.

United States District Judge John C. Knox, acting on charges presented four months ago by United States Attorney John T. Cahill, ordered Levy disbarred, and in a 50 page opinion castigated him for his professional misconduct. Judge Knox branded Levy as "venal and corrupt in mind, heart, and action," and declared "the density of his sensibilities is such that he ought not to practice at this bar."

Reviews False Swearing.

"Let the order for Levy's disbarment be predicated not alone on the matters set forth in the petition," Judge Knox said, "but also upon his false swearing and deceit in this [the disbarment] proceeding."

Manton, former senior judge of the Circuit Court of Appeals here, is appealing a sentence of two years in prison and a fine of $10,000 for selling his decisions.

The basis of the disbarment was the part that Levy played in arranging a $50,000 loan by Lord & Thomas, advertising agents, to the late James J. Sullivan, a Manton associate, while a $10,000,000 suit against the American Tobacco company, a Lord & Thomas client, was pending before Manton.

Manton Takes the Blame.

Manton, himself a witness at the disbarment hearing, testified that he personally broached the subject of the loan to Levy.

At that time Levy was handling, before Judge Manton's court, and on behalf of the tobacco company and its officers, appeals in suits involving many millions of dollars. The loan was made by Albert D. Lasker, head of Lord & Thomas, at the request of Hahn.

Manton subsequently wrote opinions favorable to Levy's clients. Later all were reversed in the Supreme court, except one which did not affect the merits of the case. The high court decided this one should be retried in New Jersey, rather than in New York.

Others Exonerated.

Judge Knox found that Hahn had not known of the relationships between Levy and Manton and was not proven to have acted from improper motives. He found that Lasker had been deceived by his associates and had no idea that the loan was for the actual benefit of a judge sitting on matters affecting Lasker's client. He said Lasker had been "shamefully treated."

Levy has the right to appeal his disbarment to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. His right to practice in New York state courts is expected to await final decision on his federal court status.

Levy is 62 years old. He was one of the original members of the old firm of Chadbourne, Stanchfield & Levy. Both Chadbourne and Stanchfield are dead, but when Levy formed his own firm some years ago it was under the name of Stanchfield & Levy.

AUTO STRIKES IRK GOV. HEIL; WISHES HE RAN MICHIGAN

Wisconsin's Gov. Julius P. Heil last night said he would like to be the governor of Michigan.

Decrying indecision and lack of honesty in labor disputes, Heil declared: "You've got to use strong methods. I would like to be the governor of Michigan today. They have no right to have strikes there."

Heil told representatives of the trucking industry at the National Motor Truck show's sixth annual banquet in the Palmer House that good will and elimination of labor racketeers would do much to eliminate labor trouble.

The man who causes labor trouble, Heil said, is "the man getting $1 or $2 a month in spoils from each individual worker." The individual worker is not to blame, he said, in urging employers to apply the old fashioned golden rule in labor relations.

Fire Engulfs Oil Town; 500 Feared Dead

CARACAS, Venezuela, Nov. 14 (AP).—The oil town of Lagunillas, built on stilts on the edge of Lake Maracaibo and one of the major oil terminals in Venezuela, was destroyed last night by a fire in which more than 500 persons were reported dead or missing. Some estimates of the dead ranged as high as 800.

Map locates scene of fire.

The flames were assumed to have spread quickly over the oil film on the lake, in which hundreds of oil derricks stand. The fire roared thru some 200 wooden shacks which had been built out over the water as homes of the oil workers of the great Lake Maracaibo field.

Hundreds Trapped in Homes.

The town of 2,500 population, believed to be all native, was virtually wiped out by the high-shooting flames before any attempt could be made to fight the fire or send for help.

The stilt village, thru which was shipped much of the oil sent to Great Britain from Venezuela's fields, burned like tinder, and trapped hundreds in the houses. Within four hours nothing was left of the town but floating débris and smouldering piles.

The pile ends, which once supported houses, were smouldering stumps tonight, but the lake itself, which is 60 miles wide, was not ablaze. Some survivors said a short circuit on a post was responsible for the deaths of several people who were clinging to it. Some overloaded duckboards, used as sidewalks in the town, were said to have collapsed, hurling others to their deaths in the fiery lake.

Set Up Relief Fund.

A relief fund totaling 355,000 bolivars [$110,050] was quickly raised by President Eleazar Lopez Contreras and the Venezuelan government. The injured and homeless were taken to relief camps hurriedly established near by.

The president decreed three days of mourning throughout the nation.

There were conflicting versions of the start of the fire, which first was seen last night about 9 o'clock. One report to the government said the fire started after a warehouse explosion. Another said the explosion of a kerosene lamp in a bar had touched off the conflagration.

Rush Doctors by Plane.

Three cabinet ministers were sent to coördinate relief work and investigate the fire. Doctors and nurses were rushed to the town by airplane and automobile. National guardsmen were sent to maintain order.

Relief work was extremely difficult and tonight but 100 bodies had been recovered. It was believed by authorities that many hundreds of bodies were yet under the smouldering, floating ruins.

Three major oil producers, Royal Dutch-Shell, Standard of New Jersey, and Gulf Oil corporation have terminals at Lagunillas. Oil piped from inland and from wells drilled in the bed of the lake is loaded on small tankers, hauled across the shallow bar at Maracaibo, and transferred to larger ocean going tankers in the harbor. The manager of the Shell Petroleum company said there were no losses to the company's property.

Many Children Killed.

New York, Nov. 14 (AP).—An oil company executive who asked that his name be withheld said tonight that most of the hundreds killed in the Lagunillas fire were children trapped in houses built over the lake.

"Their parents were away at the movies," he said.

MAGNA CARTA COPY IN U. S. SAFEKEEPING IN WAR EMERGENCY

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14 (AP).—The best of the four extant originals of Magna Carta, keystone of civil liberties in the English speaking countries, is to be placed in the library of congress for safekeeping during the present war emergency.

Sol D. Bloom [D., N. Y.], chairman of the house foreign affairs committee, made public today a letter from Archibald MacLeish, librarian of congress, disclosing that England's great charter would be put on display opposite the constitution and declaration of independence at ceremonies Nov. 28.

The British embassy said that King John placed his mark on 12 originals of Magna Carta at Runnymede in 1215. Of these 12, 4 now exist and the one to be placed in the congressional library is the most legible. It has been on display at the New York World's Fair. It will be placed in the library by the marquess of Lothian, British ambassador.

Dies to Conduct Red Inquiry on Chicago Plants

An alleged infiltration of communist elements into two essential industries in Chicago—meat packing and farm implements—is to be investigated by the house committee on un-American activities headed by Congressman Martin Dies [D., Tex.].

Dies is expected to arrive here Friday morning and go to work at once at the Hotel Sherman. The United States marshal's office has been ordered to serve subpenas on at least seven witnesses.

May See Union Records.

Chief Deputy Marshal Joseph Tobin refused to name those summoned. It was reported, however, that some members of the Packinghouse Workers' Organizing committee, C. I. O. affiliate which has been active in the stockyards, had been summoned. It was also reported that the records of the union would be inspected.

A preliminary investigation of communism in the two industries was made by John C. Metcalfe, personal aid to Representative Dies, and he was said to have found evidence that communist influences were powerful and potentially dangerous. Dies then decided to come here from his home in Texas to press the inquiry.

Interested in Fascist Groups.

The congressman was also said to be interested in the progress made by Italian Fascist groups and in the development of Nazi propaganda forces. Metcalfe is reported to have discovered that the Nazi efforts are being carried on in foreign organizations other than German.

Judge Scolds Jurors Who Flipped Coin for a Verdict

Richmond, Ky., Nov. 14 (AP).—Federal Judge H. Church Ford discharged a 12 man jury with a stern reprimand today after learning, he said, that two of the jurors tossed a coin to arrive at an acquittal verdict.

"It is an awful thing," Judge Ford said, "that the pitch of a coin should determine the fate of a person on trial. I do not want such jurors to serve in this court." The verdict freed Mrs. Jane Webb, 40 years old, of Floyd county, charged with possessing untaxed liquor.

Marshal Orders Ye Olde Time Justice for 5 Boys

Gloucester, Mass., Nov. 14 (AP).—Public punishment similar to that of New England's colonial days was ordered tonight for five boys accused of theft. The present plan does not call for the ducking stool or the stocks, but rather provides that the boys place the stolen articles in a small trailer which they are to tow thru the streets, returning the articles to the owners en route.

Search Cicero Night Spot for Murder Clews

Three squads of police from State's Attorney Courtney's office seeking clews to the killers of Edward J. O'Hare, raided the Paddock lounge at 4833 Cermak road, Cicero, late last night. Two pistols found in the place were confiscated and five men whose answers did not suit Lieut. Thomas Kelly, the leader of the raiders, were kept in custody.

Ralph Capone, brother of the notorious Alphonse, is reported to own the lounge, altho its liquor license was made out in the name of Michael De Rose. Ralph Capone was not present.

List of Prisoners.

Those held are Claude Harper, 30 years old, 2316 South Cicero avenue, Cicero; Anthony Tacinelli, 29, of the Suburban hotel in Cicero; Matty Novak, 27, of 2104 South 56th avenue, Cicero; Thomas Pecen, 30, of 3222 South Karlov avenue, and Thomas Smicklas, 36, of 3155 South Harding avenue. Harper and Tacinelli said they were exercise boys at Sportsman's Park, the race track of which O'Hare was president.

More than a dozen patrons of the place, including several women, were questioned by the raiders for more than an hour. The five men held were taken to the Chicago detective bureau in a Cicero police wagon.

Raiders Seize Records.

Records of the establishment, bearing on labor as well as finances, were seized by the raiders, who were still busy with their questioning early today.

The Paddock Lounge is a bar with a large rear room extending behind three stores to the west, all facing on Cermak road. The police learned too late that these extra stores furnished convenient exits and that a number of the patrons fled thru them, leaving their coats and hats behind.

The police evinced interest in two large automobiles which drew away from the establishment as they approached. Bartenders and other workers said they couldn't recall the identity of the owners.

QUAKE IS FELT IN FOUR STATES ON EAST COAST

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 14 (AP).—An earthquake of considerable intensity, apparently centering in southern New Jersey, shook a four state area tonight.

Windows rattled. Buildings swayed. Dishes tumbled from shelves. Pictures fell from walls, altho no serious damage was reported.

The Franklin institute in Philadelphia said its seismograph showed the quake began at 10:45 p. m. [Chicago time] and lasted for approximately 10 seconds.

Tremors were felt as far south as Bridgeton, N. J., as far west as Baltimore, and north to Allentown, Pa., and Trenton, Riverton, and Palmyra, N. J. Wilmington, Del., also reported a severe shaking. A deep rumbling that resembled distant thunder accompanied the temblor.

Who Built the Fire Under Lambda Chis?—a Mystery

James Zahner, 17 years old, a freshman living at the Goodrich house at Northwestern university, looked across the quadrangle at midnight last night and saw smoke pouring from windows of the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity house. He roused 32 slumbering Lambda Chis, who rushed to the street in their pajamas. Zahner, investigating, found two pails in the fraternity lounge. They were filled with a smoldering sulphurous mass. The fraternity boys would like to know who put them there.

JUDGE HOLLAND UNDERGOES QUIZ ON O'HARE DEAL

Tells of Realty Pool in Slaying Inquiry.

On Way to Atlanta?

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 14 [Special].—Despite conflicting rumors, clews which leaked past the censorship of federal agents in Los Angeles and Terminal Island prison officials indicated tonight that Al Capone is on his way back to the Atlanta federal prison, where he began serving his sentence more than seven years ago.

Indications are that Capone is being returned there to undergo a physical and mental examination before a board of three doctors. If he passes this test successfully, he will be released Sunday. The most generally accepted assumption here is that Capone, after his release, will undergo several months of treatment in a private sanitarium before going to his $350,000 mansion at Miami Beach, Fla.

Two business associates of Edward J. O'Hare, millionaire front man for the Capone gang syndicate, yesterday were questioned at State's Attorney Courtney's office as his investigators delved into a maze of financial deals in the hope of throwing new light upon O'Hare's death last Wednesday at the hands of shotgun assassins.

The two are Municipal Judge Eugene J. Holland, who shared profits with O'Hare in a south side real estate enterprise, and John Patton, known as "the boy mayor of Burnham," who for years was Al Capone's vice overlord for Burnham, Cicero, and Stickney.

Since the names of Holland and Patton were connected with the O'Hare case, members of the Tribune staff have been searching state documents and court records for an accurate outline of their associations with the slain man.

Results of Inquiry Told.

As a result this story tells not only the things Holland and Patton told the state's attorney's men yesterday but also many facts that they didn't tell.

Holland, who appeared before Wilbert F. Crowley, first assistant state's attorney, minus the mustache he has worn for years, was questioned specifically on how he became acquainted with the suave Capone front man and upon the number of their deals and the amounts involved.

The judge replied that he met O'Hare thru mutual friends. He said he could not remember the details of the meeting. He listed a few of the transactions in which he and O'Hare had participated jointly, but asked to be allowed to consult his records, which he promised to submit for examination.

Judges to Weigh Action.

About the time Holland was being questioned, Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby of the Municipal court announced he would put the matter before all the judges of the court at their monthly meeting Friday. Early in the week Judge Sonsteby had said he considered an investigation imperative.

"Whenever a Municipal judge is hooked up in any way with an unsavory condition, it reflects in the minds of the public on the entire court," Judge Sonsteby said yesterday. "As I understand it, the connection was wholly legitimate business, but it is a good thing to receive the opinions of all the Municipal judges in any such matter."

Patton was questioned by Assistant State's Attorney Robert Wright, Capt. Daniel Gilbert, chief investigator, and Lieut. Thomas Kelly of the state's attorney's police.

Denies Capone Ownership.

He denied that the Capone gang has any part in the ownership or operation of Sportsman's Park race track, of which O'Hare was president.

Patton said that altho he had known Capone for many years, he never had had any business dealings with him. He made no comment upon a suit filed in federal court here by Mrs. Dorothy Hyland of Kirkwood, Mo., a stockholder, charging that Sportsman's Park was evolved from Capone's old Hawthorne dog track—of which O'Hare also was head.

In addition to Holland and Patton, the state's attorney's staff questioned

Annette [Toni] Cavaretta, O'Hare's confidential secretary; Hugh Bennett, auditor at Sportman's; William Johnstone, publicity director, and Edward H. O'Hare, the slain man's son. None gave helpful information except Patton and Johnstone.

Stabbing Is New Mystery.

As the questioning went on during the afternoon, a development which had been considered of major importance to the investigation earlier suddenly became a new mystery. A former boxer, Russell [Rusty] Stoddard, 21 years old, who was found knifed in Los Angeles, Cal., Monday night and who said he was a former bodyguard to O'Hare, changed his story and denied it.

Detective Lieutenant LeRoy Sanderson of Los Angeles said he had learned that a letter found in Stoddard's pockets probably had been written by Stoddard himself, who sent it to a relative in Little Rock, Ark., to be mailed back. The letter said that O'Hare's assassins are known and intimated that reprisals would be taken by the Capone gang. Sanderson believes Stoddard, who had been an exercise boy at Sportsman's Park, had hoped to pose as a big time gangster.

Another Letter Studied.

State's Attorney Courtney, meanwhile, was endeavoring to learn the identities of a number of persons referred to in another letter, which was sent to O'Hare two years ago as a warning that Al Capone, in Alcatraz prison for income tax evasion, was raging and declaring he would have O'Hare's life.

The letter, found in O'Hare's secret hideout in an apartment building he owned at 1220 Sherwin avenue, was written by a man who had been told of the threats by two ex-convicts, just released from Alcatraz.

This man wrote the information to a close friend of O'Hare and it eventually was delivered to O'Hare. Courtney hopes to learn the names of the two ex-convicts and all the others concerned.

JUDGE QUIZZED ON DEALS

Tells of Joining O'Hare in Realty Pool.

When Judge Holland appeared at the state's attorney's office at noon yesterday, Crowley plunged immediately into the background of the real estate enterprise.

The judge replied that in 1937 he and O'Hare and several others formed the pool, which purchased assets of Bain & Co. for $17,000. [This later was learned to be John Bain, Inc.] There were equities in a number of properties, the securities for which had been sold by the Bain banks, which failed in 1931.

The purchase, Judge Holland said, was made in a federal court bankruptcy sale, with John McCarthy, real estate man with offices at 1405 West 63d street, making the successful bid.

Details Unavailable, Says Judge.

O'Hare was represented in the realty deals, Judge Holland continued, by Roger Jenness, 231 South La Salle street, where the Alpha Real Estate and Investment company has offices. Jenness managed some of the pool's properties.

The judge said that no details of the nature of the assets acquired were immediately available, and asked that he be allowed to consult his records before going further into the transaction. He added that he and O'Hare also had been jointly concerned in the purchase for $43,000 of a property on Arthur avenue.

It was in this deal, he said, that his wife, Mrs. Julia Holland, signed the quit claim deed which was found Monday in O'Hare's safety deposit vault in the Continental Illinois National bank. By this she renounced any joint property rights she might hold in the property as the judge's wife.

Tells of Stock Ownership.

Holland also mentioned the Alpha company, but not in detail. He said he held 32 per cent of the stock in the real estate enterprise, that O'Hare held 18 per cent, and that the remaining 50 per cent was held by the other members.

The judge repeated an earlier statement that the reports O'Hare had connections with the Capone gang had greatly shocked him as well as others. He said O'Hare had been an ideal partner and that to Holland's knowledge he never had done anything dishonorable.

Upon emerging from Crowley's office, Judge Holland was asked about two phone calls he had received from O'Hare early this month, a few days before O'Hare was overtaken by his assassins at Ogden avenue and Rockwell street and put to death.

Meetings Few, Says Judge.

Holland said he had received these calls but that they concerned only the real estate business. He said he had seen O'Hare only once this year and but twice last year.

The judge then was asked whether he felt that he should make any explanation of the thousands of dismissals of bookmakers and other gamblers who appeared before him in the Racket court during his 16 months on that bench. He replied:

"No dismissals were made until after the state's attorney's staff had presented the evidence and I had interpreted the law of Illinois as I understood it."

HOLLAND-O'HARE DEALS

Investigators Uncover Details of Realty Ventures.

Here are some of the facts about O'Hare's and Holland's real estate deals which Holland did not discuss with the state's attorney:

Ramifications of transactions involving purchases of $127,000 worth of real estate and realty bonds by a group of five men, among them O'Hare, Holland, and Harry Walsh, a loop bookmaker, were uncovered yesterday by investigators for THE TRIBUNE.

Five men formed an enterprise early in 1937. The men were Holland, O'Hare, Walsh, James G. Coston, and John McCarthy, a south side realty broker. McCarthy, brother of Emmett McCarthy, attorney for State Auditor Edward J. Barrett, was the manager of a number of properties in which they were interested. Most of these had been underwritten by the late John Bain, former south park commissioner and president of the defunct Bain banks.

The banks closed in June, 1931, and John Bain, Inc., a real estate company that handled some of the underwriting, filed a petition in bankruptcy under the 77B federal statute on Sept. 3, 1935. Charles M. Bates, trustee in bankruptcy, conducted a sale of the remaining assets of that concern in June, 1937, after the bankruptcy liquidation.

Buys Titles to Properties.

First action of the O'Hare-Holland group was to purchase most of these assets for the sum of $17,500. The acquisition consisted chiefly of titles to a number of heavily mortgaged buildings, and dozens of first and second realty mortgage bonds of doubtful value.

The second move came when the group attempted to buy the Markedzie building on the southwest corner of 62d place and Kedzie avenue at a foreclosure sale Sept. 10, 1937. Roger Jenness, agent for the group, bid $40,000 for this building at that time. Originally there had been a $300,000 mortgage on the property.

The O'Hare-Holland group held title to the property as a result of the John Bain, Inc., purchase. The sale was about to be approved but at the last moment, thru intervention of an individual in the state auditor's office, the bondholders offered a bid of $50,000.

Bid Is Rejected.

The O'Hare-Holland bid was then refused, the building was readvertised, and ultimately it was sold to the bondholders' committee.

The next move of the O'Hare-Holland group came while the Markedzie deal still was pending. Jenness, acting again for the group, bid $50,000 at the foreclosure sale of the Fisher building, a combined office and store structure at the southwest corner of 63d street and Kedzie avenue. A bond issue of $225,000 had been floated on this building and at the time of the sale a deficiency decree of $270,000 had been entered against it.

There were no other bidders, however, and Judge Walter T. Stanton in Superior court approved the sale for the bid price in November, 1937. It was learned yesterday that the O'Hare-Holland group had bought bonds to the face value of $175,000 on this building at 25 cents on the dollar prior to the purchase.

All Members Sign Check.

Their investment in the bonds amounted to approximately $44,000. The bonds then were used in paying off the purchase price—their face value being prorated in that transaction to about the sum paid for them. A check, signed by all the members of the group, was given in final payment on the deal.

Title to the Fisher building also had come to the group in the John Bain, Inc., purchases.

The last transaction that involved Bain, Inc., properties was the purchase of the West Lawn building on the northeast corner of 63d street and Crawford avenue, on Oct. 14, 1937. This property had been mortgaged for $350,000 by Bain and $32,000 in back taxes was owed on it at the time it was offered in foreclosure sale.

Court Approves Sale.

Jenness, again acting, offered $60,000. The sale was approved by Judge Joseph Burke on Oct. 24, 1937, and the report of distribution finally consummating the sale was approved March 11, 1938, by Judge Michael Feinberg.

The group made one more attempt to buy a building underwritten by Bain when an offer of $15,000 was made for the Troy building, at the southwest corner of 59th and Troy streets. In March, 1938, this building was offered for foreclosure sale and Jenness once more represented the O'Hare-Holland interests.

When the bondholders learned of the offer, however, they were able to make a bid of $25,000 and the property was sold to them. THE TRIBUNE was told yesterday that the same individual in the auditor's office who prevented the sale of the Markedzie building to the O'Hare-Holland interests had assisted bondholders of the Troy property.

McCarthy Confirms Finding.

John McCarthy, reached at his home last evening, confirmed THE TRIBUNE'S findings. He described the purchase of the Bain, Inc., assets as a bad buy on which the group lost money.

"I thought, just as I am sure Judge Holland thought," said McCarthy, "that O'Hare was just a well to do business man who decided to enter the real estate investment field. O'Hare belonged to all the right clubs and took part in many prominent social activities.

"We had no idea that he was mixed up in any gang activities."

McCarthy said the activities of the real estate group were open and unconcealed. He said that any group of citizens with funds could have made the same purchases. He said he did not know Walsh's business, and added that he had seen Walsh only once.

TRACK SETUP DESCRIBED

Patton Explains Division of Sportsman's Park Stock.

Sportsman's Park and its financial set up were touched upon in the first questions put to Mayor Patton. He responded that there are 10,000 shares of stock and that O'Hare was president of the not-for-profit organization, that F. J. O'Connor was vice president, and that he [Patton] was secretary-treasurer.

"The track made $80,000 at the race meeting that closed Saturday, Nov. 4," he said. "A dividend of $8 a share was declared." Patton then listed the owners of the stock and the amounts they hold as follows:

Himself, 3,499 shares; O'Hare, 3,490; James and John Patton [his sons], 741 jointly; Mary Patton [his wife], 425; Edward H. O'Hare [the slain man's naval officer son], 129; Patricia and Marilyn O'Hare [his daughters], 128 each, and a number of others who hold smaller blocks of shares.

Capone Dealings Denied.

"Al Capone never had any interest in Sportsman's," said Patton. "I have known Al for years, but I never have had any business dealings with him."

In addition to their holdings in Sportsman's, Patton told of their interest in Tropical Park, another race track, near Miami, Fla. [It previously had been denied that O'Hare had any connection with the Florida track. It was said then that his only interest there was in the Miami Beach Kennel club, o dog race track.]

12,624 GAMBLING CASE DEFENDANTS FREED BY HOLLAND; 28 FINED

Judge Eugene J. Holland and the slain E. J. O'Hare were partners in a real estate enterprise. O'Hare was front man for the Capone syndicate.

An examination of Municipal court records yesterday produced this summary of gambling cases handled by Judge Holland in 15 months on the bench in Racket court:

Defendants dismissed—12,624.

Defendants fined—28.

The judge first sat in Racket court from September thru December, 1935. He returned in November, 1937, and sat thru November, 1938. The defendants before him were charged with gambling, keeping gambling houses, being inmates of a gambling house, or possessing gambling equipment.

Of the 28 fined, the fines of six later were vacated by Judge Holland. Six others appealed. Outcome of the appeals is not known. The fines vacated usually were $100 and costs. Those that stuck were for lesser amounts.

In December, 1937, there were 1,455 dismissals and no fines. In January, 1938, there were 1,704 dismissals and no fines. A month by month record follows:

Month—	Dismissals.	Fines.
September	581	6 [4 later vacated]
October	686	1 [later vacated]
November	474	5 [1 later vacated]
December	590	1
1937.
November	1,203	9 [$1 each]
1938.
January	1,704	0
February	1,376	6 [$25 each; appealed]
March	878	0
April	600	0
July	523	0
August	746	0
September	467	0

During the last four months listed for 1938 Judge Holland was in Racket court about three-quarters of the time. Other judges alternated with him. He has been in the court only twice this year, each time on Saturday, when no gambling cases are heard.

PATTON ASSOCIATION TOLD

Woman's Suit Shows Profits from Race Track.

Here are some of the facts which Patton did not discuss with the state's attorney:

Patton and O'Hare, chief operators of Sportsman's Park race track, and members of their families took an estimated $184,547 in dividends from the track's earnings in 1937, 1938, and 1939. This estimate was reached as the indirect result of a suit on file in federal District court in which Mrs. Dorothy Hyland of Kirkwood, Mo., seeks an accounting of the funds of the old Hawthorne Kennel club. This was the original dog race outfit out of which the National Jockey club was formed to operate Sportsman's Park.

Mrs. Hyland is the widow of Martin J. Hyland, once a huckster, who made a fortune in dog tracks.

Kennel Venture Described.

"I was working as a bookkeeper in Mr. Hyland's commission office in St. Louis before our marriage," she said at her home yesterday. "Mr. O'Hare also worked on 'commission row' and knew Mr. Hyland thru business connections. Later the two were associates in the operation of the Madison Kennel club. I only knew him as a friend of Mr. Hyland's and saw little of him after 1929, when my husband died. I last saw Mr. O'Hare at a business appointment in 1937."

Investigation and the allegations in Mrs. Hyland's suit show that most of the stockholders—all individuals—in the National Jockey club, operators of Sportsman's Park, originally were associated in the Hawthorne Kennel club.

This club was organized to run a dog track operating under the supervision of the Capone gang in the 1920s. Evidence at the 1930 income tax trial of Jack Guzik, a gangster high in the Capone organization, established that he was a stockholder in this kennel club. So were Al Capone and his family. And so was O'Hare, who had been brought to Chicago by the Capone gang to run the track they contemplated opening.

Owns 101½ Shares of Stock.

But when the Hawthorne Kennel club, in February, 1934, asked the Illinois racing commission for a horse race track operating license for Sportsman's Park, Guzik and the Capones no longer were listed as stockholders. Guzik had got his name off the records during his income tax case.

Mrs. Hyland in her petition recites that since October, 1929, she has owned 101½ shares of the kennel club capital stock, that the kennel club was dissolved in June, 1937, and that the property of the kennel club —Sportsman's Park—is operated by the National Jockey club.

The list of stockholders of Sportsman's Park supplied by Patton shows Mrs. Hyland as the owner of 190 shares—apparently a figure proportional to her 101½ shares in the kennel club. She said the jockey club paid her $1,650 on Oct. 29, 1937, and $950 on Oct. 29, 1938, as dividends on her stock. This sum—$2,600—would place the total dividend for two years at $13.68 on each of her 101½ shares.

4,665 Shares in Family.

Patton's list shows that he, as secretary-treasurer of the track, owns 3,499 shares; his sons, James and John, own a total of 741 shares, and his wife, Mary, owns 425 shares. The entire holdings of the family are, therefore, 4,665 shares. On the basis of $13.68 a share dividends for two years their combined income would have been $63,817.20.

The list further shows that O'Hare, as president of the track, owned 3,490 shares and his children, E. H. O'Hare, Patricia O'Hare, and Marilyn O'Hare, owned 129, 128, and 128 shares, respectively.

Their combined holdings, therefore, are 3,875 shares, and the $13.68 dividend a share would place their income for 1937 and 1938 at $53,010. The total amount received by the Pattons and the O'Hares in 1937, 1938, and 1939 would be $184,547. This is exclusive of the salaries paid to Patton and O'Hare.

Mrs. Hyland asserts in her bill that she never has received any certificate for stock in the National Jockey club. She also charges that the club is operated for the benefit of its dominating stockholders and that it pays large salaries to the detriment of the owners of the kennel club stock.

Directors Also Sued.

Defendants in Mrs. Hyland's action, in addition to the jockey club, are O'Hare, Patton, Thomas Keen, Richard Wilder, Frank R. Anderson, and D. J. O'Connor. Anderson, Wilder, and Keen are listed as directors of the kennel club and O'Connor as a director of the jockey club. Anderson, who lives in Belleville, Ill., and Wilder, whose home is in Alton, are known as veteran dog track men. So is Keen, who lives at San Mateo, Cal.

In addition to members of the Patton and O'Hare families, the following were listed by Patton as present day stockholders in the race track: Wilder, 190 shares; Anderson, 450 shares; Otto Heigl, 13214 Avenue O, 30 shares; Mrs. Joseph Mudro, 655 Wentworth avenue, Calumet City, 200 shares; Mildred Doyle, East St. Louis, Ill., 10 shares; Patrick O'Neil, St. Louis, 10 shares; Mrs. O. P. Smith, 3300 Lake Shore drive, 190 shares, and David Kind, Miami Beach, Fla., 450 shares.

Stock Inherited by Widow.

Mrs. Mudro, a widow, inherited the stock which her husband, a restaurant keeper, got in a business deal with O'Hare. Mrs. Smith is the widow of the inventor of the electrical rabbit used in dog racing. Miss Doyle is the daughter of the late Mayor Frank Doyle of East St. Louis. Kind is a calculator employed at various dog tracks.

All of the race track stockholders, with the exception of Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Mudro, Heigl, and O'Hare's and Patton's children, were stockholders of the kennel club.

William F. Waugh, an attorney who defended Guzik at the income tax trial, is listed as a stockholder in the jockey club's application to the racing commission in 1934. But his name did not appear in the list Patton gave the state's attorney yesterday.

In another suit on file in federal court, Mrs. Hyland asked judgment for $24,059 against O'Hare. The bill alleged that this is the amount unpaid on a $100,000 note executed in her favor by O'Hare on June 5, 1931. Payments totaling $73,500 were made by O'Hare on this note, which would indicate that $26,500 still is due, but the discrepancy is not explained in the bill. The payments were made as follows: 1936, $2,000; Nov. 21, 1937, $10,000; Dec. 18, 1937, $5,000; Nov. 9, 1938, $40,000, and April 18, 1939, $16,500.

The suit also states that O'Hare at various times borrowed $205,000 from Mrs. Hyland and as collateral pledged 2,199 shares of common stock of Oceanview Property, Inc., a Florida corporation.

O'HARE'S FEARS TOLD

Nervous for More Than Year, Says Boy Mayor.

Patton and Johnstone, the Sportsman's Park publicity man, were the only O'Hare associates questioned who gave evidence corroborating the understanding that for two years before his murder O'Hare lived in the knowledge that Capone had sworn to have his life. Patton admitted he had known something had been bothering O'Hare.

"He had been acting odd for more than a year," said Patton. "It may have been longer than that. He was nervous and he didn't act like himself. I didn't ask him anything. I just supposed he was worried about business matters. I knew that Mrs. Hyland had sued us and I thought once that that might be it."

Johnstone told of seeing O'Hare cleaning and oiling a pistol a few minutes before he left Sportsman's Park for the last time last Wednesday. Thirty minutes later O'Hare was dead. The gun, an automatic of Spanish manufacture, was found unfired in his car.

"I never had seen him with a gun before," Johnstone told his questioners. "But it wasn't any of my business. I didn't say anything to him or to anybody else until after he was shot. My business is publicity—not guns."

Takes Out Insurance.

And there are other indications that O'Hare took the warning letter seriously. He received the warning in October, 1937, and a month later purchased $96,000 worth of insurance for the benefit of his two daughters upon his own life. These all were single payment annuities.

Officials of the Continental Assurance company, from which the policies were purchased, said they doubted that O'Hare had any straight life insurance. This would be because of his gambling affiliations, they said. He may, however, have additional annuities.

This may be determined when other deposit boxes are opened. More than 20 keys were found on O'Hare's body. A lock expert said yesterday that a number of them appear to be for safety boxes. These may be in the several cities where the slain man had racing interests: Taunton, Mass.; Memphis, Tenn.; Jacksonville, Fla., and Miami.

Girl, 18, Saved from Rape by 3 Hoodlum Abductors

A girl 18 years old sought refuge last night in a print shop at 1353 Harrison street when three young hoodlums attempted to rape her in the alley behind the building. The girl told Des Plaines street police the men forced her into their automobile at Harrison and Halsted streets. When they parked in the alley the girls' cries attracted attention of employés of the print shop, who came to the back door of the place. The girl leaped out of the car and the hoodlums fled.

ANNENBERG ENDS SALE OF RACING NEWS TO BOOKIES

Agrees to Dissolve His Nation-Wide Service.

Moses L. Annenberg, millionaire publisher, has decided to dissolve his vast Nationwide News Service, Inc., which for several years has furnished track information to thousands of bookmakers in the United States, Canada, and Cuba. It was indicated the service would shut down permanently tomorrow.

No effort will be made by Annenberg to sell or transfer his interests in the race track-bookie field. They are simply to be abandoned, altho they have been regarded as immensely profitable. The income of the service from Chicago alone has been estimated at $1,500,000 a year. Local bookmakers last night had slight hopes that any similar service, as efficient and relatively cheap, could ever be established on a big scale.

Confirmed by Counsel.

The Annenberg decision was first made public yesterday by District Attorney William J. Campbell, who has obtained indictments charging the publisher with violating the federal lottery law and with income tax evasion. Campbell's announcement was confirmed by Weymouth Kirkland, chief of Annenberg counsel, who emphasized that his client did not admit any illegal acts, but was breaking up the corporation solely because of governmental criticism.

Attorney Kirkland is to appear today before Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson and request dismissal of Annenberg's suit for an injunction to compel telephone and telegraph utilities to continue serving Nationwide News. The American Telephone and Telegraph company, Western Union Telegraph company, and Illinois Bell Telephone company had already agreed, at the demand of Campbell and State's Attorney Courtney, to shut off their facilities to Nationwide.

Tells Federal Opposition.

"Mr. Annenberg finds himself in a situation where the government of the United States, altho it is at best doubtful that any statute supports its position, strongly opposes this business," said Kirkland. "He feels that he does not want to be connected with such a business under those circumstances.

"He has for several years considered separating himself from Nationwide, but the tax problems have proved insurmountable. Some time ago this matter was taken up with the treasury department without any success."

It was Annenberg's conclusion, the attorney said, that he no longer desires a connection with the business, even as a stockholder, and that he would immediately stop its operations altho some time would be required to wind up the corporation's affairs. Liquidation will be accomplished as quickly as possible, Kirkland asserted.

Regards Service as Legal.

"The only law," Kirkland continued, "under which the government has ever questioned the legality of the business is the federal lottery law. We have done all in our power to secure an early determination of the applicability of that law, with the expectation it will be found inapplicable. Mr. Annenberg was advised when he bought 50 per cent of the stock of General News [predecessor to Nationwide] in 1927 that the business was lawful. It had been in operation for 25 years and had been protected on more than one occasion in the courts."

District Attorney Campbell hailed the withdrawal of the Annenberg firm from the race news field as a triumph for the government. He said that the concern's contracts with the utility companies would be voluntarily canceled and that he had been informed Annenberg wished to assist the government in preventing dissemination of race news by any one for illegal purposes.

Campbell Hails Decision.

"The decision of defense counsel in this matter obviously is a clear-cut victory for the department of justice in its effort to rid the nation of a vast illegal combine to violate federal and state laws," said Campbell. "Locally, the government's success in liquidating the race information empire is due in no small part to the coöperation of State's Attorney Courtney in acting jointly with the United States attorney.

"It is indicated that counsel for Annenberg and other defendants felt that their temporary injunction suits could not stand against the government's case. The forceful and invincible decision of Judge Wilkerson recently in denying a temporary order to force the Illinois Bell Telephone company to continue its service to Nationwide unquestionably affected the present proposal of Annenberg's counsel.

"No agreement of any sort dealing with income tax evasion or any indictments against Annenberg and his associates has been entered into. All existing indictments against Annenberg and the others remain in statu quo."

Delay Court Arguments.

The district attorney said that arguments on a demurrer to the indictment charging lottery violations, scheduled to be held today before Judge Wilkerson, would be delayed a few days by agreement.

"This is being done," he said, "because of Annenberg's expressed wish to make arrangements for some of his old and trusted employés in Nationwide. I am told he wants to put them to work in some of his other enterprises."

State's Attorney Courtney, told of Annenberg's dissolution of Nationwide News, said: "This is the end of the biggest racket in the country."

Expects to Fight Indictments.

It has been made clear that Annenberg, who owns the Philadelphia Inquirer and has been a sharp critic of New Deal policies in Pennsylvania, will fight the income tax and lottery charges. He has contended that he never knowingly violated any law or tried to evade any tax, and that he is willing to pay any amount he owes.

The government has charged that he owes $3,258,809 in back taxes, penalties, and interest that bring the total to $5,548,384. Co-defendants named with him in the lottery indictment are James M. Ragen Sr., general manager of Nationwide News, and Charles W. Bidwill, head of Bentley, Murray & Co., a printing firm. Bidwill is also ostensible owner of the Chicago Cardinals football team.

Wins a Divorce

MRS. ELAINE HOLLAND.

Mrs. Elaine Holland, 27 years old, told Judge Oscar Nelson yesterday that she didn't mind so much when her husband, John, wouldn't support her. She went into the restaurant business, but continued to give him home-cooked meals. It was too much, however, when he refused to help her wash the dishes and left. She was awarded a divorce on a desertion charge. Mrs. Holland lives at 1531 Wicker Park avenue.

4 LIFE OR DEATH JURORS PICKED IN TRIAL OF RUSSELL

Selection of a mixed jury to try Jack Russell, Oklahoma outlaw, for the kidnap-murder of Billy Scott Hamilton, Kansas milling salesman, was begun yesterday in the federal district court.

At the end of the day, three women and one man had been approved. The jury is expected to be completed today. Qualified for the death penalty, it will be the first jury of men and women to try a capital case in the federal court here.

Judge Charles E. Woodward granted a request of Don D. Rogers, defense counsel, permitting Russell to be in court unmanacled. Eight deputy marshals, however, guarded him. After escaping from an Oklahoma prison, Russell kidnaped Hamilton, and killed him near Ringwood, McHenry county, on July 14.

Price of Cigarets Raised; Keep Smoking, French Told

PARIS, Nov. 14.—Buyers crowded tobacco shops to make purchases before new prices fixed by the French tobacco monoply went into effect today. The prices of popular brands of French cigarets were increased up to 1.50 francs [3.3 cents], but the price of foreign cigarets remains unchanged for the moment. "Keep on smoking just the same," newspapers urge the public, "you'll be performing a patriotic duty."

JURY CONVICTS 4 BOOKIES; FIRST TIME IN COUNTY

Mixed Panel Gives Verdict in 50 Minutes.

The first conviction by a jury in a handbook case in Cook county's history was returned in a verdict yesterday before Municipal Judge Joseph J. Drucker. A jury of seven women and five men found four employés of a handbook guilty of violating the gambling laws.

The verdict was reached after 50 minutes of deliberation. When the jurors had been out half an hour they reported back that they could not agree. Judge Drucker informed them they must give the case longer consideration and 20 minutes later they came in with the verdict.

Woman Heads Jury.

Mrs. Esther Boyer, 25 years old, of 1511 South Springfield avenue, who was forewoman of the jury, made a brief statement after court, explaining the jurors' viewpoint.

"We were sorry for the defendants, but we had to follow the law," she said. She would not discuss what had caused the early disagreement nor how the verdict was finally reached.

The defendants are Robert Allen, 35 years old, 3617 Leland avenue; Thomas Murphy, 56, 125 South Kedzie avenue; John Ramalka, 46, 731 Madison street, and Ellis Greenberg, 38, 315 South Central avenue. Each faces a sentence of one year in jail or a $1,000 fine, or both. Hearing on defense motion for a new trial was set for Nov. 21, and the four men were released on bond.

The evidence presented by Assistant State's Attorney Myron Lewis was similar to that which the prosecution has introduced in many other jury trials on gambling charges without achieving a conviction. Sergt. William Clark of the police morals squad testified he went to a handbook at 34 South Halsted street on Oct. 10 and made a 50 cent bet on a horse. Murphy, an employé in the establishment, took the bet.

Then Clark's squad raided the handbook and arrested Murphy and the three men, also employés.

Attorneys Isadore Goldstein and Lawrence Dowd, who have represented many other men arrested in handbook raids, offered the usual defense—that betting on the horses is allowed at a race track, and therefore should be permitted in a handbook.

After the verdict was returned, Prosecutor Lewis was congratulated by First Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert F. Crowley.

"This vindicates the position of the state's attorney's office that convictions can be obtained before juries in gambling cases," Crowley said. "We will continue with these jury trials."

Eleanor Holm Is Married to Billy Rose in New York

New York, Nov. 14 (AP).—Eleanor Holm, former Olympic backstroke swimming champion, and Producer Billy Rose were married late today by State Supreme Court Justice Ferdinand Pecora in the justice's chambers. Ben Bernie, orchestra leader, was best man, and Mrs. Bernie was matron of honor. Miss Holm, 25 years old, is the former wife of Arthur Jarrett, dance band leader. Rose, 39, recently was divorced from Fannie Brice, stage and movie comedienne.

DEATH PENALTY ASKED FOR GORE; PLEADS INSANITY

State's Case Completed; Family Row Told.

Benton, Ill., Nov. 14 [Special].—Dr. George W. Gore late today told his story of the killing of his relative, Carl Choisser, attorney and newspaper publisher, last Sept. 25.

The physician took the stand in his defense after the state had presented a speedy case in which it asked that he be electrocuted for the "cold, deliberate shooting in Choisser's back."

Dr. Gore, who is 65, supported the plea of his counsel that at the time of the shooting he was emotionally insane as a result of a long and bitter quarrel with Choisser, his first wife's nephew. His attorney said Choisser had threatened to blame the physician for the deaths of his two wives.

Says Choisser Had Gun, Too.

The physician said he remembered arming himself with two revolvers and a trench knife the morning of the slaying. Then he went to the Benton business district.

"I remember seeing Choisser coming at me with a gun in his hand and then I heard Nancy scream," Dr. Gore testified.

Nancy was his second wife, who was shot to death on a sun porch of their home two months earlier. The physician's son, George Jr., was tried for the murder and acquitted. It was said previously Dr. Gore and Choisser quarreled over the defense of young Gore. Dr. Gore wanted him to plead guilty and Choisser, his cousin, insisted that he plead not guilty.

Blames Victim for Family Row.

"The next thing I knew, after hearing Nancy scream," Dr. Gore continued. "I was looking at Charles Settlemoir. I don't remember shooting."

The physician charged that Choisser had been the cause of years of dissension in his family, and even had turned his son and daughter against him.

In an opening statement to the jury, Delos Duty, chief defense attorney, said he would not deny Dr. Gore killed Choisser, but would show that the physician was emotionally insane at the time. He said there had been ill feeling between the two men for five years.

The ill feeling went back to 1934, Duty said, when Dr. Gore's first wife—young Gore's mother and Choisser's aunt—spent several months in California.

Gore and Wife Separated.

On her return, he said, Choisser poisoned her mind with stories of her elderly husband's conduct during her absence. Dissension and finally separation of the physician and his wife resulted, the defense counsel said. Altho they eventually were reconciled, ill feeling persisted, he said.

The first Mrs. Gore died in 1935. Two years after her death the physician married Nancy, who was 45 years old, 20 years his junior. She had been his secretary for 10 years.

After Nancy Gore was slain, Duty said, Choisser sought sums of money from Dr. Gore to finance the defense of his son.

As a result of the long quarrel and many threats Dr. Gore was insane the morning Choisser was killed and could remember nothing of the shooting, the defense attorney said.

Prosecutor Jones described the scene of the killing, which took place in an alley off the town's public square. Choisser was walking with Settlemoir, a Benton locksmith, and was laughing at a joke when Dr. Gore ran out of a hiding place and shot him in his back, Jones said.

Settlemoir, one of 10 state witnesses, who saw the shooting, said he disarmed Dr. Gore after a scuffle.

STATE EMPLOYES AIR SLUSH FUND CHARGES TODAY

Officials of the Civil Service Protective association left for Springfield last night prepared, they said, to establish before the civil service commission that state employés are being assessed for the Horner administration's 1940 campaign fund.

Michael F. Ryan.

Leading the group were Clayton F. Devine, president, and Michael F. Ryan, attorney for the protective association. They will appear with their witnesses at 9:30 a. m. today.

"Our witnesses," Ryan said, "will testify, from their own knowledge, of violations of the law prohibiting solicitation of classified employés. It will not be hearsay."

In Springfield, W. Emery Lancaster of Quincy, chairman of the civil service commission, said that today's hearing will "go into all sides of complaints, both oral and written, concerning alleged political assessments of civil service employés."

Banana Merchant Is Fined on Short Weight Charge

Harry Eisenberg, a banana merchant at 11 South Market street, was fined $100 and costs yesterday by Municipal Judge Francis Borrelli on a short weight charge. Inspectors for City Sealer James O'Keefe testified that Eisenberg charged Sam Piazzi of La Porte, Ind., for 867 pounds of bananas and delivered only 639 pounds. Eisenberg said he had made a mistake.

ARRAIGN FORMER CHICAGO DOCTOR IN FAKE LOTTERY

Boston, Mass., Nov. 14 [Special].—Dr. Frank Deacon, one time owner of the Jackson Park hospital in Chicago, pleaded not guilty today when arraigned on charges of conspiracy to operate a 20 million dollar fake lottery. The government charges Deacon and 71 others, also under indictment, used the defunct Will Rogers Memorial hospital, 6970 North Clark street, Chicago, as a blind for their scheme.

Jackson Holtz, assistant United States district attorney, told the court Dr. Deacon was the key figure in the entire fraud. Ten of his co-defendants pleaded guilty today to charges of transporting lottery matter in interstate commerce and using the mails to defraud.

Dr. Deacon was a resident of Chicago for many years. He was arrested Nov. 2 in a CCC camp in Michigan where he was attached as camp physician. He served in the medical corps in the world war and holds a reserve colonel's commission.

PHYSICIAN LINKS FUEHRER KUHN TO GEORGIA PEACH

Asserts Bund Leader Paid Her Medical Bill.

New York, Nov. 14 (AP).—Fritz Kuhn, who already had acknowledged paying out of the funds of his German-American bund the transcontinental moving expenses of one woman friend, was declared today to have paid a physician's bill for a second, Mrs. Virginia Cogswell, who has been married nine times. Kuhn is charged with embezzling $5,641 of bund money.

Testifying for the state in Kuhn's trial before Judge James Wallace, Dr. Francis La Sorsa described a professional call made upon Mrs. Virginia Overshiner Patterson Stark von Freiberger Seeger Gilbert Kahn Gould-Porter Kaplan Cogswell at 1 a. m. on Sept. 2, 1938.

Asserts Kuhn Was Present.

The physician said Kuhn was present in the hotel room of Mrs. Cogswell, who came from Peoria, Ill., but is called the Georgia peach because she won a beauty contest some years ago down south. Dr. La Sorsa testified that at the end of the call Kuhn wrote his name and the bund's address on a prescription blank and directed that the bill be sent there. Later Dr. La Sorsa asserted, he got a check for $60, the amount of his bill, from Kuhn.

Thru counsel, Kuhn conceded yesterday that he had used about $700 of the bund's money in moving the furniture of Mrs. Florence Camp from Los Angeles to New York and then to Cleveland. Kuhn also admitted sending Mrs. Camp "love and kisses" telegrams, which he charged to the bund's newspaper.

Denies Receiving Check.

A witness called by the state today in connection with its charge that Kuhn took money from the bund's defense fund was James D. C. Murray, a criminal lawyer. Assistant District Attorney Herman McCarthy had introduced a receipt which indicated that Murray had received $500 from the bund for legal services.

Murray denied, however, that he had received a check from the bund. He said he had submitted a bill for $250 for an appearance in court at Riverhead, N. Y., but that he had not been paid.

At this point McCarthy introduced a check for $500 drawn on the bund account and dated April 8, 1938. It was made payable to cash and signed by Kuhn. The check stub, seized with the check in a raid on the bund headquarters, carried a notation that the money had gone to Murray for legal fees. The money went into Kuhn's pocket, the state contends.

Accountant on Stand.

Today's last witness—and the last to be called by the state, which rested its case—was Benjamin Blattner, an accountant for the district attorney's office. He gave a complicated outline of bund finances which was summed up with these conclusions:

1. That as of Oct. 24, 1938, the bund's legal defense fund had a bank account balance of $745.38.
2. That a black book listing receipts and expenditures indicated a balance of $4,424.22.
3. That a checkbook stub kept by Kuhn—who has been said by associates to have had complete control over bund financial matters—showed a balance of $384.70.

After Blattner's testimony Judge Wallace granted a defense motion for adjournment until Thursday to permit lawyers to examine the figures.

OB INSURANCE COLLECTOR.

Two robbers who forced their way into his car at Fairfield avenue and Logan boulevard yesterday took $110, a $50 watch, and the automobile from Roy Doisen, 13 W. Ontario street, a collector for the Lumbermen's Mutual Casualty company.

Police Wait in Flat; Seize Drug Store Bandit Suspect

Police waiting in the flat of David Bruckheimer, 40 years old, an ex-convict, of 852 Waveland avenue, seized him as a bandit yesterday. Bruckheimer was named as the robber who seized $27 Monday night and fled from a drug store at 2921 North Clark street. He was named by Miss Florence Burroughs, 35, who entered the store with him. She was seized by William Silverberg, owner of the store, who also tore a shoe off the fleeing robber. Bruckheimer told police he had been drinking and could not remember any robbery.

Boy, 9, in Chains 2 Days; Father Will Face Judge

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 14 (AP).—A complaint was issued today charging Grant Woods, 40 years old, with padlocking a chain about the ankles of his son, 8, and leaving him fettered for two days. Mrs. Woods smashed the lock yesterday and released her son. Wood said his car broke down and he couldn't get home until today.

D. C. STEPHENSON MAKES NEW PLEA FOR SECOND TRIAL

Charges Girl's Deathbed Accusation Forged.

Noblesville, Ind., Nov. 14 [Special].—Attorneys for D. C. Stephenson, former grand dragon of the Indiana Ku Klux Klan, who was imprisoned 14 years ago for the murder of Madge Oberholtzer, filed a supplementary petition today in coram nobis proceedings seeking a new trial on the basis of newly discovered evidence.

Two principal points embodied in affidavits accompanying the petition are that Miss Oberholtzer's purported deathbed accusation of Stephenson is a forgery, and that Stephenson was kept from testifying in his own defense by threats of klansmen who resented his resignation from the klan in 1923, two years before the trial.

A date for hearing on the coram nobis writ will be set in the Circuit court of Hamilton county tomorrow.

Files Two Affidavits.

Frank S. Campbell, counsel for Stephenson, filed two affidavits with the petition. The first, by Robert A. Butler, handwriting expert, terms the deathbed statement of Miss Oberholtzer a forgery, signed by some one other than the former Indianapolis social worker.

The other affidavit, made by C. W. Gooding, former sheriff of Hamilton county, tells how bands of masked and robed klansmen swarmed about the jail while Stephenson was awaiting trial and shouted threats that they would kill him if he testified and exposed klan politics or klan interest in his trial.

Charges Virtual Frameup.

In his new petition, Attorney Campbell virtually charges that Stephenson was framed on a meeting with Miss Oberholtzer in Hammond, Ind., where she took the poison that led to her death later in Indianapolis.

Campbell states in the petition that Stephenson did not accompany Miss Oberholtzer to Hammond, but was the companion of another woman, the wife of a state official, who induced him to act as intermediary in a domestic dispute.

Stephenson, who was transferred here from the state penitentiary on Sept. 25, was denied a new trial after a hearing on the original writ of coram nobis. Circuit Judge Cassius M. Gentry handed down the ruling on Oct. 17.

Guards Thwart Prisoner's Attempt to Scale Wall, Flee

Ionia, Mich., Nov. 14 [Special].—In full view of twenty guards, a prisoner in the Michigan reformatory attempted to scale a wall and escape today by means of a rope to which he had attached a hook. He was still trying to hook the rope on the wall, after three unsuccessful heaves, when the guards surrounded and overpowered him. The prisoner is Richard R. Cleveland, 23 years old, of Detroit, sentenced a year ago to serve a term of from 2⅓ to 7½ years for automobile theft.

ELDERLY BACHELOR DIES IN BLAZE.

A GUEST CHATS WITH STRANGER; HOSTS OUT $700

Mrs. Arthur B. Craig, 7145 Yates avenue, was visited last week by a friend from Kansas City, Mrs. Mayme Thoes. In due time Mrs. Thoes took a bus back to Kansas City. Yesterday a suave stranger who introduced himself as "Mr. Harris" visited Mrs. Craig.

He said he was a friend of Mrs. Thoes and had promised her he would call. Mrs. Craig apologized with housewifely concern because the house was disordered. The stranger blandly assured her that it was perfectly all right.

Then he excused himself to go to the washroom and a few minutes later he left. Mrs. Craig later discovered that two diamond rings worth a total of $700 were missing from a bedroom which also has a door opening into the bath. She first telephoned Mrs. Thoes.

"I don't know any Mr. Harris, but I did meet a charming man on the bus," said Mrs. Thoes. "He wanted to know who I'd been visiting, and I told him." Mrs. Craig, whose husband is an auditor for the Harvey restaurants, then notified Grand Crossing police.

DIES OF SKULL FRACTURE.

Galesburg, Ill., Nov. 14 [Special].—Frank Maddocks, 53 years old, died at a hospital today of a skull fracture incurred last night in an automobile accident. Ray Goodale, 51 years old, of Monmouth, was injured critically. Their car missed a curve and crashed into a barricade near here.

PAINTING—AND PERSONAL CULTURE

By CALEB

TEN thousand centuries ago began Man's life-span on this particular planet. Out of these, only a meager seven represent the span of his career as painter. Yet it is his career as painter that has influenced for all time the quality of his personal culture, as well as his spiritual stature as a probably immortal mortal.

Why? Two simple answers are quotable: one from a man considered America's foremost interpreter of art; one from an outstanding English exponent of culture. "Of all the imaginative works of man," says Thomas Craven, "the most appealing is great painting." And as if in explanatory echo, John Cowper Powys corroborates those words with: "The genius of the painter is as indispensable a revelation of new regions as that of the poet or the musician."

Granted, then, great painting's values—personal access to enriching contacts with it is, unhappily, fronted by a trio of formidable barriers. First, as compared with their total production through the centuries, there is the paucity of master canvases themselves. Second, practically all such master works are cloistered away on chapel walls and domes, in metropolitan museums scattered over the world, or in private collections. Finally, there is the monetary impossibility of personal possession. What chance at ownership, for example, has the average art-lover, when a single Bellini portrait, ten by twelve inches, is sold for $200,000?

One solution of the dilemma has been libraries of loose color-prints, issued by European publishers. A second has been the monograph devoted to an individual painter, or the "History of Art" in its many forms, embellished by occasional color-reproductions. But none of these expedients has served the purpose of a comprehensive, personal, cultural acquaintanceship with the best examples of the world's Great Paintings.

Now appears, however, as perhaps the happiest solution yet evolved, a new Treasury of Art Masterpieces, edited by Thomas Craven, that for the first time selectively presents the whole panorama of Western civilized art from Giotto to the contemporary Americans, with full-color plates made directly from the original canvases, and an individual commentary on the masterpieces shown and their creators. So successfully has this project been consummated that, as one enthusiast in our book section expressed it, "Here is a Louvre of the painting world put into print—with its values further accentuated by limiting one's inspection to masterpieces only."

HEALTH DIRECTOR PLACES EPIDEMIC BLAME ON BOWEN

Says Manteno Warnings Went Unheeded.

Dr. A. C. Baxter, director of the state health department, told a special Kankakee county grand jury yesterday that his efforts to prevent the typhoid epidemic at the Manteno state hospital were thwarted by the refusal of A. L. Bowen, director of the state department of public welfare, to heed specific warnings.

Bowen resented being told what to do, the jury was told, and failed to take even the simplest of precautions. The expenditures of a few cents a day to chlorinate the water supply would have averted the epidemic that struck the state institution last summer, making 500 persons ill and killing 53, Dr. Baxter declared.

Quarantine Order Ignored.

In addition, Dr. Baxter said, Bowen disregarded an order to quarantine the institution after the epidemic was under way.

"I told Bowen to bar all visitors," Dr. Baxter said. "That was on Thursday. On the following Sunday there were 400 visitors eating lunches with the patients on the hospital grounds. They were surrounded by millions of flies. I had forbidden the bringing of any food.

"Bowen finally agreed to the quarantine after I threatened to call on Chief Williams of the state highway police to station a cordon around the institution and prevent the influx of visitors and the bringing in of food. I don't know how much typhoid was carried out of that instution and scattered thruout the state."

Jury Sees Warning Letter.

Dr. Baxter showed the photostat of a warning letter which was turned over to State's Attorney Samuel H. Shapiro a week ago. The letter, which was sent to Director Bowen by the health department on Sept. 28, 1937, declared:

"These defects in the Manteno state hospital water supply have existed for a number of years and we have previously called the attention of the hospital officials to these dangers.

"The Manteno state hospitals are not exercising the 'reasonable care' necessary to the maintenance of an institutional water supply and should an epidemic of water-borne illness occur, the officials would be responsible for negligence in not protecting the water supply.

"We shall appreciate an acknowledgement of this letter and information regarding the actions taken toward following the above recommendations."

Resents "Getting Orders."

Bowen acknowledged the receipt of the letter, the jury was told, but was said to have displayed testiness and resentment at "getting orders" from a subordinate in another branch of the state government.

In Bowen's letter of reply, which was read to the grand jury, the welfare director said he would seek advice on the cost of carrying out the recommendations. He wrote that he was always getting reports from the state health department that the water supply at Manteno was polluted, but water tests by other agencies did not show such pollution.

Another witness before the grand jury was Dr. Ralph T. Hinton, suspended managing officer of the Manteno hospital. He is said to have testified that he was not unfamiliar with typhoid epidemics. One occurred at the Elgin State hospital while he was employed there more than 20 years ago.

Outside His Duty, He Says.

His contention was, however, that it was not his duty to look to the purification of the water supply. That, he is said to have declared, was a duty of other employés, and he never considered the need of boiling the water to kill typhoid germs.

Other witnesses were Clarence W. Klassen, chief sanitary engineer for the state, and Eugene S. Clark, state bacteriologist.

Prosecutor Shapiro said he expected to present further evidence to the grand jury today and tomorrow.

OFFICE WIFE WHO SLEW ATTORNEY SEEKS RETRIAL

St. Joseph, Mich., Nov. 14 [Special]. —Fern Patricia Dull, the "office wife" convicted here last December of killing her employer, Attorney Walter W. Holbrook, the night of Oct. 17, 1938, filed a motion today for a new trial. She is serving a 14 to 18 year term in the Detroit house of correction for manslaughter.

Fern P. Dull.

The motion, filed by her attorney, H. T. Dewhirst, leader of the House of David religious colony, gives seven causes for a new trial. Hearing of the motion is scheduled for Nov. 20 before Judge Mark D. Taylor of Hillsdale, Mich., who presided at the trial.

The defendant offers newly disclosed evidence and insists error in procedure of the trial warrants a re-trial or a reduction of sentence.

GUNPLAY FLARES ON EVE OF CUBAN ASSEMBLY VOTE

Col. Batista Seeks Control Over New Constitution.

BY GUSTAVO RENO.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Nov. 14.—A candidate and a party leader were gravely wounded on the eve of tomorrow's election of a Cuban constituent assembly. Attorney Eduardo Chibas, 34 years old and a candidate of the National Revolutionary party, was wounded by a volley of shots fired into his automobile in a Havana suburb.

José Fernandez, president of the Liberal party in Luyano, a Havana suburb, was wounded by alleged communists in a pistol duel in front of his home.

In the election Cuba's strong man, Col. Fulgencio Batista, will be fighting a strong opposition group of parties for control of the assembly. Twenty thousand troops, 5,000 marines, and 7,000 policemen will be on duty at the polls.

Joins Machado's Followers.

Col. Batista, who gained power in the uprising of 1933, has joined forces with the Liberal party, the followers of Gerardo Machado, who was driven out of office in 1933.

Allies of the Liberals include the Union Nacionalistas, led by President Federico Laredo Bru; the Populares, the Conjunto Democratico, the Realistas, and the communists.

Batista's opposition includes the Accion Republicana, led by former President Miguel Mariano Gomez; the Democrata Republicano, led by former President Mario Menocal; the National Revolutionary party, led by former President Ramon Grau San Martin; the ABC party, the Union Revolucionaria, and the Agrarians.

Boosts Cuban Nationalism.

Col. Batista's campaign speeches have indicated that if his combination wins the assembly will frame a new constitution of anti-American flavor, incorporating Batista's theories of Cuban nationalism, industrial and financial expansion, confiscation of property and credits, and revision of the political and judicial structure. If Batista's group wins its next move will be to make him president on May 20, 1940.

The opposition parties promise a conservative constitution, curtailment of the military's influence in public affairs, and improvement of relations with the United States.

The strenuous efforts tonight to line up votes indicated a close decision at the polls and revealed that the government combine is not too sure of winning.

Col. Batista in a speech this week criticized President Roosevelt's policies toward Cuba, the reciprocity treaty, the elimination of sugar quotas, and the increase in tariff on Cuban sugar.

EUROPE SPENDS 100 MILLION FOR WAR EVERY DAY

Germany Heads Estimate of Current Costs.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14 (AP).—Europe's war is costing the belligerents possibly 100 million dollars—a tenth of a billion—a day in current cash outlay alone. Additional costs in losses of property, arms, and commercial revenue cannot be computed now.

The 100 million is neither an official nor exact figure. It is merely an estimate made from the best information available here—and the best is none too good.

The estimate may be far too high. On the other hand, war costs may rise even further, if and when wholesale destruction of men, guns, fortifications, and ships begins.

Germany Heads List.

However, data from several sources indicate that Germany, heading the list, may have spent 12 billion dollars for war by the end of her fiscal year next March; Great Britain, her dominions and colonies, at least 5 billion 262 million dollars, and France, using a calendar year fiscal period, at least $2,194,758,000 by the end of 1939.

The 100 million dollar figure was computed like this: By the end of March, Germany and the British empire supposedly will have spent 17 billion 262 million dollars for a war that began 211 days earlier, on Sept. 2, or $81,800,000 a day. Of that amount Germany will have spent $57,260,000 a day and Britain $24,540,000 a day. By the end of December, 120 days after the start of hostilities, France will have spent $2,194,758,081, or $18,200,000 a day. The total is 100 million dollars a day.

That figure does not take into account the billions that were spent in years prior to the German-British fiscal period of 1939-'40 and the French year of 1939 for arms and ammunition now being expended on the western front.

At any rate, here's the way the estimate—and remember that it is an estimate—was reached, with an account of some of the exacting taxes levied to foot the bill:

GERMANY

Probably no one outside Hitler's inner circle knows exactly what Germany is spending for the war—or anything else. The Nazis don't publish budgets.

However, Hitler has said that war expenditures for the last six years would total 36 billion dollars [figuring on a value of 40 cents for the reichsmark]. That's 6 billion a year, nearly four times the current national defense expenditures of the United States, a country much wealthier than Germany.

In addition, a decree of Sept. 22 provided an additional 6 billion dollars for the 1939-'40 fiscal period ending March 31. That's an aggregate of 12 billion dollars being currently spent. Some observers say that figure is ridiculous. Others declare there isn't that much money in all of Germany.

Still, no figure could give the whole picture for Germany, inasmuch as its entire economy has been geared to its military aims for years. Cash outlay is merely one cost factor.

Forced War Costs Down.

For instance, in order to meet the war's costs, Germany not only increased taxes, reduced nonmilitary expenditures by 50 per cent, and undertook short term borrowing, but according to information here it also lowered wages and prices, thereby reducing the cost of war supplies to the government.

Main tax increases were: A 50 per cent rise in the rate on incomes over $960, a 20 per cent surtax on tobacco, beer, liquor, and champagne, and a 15 per cent levy on the shares of states and communes in national revenues.

The press estimated that the new taxes would yield 2 billion dollars a year, giving total revenues for 1939-'40 of 8 billion 800 million dollars, as against 6 billion 860 million dollars last year.

Those estimates, if accurate, do not lend credence to the enormous size of Germany's reported war expenditures, unless the Nazis are incurring deficits of enormous proportions.

GREAT BRITAIN

The methodical English publish understandable budgets. They estimated in April that they'd need $5,259,776,000 [on a basis of $4 as the value of the pound] for the 1939-'40 year beginning April 1, nearly half of it for defense.

By the time the war got under way the estimates had been boosted to $7,733,364,000, including $4,996,016,000 for the war, nearly three times the current United States defense figure but still less than half the estimated German total. The budget then was nearly double 1938-'39 expenditures.

With the British bluntness for levying taxes when taxes are needed, income rates were raised to 35 per cent, with 37½ in prospect for 1940-'41. A new excess profits levy replaced the national defense and armament tax, and other levies, especially on luxuries, were boosted.

Revenue estimates rose to 3 billion 980 million dollars, leaving a deficit of 3 billion 752 million dollars to be met by borrowing.

BRITISH DOMINIONS

CANADA—A special war appropriation of 100 million dollars was voted in September. Regular defense expenditures for 1939-'40, before the declaration of war, had been budgeted at 53 million dollars, giving Canada a total of 153 million dollars for war.

AUSTRALIA—The current budget includes $106,038,400 for the war, but additional defense expenditures, as yet undisclosed, will be necessary.

NEW ZEALAND—The budget for 1939-'40 was increased by $7,164,000 over the previous year, mainly for defense purposes. The government also planned to borrow $60,800,000 for a public works program, which probably could be altered to conform to defense needs. Additional expenditures for war purposes have not been disclosed here.

No figures are available on India and South Africa. Figures in dollars are based arbitrarily on a value of $3.20 for the Australian and New Zealand pound and $1 for the Canadian dollar.

FRANCE

If the French war costs were anything like the 5 billion dollars appropriated by the British, the German figure would not seem extraordinary. The total allied expenditures then would be 10 billion dollars or better, against 12 billion dollars for Germany. And they may yet be.

A French embassy spokesman said, however, that the British figure would be the greater of the two. A search for more detailed information brought a reply from one American official that "a complete blackout" had fallen on French budget figures. Another said no information intelligible to Americans ever was available.

Budget proposals for 1939 included $625,585,000 for national defense under the ministry of the interior, more than a third of the budget total. Separate army and navy proposals did not appear in outlines available here. In New York, the French information center said $1,569,172,581 [on the basis of 2¼ cents for the franc] had been voted in war credits since hostilities started. Estimates for 1940 were not expected until December or later.

The two figures above give the $2,194,758,000 total used here, a total that seems slight for a nation at war when our own statesmen are talking of 2 billion dollars for next year's defense appropriations.

When France votes more money for 1940, its total will draw nearer the British figures, which cover three months in 1940, as well as nine in 1939.

STRONG DEFENSE URGED BY AUTHOR TO INSURE PEACE

The United States cannot effect a peace alone or by example. Our influence toward a more permanent peace at the end of the war will depend on the respect we can command from other nations. Such respect will depend on our ability to enforce and defend our rights.

George F. Eliot.

So asserted George Fielding Eliot, author and military expert, who spoke last night in Thorne hall on the McKinlock campus of Northwestern university. Eliot is the author of "The Ramparts We Watch" and "Bombs Bursting in Air."

"The United States," said Eliot, "is the one great power today beyond the range of the bombing planes of other great powers and not susceptible to land invasion. But we must have an adequate army and navy to prevent foreign powers from eventually embroiling us in war or transferring their wars overseas."

PRESIDENT DOES RIGHT ABOUT ON SHIP TRANSFERS

Reacts to Protests That Split Party.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—President Roosevelt today switched his position on the question of transferring American merchantmen to the flag of Panama. He declared himself as against the suggestion in the interest of maintaining the neutrality of Panama and that of sister American republics.

Mr. Roosevelt declared that the more consideration he gave to the subject the less he was inclined to place Panama or any sister American republic in a different position than the United States on neutrality.

Asked whether he agreed with Secretary of State Cordell Hull that a shift of flags on American merchantmen would violate the spirit of the neutrality act, if not the letter, Mr. Roosevelt paused a moment and then said slowly that he agreed, in part.

Change from Former Stand.

When Hull stated his position unequivocally at a press conference a week ago Mr. Roosevelt told his press conference at Hyde Park, N. Y., a few hours later, that he saw no conflict with the neutrality law in the suggested flag transfer. He stated that he saw no possibility of the transfer involving this nation in war because neither the ships, cargo nor seamen would be American.

The shift of position within a week was seen here as motivated by the President's desire to avoid a break with Hull and a split in the Democratic congressional ranks.

Had the President held out for the transfer it is believed that Secretary Hull might have been impelled to submit his resignation because of the positive stand he had taken against the deal. A break with Hull, particularly in the present disrupted international situation, would only prove disastrous to the administration, observers agreed.

Split in Party Looms.

The consummation of the deal would have torn the Democratic ranks in congress asunder. This was indicated by the fact that such consistent administration supporters as Senators Louis B. Schwellenbach [D., Wash.] and Claude Pepper [D., Fla.] had declared themselves against the plan. On the house side, House Majority Leader Sam Rayburn [D., Tex.], after a visit to the White House, expressed himself against the suggestion and indicated Speaker Bankhead was out of sympathy with it.

The President pointed to the refusal of the maritime commission to permit the transfer of four cargo vessels of the bankrupt Pacific Steamship Lines to Panama registry as showing the administration's new position. The commission declared authorization of the transfer would be detrimental to the best interests of the United States.

After he made clear his reluctance to do anything which might have a bearing on the neutrality of sister American republics, which he said was an angle of the proposed transfer that had not been previously emphasized, Mr. Roosevelt was asked if the same argument would apply to registry under the flag of Ireland. He answered that it would not.

He said that he had not heard of any proposal to transfer any merchantmen to the Irish flag, but added that this might be done if a good offer was made.

PATROLS SPEED ACTIVITIES NEAR SAARBRUECKEN

PARIS, Nov. 14 (AP).—The French general staff tonight reported an increase in patrol activity east of the Saar river, near Saarbruecken, on the western front. "Great patrol activity, particularly east of the Saar," stated its communique.

Last night's activity was summed up in two words, "Quiet night."

Paris remained quiet following air raid alarms yesterday on the approach of German scouting planes, which were driven off by anti-aircraft fire.

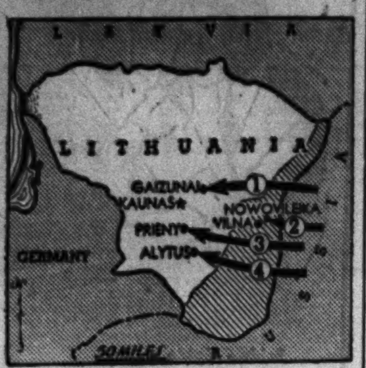
Red Troops Enter

(Story in adjoining column.)



Soviet Russian troops entered Lithuania yesterday under treaty signed Oct. 10. Motorized troops waited at Gaizunai (1). A strong garrison is to be quartered at Nowovileika (2). Cavalry forces moved into Prieny (3) and artillery arrived at Alytus (4). The area marked by diagonal ruling is Lithuanian territory which was formerly part of Poland.

KAUNAS, Lithuania, Nov. 14 (AP).—Russian troops, vanguard of a force of 20,000, moved into Lithuania today. By a treaty signed Oct. 10 Lithuania gave Russia the right to establish army garrisons within her borders.

A regiment of artillery arrived at Alytus in southern Lithuania, and motorized troops waited at Gaizunai, near Kaunas. Soviet cavalry forces were moving into Prieny, 25 miles to the south. The strongest garrison will be quartered at Nowovileika, near Vilna [Wilno].

Lithuania's own army consists of only 22,500.

RUSSIA ASSAILS ALIEN LISTING OF AMERICAN SHIPS

MOSCOW, Nov. 14 (AP).—Russian newspapers today attacked the United States of America, Great Britain, and France, and for the first time in recent months criticized Turkey.

A cartoon in the Moscow Bolshevik pictured American ship owners as violating neutrality legislation by registering ships in foreign neutral countries such as Cuba, Panama, and Chile to trade with Britain and France.

The army newspaper Red Star said Britain and France, encouraged by their pact with Turkey and American repeal of the arms embargo, were seeking to organize a Balkan bloc under their domination and also gain control of the Dardanelles.

An article in Pravda, communist party newspaper, accused the Turkish Ankara Times of trying to "split" Germany and soviet Russia. Pravda denounced as lies reports attributed to the Ankara paper that Russia and Germany "are preparing a division of India," and that "Russia is going to let Germany occupy the Balkans."

10 WAYS TO HAVE A GOOD TIME FOR 5¢

Any one good time for a nickel would be a bargain. But in the new issue of the Post—out today—you get at least ten different kinds of entertainment, and a lot of timely information, too, all for 5 cents!

1. FOUR-WAY DRAMA. The leading story in this week's Post is recommended for (1) football fans, (2) engaged couples, (3) girls smitten with gridiron stars, and (4) fathers who have sons in love with the wrong girl. Read Yesterday's Heroes, by a new Post writer, William Brent. First of three installments.

2. INFORMATION PIECE. Are you annoyed by people who know "all about the war"? You can silence them by revealing the important secret clause in the Rome-Berlin axis agreement. You'll find it in Demaree Bess' article, Mussolini Prepares for War. A timely radio dispatch from Geneva.

3. FUN WITH OUR FOUR-FOOTED PALS. Note to Wives: When you see papa polishing his shotgun, quick—get him Vereen Bell's yarn, Brag Dog, to read! He'll end by wanting to own a bird-dog, of course. But you can talk him out of that.

4. HIGH JINKS BETWEEN THE LINES. After the game is over, read Tom Meany's football article, Dixie Plays for Blood. Not that the South fights the Civil War all over again, you understand, but what's a kick in the face if the referee isn't looking? Sizzling football stories retold by a sports writer who's watched the stretchers go by!

5. THE WOMAN IN THE CASE. "His wife doesn't know it, but I hear Professor Lorber has been running around with that good-looking school-teacher!" Is there a girl in your neighborhood the men all like and the women all hate? You'll recall her, definitely, when you read the story on page 18 of this week's Post, But Love the Sinner, by Eve Bennett.

6. BE A MAN-ABOUT-TOWN WITHOUT MOVING AN INCH. You can enjoy a personally conducted tour backstage with the First Lady of the Theatre. Read about the time Helen Hayes first met George M. Cohan; the time she played to cowboys; what happened in her first "grown up" part. (It's in the unique story of her life, by her mother, Catherine Hayes Brown, continued in this week's Post. Third part of eight.)

7. PLAY GOLF WITHOUT AGONY. Ever play with somebody who keeps quoting rules—in his favor? Read Frank Bunce's story, Fore!, of the sweet young thing in red shirt and shorts who got even with the club's most formidable player—by being up on rules we bet most golfers haven't even heard of!

8. SHARE YOUR PLEASURE in the Post with others. Tell them how Father Divine produces thousand-dollar bills with the dexterity of a magician, to feed regiments of negro—and white—"angels." You'll learn how when you read Jack Alexander's rollicking article, All Father's Chillun Got Heavens—about the half-pint messiah who admits he is God.

9. GAME OF LOVE: (Played by 4). Is an ambitious wife a spur or a knife in the back to a husband starting in business? Here's the bittersweet story of two husbands whose wives raced for "success." You'll find Richard Sherman's story, Won't You Walk a Little Faster?, on page 10.

10. FUN IN TAHITI WITH NORDHOFF & HALL. It may be raining or snowing when you take your Post home tonight. What do you care? You'll be IN Tahiti having a gay time reading Out of Gas, the comic adventures of the happy-go-lucky Tuttle family. You're in time to catch the second part of this five-part novel, oy the two Tahitian "natives" who wrote those best-sellers, The Hurricane, Mutiny on the Bounty and The Dark River.

ENCORE: Don't miss the editorial on Page 22, A Chance To Go To Work. And fourteen swell cartoons. And poems (we direct your special attention to one on Page 24 entitled For the Agony Column). All in the Post—out today.

The advertising is fun too! The Post for years has been awarded more advertising than any other magazine. People like to read the advertisements in the Post. Dozens of surveys prove that. It's because of this overwhelming interest in both advertising and editorial pages that we say: No wonder more people spend more time with the Post.

RUMANIA SEIZES 6 AS ARMS KING'S MONEY PLOT AIDS

Employe Tells of Deals; Cash Box Found.

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Nov. 14.—Rumanian police today arrested six persons as accomplices of Max Auschnit, Rumanian armaments king accused of embezzlement and money smuggling on a huge scale. Among them was his first wife's uncle, Josef Aronovici, former headwaiter at the Ritz hotel who is now engaged in the European arms traffic.

Max Auschnit.

Another person, described only as "a well known personage in Bucharest," was seized on a train as he fled toward Hungary carrying a bundle of compromising documents and a large amount of foreign money.

Millions Diverted.

Auschnit, who was arrested last week, was charged with diverting and using for his own purposes $6,000,000 from the Reshitsa steel works, of which, until recently, he was managing director; appropriating foreign currency that should have been used to buy scrap iron, and illegally depositing $3,200,000 in a British bank.

It is believed that Auschnit's hostility to Germany and his coöperation with British interests, notably the Vickers Armstrong munitions factories, led to German pressure and brought about the exposure.

Employé Reveals Deals.

After days of grilling failed to break Auschnit, investigators yesterday examined four of his employés. One admitted, police say, that Auschnit gave several million francs in French currency to Aronovici for safe keeping and that Aronovici passed it to another associate. A strongbox filled with currency was uncovered.

Auschnit has been kept with the ordinary prisoners in Vacaresti prison but his lawyer says he is in an advanced stage of diabetes and will die unless allowed to go to a hospital. He was taken to court today for more questioning in a police wagon after being refused permission to use his own car.

Relative Enriched by War.

Aronovici made a lightning rise to wealth at the start of the last war, when his knowledge of many languages enabled him to become one of Europe's richest arms salesmen. Recently he had been an executive of Auschnit's huge enterprise, which covered all types of heavy industry.

Lord Lloyd, who is chief of British propaganda abroad, arrived here suddenly last night. Behind his visit is said to be a hope that he can encourage King Carol to organize, with Italian aid, a Balkan bloc to keep the war from spreading.

Despite reports that Vasile Stoica, ambassador to Turkey, has arranged such a pact on a basis of verbal promises, THE TRIBUNE learns he has not yet done so.

NATION IS BEING LURED INTO WAR, SAYS GEN. BUTLER

Keep watching every move from now on!

This advice was given American citizens by Gen. Smedley Butler yesterday in a talk in which he advocated complete isolation for the United States. He spoke before the Shrine Lunch club at the Sherman hotel.

"The drums are beginning to beat," the former marine commander said, "and if we want to retain our democracy we had better pay strict attention to everything that happens and be suspicious of everybody in public office."

Gen. Butler asserted that very skilful negotiations, under the guise of diplomacy, are being used to get America into the war.

America's surest way of keeping out of war, Gen. Butler said, would be to proclaim that under no circumstances would the United States intervene in Europe. And he would supplement such a pronouncement with a defense that not even a rat could get through.

THEY'RE IN THE ARMY NOW: 85 RECRUITS A DAY!

6th Corps Area Needs 3,000 More.

Lieut. Gen. Stanley H. Ford, commander of the 6th corps area, announced yesterday that regular army enlistments so far this month have averaged 85 a day. He said that if this rate continues, the corps area will easily exceed its quota by the end of the year, the deadline for bringing the army to a new peacetime strength of 227,000 men.

Approximately 3,582 men have enlisted in the Illinois, Wisconsin, and Michigan area since the recruiting drive opened Sept. 1. About 3,000 more men are required to fill the corps quota.

1,432 Enlist in Month.

During October, Gen. Ford stated, there were 1,432 enlistments in the corps area. Thru last Monday approximately 1,105 men had enlisted this month. If the enlistment rate of 85 men per day is maintained thru Dec. 31, an additional 4,080 men will have entered the service.

"Vacancies still exist in practically every branch of the army," Gen. Ford said. "This permits young men to select the type of service appealing to them most.

May Remain Near Home.

"Recruits also may choose their location. Those who wish to travel are offered service in Hawaii, Panama, the southern states, the Rocky Mountain states, and the Pacific northwest."

Men who wish to remain near home may select posts at Fort Sheridan, Camp Custer, Mich.; Fort Brady, Mich.; Camp McCoy, Sparta, Wis., or the arsenal at Rock Island, Ill.

Gen. Ford said he was enthusiastic over the type of recruit responding to the call, made after President Roosevelt's proclamation of a limited emergency authorized an increase in the regular army of 51,000 men over the former peacetime strength of 176,000.

RETIRED CONTRACTOR DIES.

Kankakee, Ill., Nov. 14 [Special].—Ligouri Lambert, 78 years old, retired building contractor and resident of Bourbannais for 33 years, died last night at his home after a long illness. The funeral will be held tomorrow in the Maternity church. A native of Quebec, Canada, he leaves a son and two daughters.

PRESIDENT ASKS 271 MILLIONS FOR DEFENSE NEEDS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14 (AP).—A request for $271,000,000 to finance expansion of the army, navy, marine corps, coast guard, and federal bureau of investigation, in accordance with President Roosevelt's declaration of a state of limited national emergency, has been transmitted to Representative Taylor [D., Colo.], chairman of the house appropriations committee.

The President disclosed at a press conference today that he had sent Taylor the supplemental estimates asking for additional money to carry the agencies thru the year ending next June 30 on the expanded basis. He said the figures are:

For the military establishment, $119,000,000; for the naval establishment and marine corps, $146,000,000; for the coast guard, $4,500,000, and for the FBI, $1,500,000.

NEWCASTLE HURT BY WAR'S CRIMP ON COAL EXPORTS

Sailors Idle; City Ignores Air Raid Peril.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NEWCASTLE ON THE TYNE, England, Nov. 14.—Newcastle and the Tyneside towns, together with Yorkshire coast towns farther south, so far have had but one air raid warning altho the coast has been keyed up since the week-end.

With regret you leave Scotland with its squat stone houses, windy green billowing uplands and its dour and secretive villages.

My train went along the coast thru Berwick from Edinburgh to Newcastle. You could see wisps of smoke as a steamer here and there turned in from the sea. Beyond lay the watery battlefield of the North sea where the British fleet keeps its vigil for German submarines.

The country is picturesquely rural with a crazy quilt pattern of greensward and plowed land with stone fences and cottages lying by the sea.

Plenty of Meat in Sight.

Berwickshire's cattle and sheep were a reassuring sight for those who look with dismay toward the food rationing in the future.

From that picture you move across the border to the grimy industrial area of Tyneside, dominated by dingy, busy, and breezy Newcastle, which I found to be the most expensive town in the north and the least affable.

This district makes ships and especially depends on coal exports. Business men here, you learn, are worried about the export red tape restrictions and emphasize the vital necessity of the coal exports. Many local miners are only working part time.

After inquiring into the local state of mind about the war and learning that it was intensely patriotic—scores of men desiring to join up and finding themselves not wanted yet—I surveyed the Air Raid Precaution [ARP] facilities. Here, on the Tyneside, they go about it as if they were not expecting an air raid.

Shun Air Raid Shelters.

Authorities sent a consignment of the so-called Anderson air raid shelters to Tyneside towns. The Anderson shelter is a steel hive which you set up in your own back yard. But only 19 Newcastle persons out of the 300,000 population placed orders on their own account for the shelters. No one in nearby Jarrow ordered any and only three were ordered in Durham. Thirty thousand of these shelters, however, have been erected by the government in Tyneside towns for families whose incomes are below $20 weekly.

In Newcastle's main hotel I found Miss Ellen Wilkinson, spirited Socialist woman member of parliament for Jarrow, the Tyneside town which is so distressed by unemployment. The war so far has brought it little relief. Miss Wilkinson is going to harry the government about shipping tomorrow. She is a sturdy fighter for her constituency.

Present a Gloomy Picture.

After lunch I took a bus down to Tynemouth, nine miles from Newcastle and on the sea coast, to take a look around there and also at Wallsend, North Shields, and other places. The Tyneside towns make a dismal picture as presumably all industrial areas must.

South Shields is an odd place. They have a good sized population of Arab seamen living there in boarding houses. The ones not at sea in the British mercantile marine running the gantlet of submarines are celebrating Ramadan and the end of the 30 day fast. They say in South Shields that German radio programs in Arabic are broadcast but the Moslem colony there boycotts them.

GERMAN PRINCE, REPORTED SLAIN, ALIVE IN BRITAIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Two reports that Prince Frederick William of Prussia, the ex-kaiser's favorite grandson, was the victim of a Nazi purge of monarchist sympathizers were blown sky high tonight. The London newspapers which played up the rumors that Frederick was shot by the German Gestapo [secret police] now disclose that the prince is in England under surveillance.

Prince Frederick was here ill when the war broke out and had to remain. He was liable to internment as a German citizen, but authorities allowed him freedom on parole. He is reported to be staying with friends in the country, but the place is kept secret.

Relieve the Misery As Most Mothers Do

Rub chest, throat, and back thoroughly with Vicks VapoRub at bedtime. Then spread a thick layer on the chest and cover with a warmed cloth. Right away VapoRub goes to work to relieve the misery.

VapoRub brings double relief because of its double action. It acts both as a stimulating poultice and a medicated vapor. Its poultice action penetrates the surface skin; its soothing vapors are breathed direct to irritated air passages. Try it. You'll find that often by morning most of the misery of the cold is gone.

SHIPS SAIL FOR WAR ZONE WITH PLANES ABOARD

San Pedro, Cal., Nov. 14 (AP).—The Dutch motorship Damsterdyk sailed last night with five twin motored Douglas bombers crated on her deck.

The Southern Prince, a British Line passenger vessel, was at dock today awaiting a cargo of 12 fast pursuit planes built for the British government by North American Aviation corporation.

The British Blue Star freighter Scottish Star, which cleared her anchorage at Long Beach today, was reported to have several California-built war planes aboard.

The shipments are the first since the lifting of the munitions embargo.

MRS. DAHL RAPS ENVOY FOR HER MATE'S PLIGHT

New York, Nov. 14 (AP).—Mrs. Edith Rogers Dahl, platinum blonde American cabaret entertainer, arrived today at Newark airport from Boston, where she had landed from the liner Exochorda. She said she held former United States Ambassador Claude Bowers partly to blame for the continued imprisonment in Spain of her aviator husband, Harold Dahl.

Mrs. Dahl referred to statements she said Bowers made last March, while still ambassador to Spain, concerning her sending her photograph to Gen. Franco, with a plea for her husband. This appeal was believed to have saved Dahl, who has been imprisoned more than two years, from being executed as an aviator for the government forces.

She quoted Bowers as saying that if Dahl had talked less he could have been exchanged as a war prisoner.

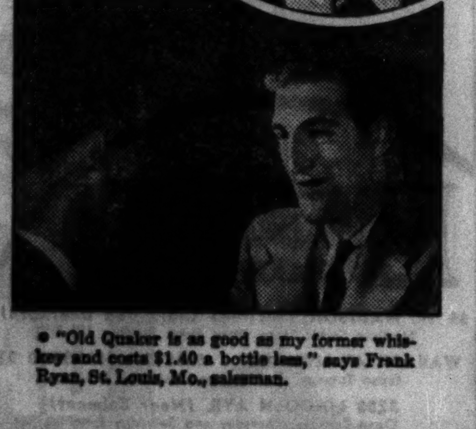
Men in 12 States, 46 Cities, Report They Save Up To $1.48 a Quart On Old Quaker Whiskey—Now 4 Years Old

From Coast to Coast, Former Users of "Expensive" Whiskies Are Switching to Rich, Mellow Old Quaker! Why? They've Learned How to Buy Fine Whiskey and Save Money Doing It!

• "Old Quaker costs $1.39 a bottle less than the whiskey I used to drink," says D. A. Tinker, salesman of St. Louis, Mo. "And it's every bit as good."

• "I have tried many more expensive whiskies," says R. W. Coons, Chicago, "and found nothing to compare with Old Quaker for rich flavor. It's the best whiskey buy I know."



• "Old Quaker is as good as my former whiskey and costs $1.40 a bottle less," says Frank Ryan, St. Louis, Mo., salesman.

IF YOU are a man who wants to save money and get a fine whiskey too—here's some interesting news.

Smart men who used to pay up to $1.48 more a quart for "expensive" brands, have learned how to buy a rich, delicious whiskey and save money doing it.

We wanted to know how this came about. Were they buying Old Quaker just to save money? Or did its rich taste appeal to them still more? So investigators visited 46 cities in 12 states, and asked.

Read these typical statements: "What," said Milo Fender, Keithsburg, Ill., "me pay over $3.00 a quart again? Not since I found Old Quaker saves me $1.30 or more and is every bit as good."

"No more high-priced whiskies for me," says Frank H. Scott of St. Louis, Mo. "Old Quaker tastes as good, if not better. That's a saving of $1.35 a bottle."

Try It Yourself

Take a tip from these men. Try Old Quaker for yourself, and save money on every bottle you buy.

• "I used to think I had to pay a high price to get fine whiskey," says Hal Mann, Chicago photographer, "but Old Quaker tasted as mellow and delicious as my former brand—cost over a dollar less a quart. So you'll agree I did the smart thing when I switched to Old Quaker."

FIVE SHIPS, ONE A BRITISH WARSHIP, SUNK IN SEA WAR

Destroyer Is Lost After Striking a Mine.

LONDON, Nov. 14 (AP).—The loss of a British destroyer after striking a German mine was reported by the admiralty today as sea warfare spurted into intensified action.

In addition to the destroyer, the 9th warship and the first of its category reported lost by the British, officials reported the sinking of three British merchant vessels and a Norwegian tanker.

The day's casualty list totaled 28 dead and missing and 15 injured.

The admiralty neither identified the destroyer nor gave the time or place of its sinking. One crew member was listed as killed, six missing and 15 injured.

More than 70 Saved.

The craft was believed to have struck the mine Sunday or yesterday. More than 70 of its crew were known to have been picked up and landed by small boats. British destroyers normally have complements of between 98 and 200 officers and men.

Tugs attempted to take the destroyer in tow, but it sank stern first.

Prior to the admiralty announcement it was learned that more than 20 survivors of a sea disaster were recovering in a marine hospital after being landed at an English port yesterday.

[A German high command communique reported that German airplanes had scored a probable hit on an English cruiser in a raid on the Shetland Islands Monday. The British previously had stated that the Germans had done no serious damage in the raid.]

Pick Up 23 in Open Boat.

Loss of the Norwegian tanker by torpedo was disclosed with the rescue of 23 members of its crew, picked up in an open boat after 30 hours. A second boat with 17 men aboard was missing. Dispatches from Oslo identified the tanker as the 11,000 ton Kjoede and said it was carrying American petroleum.

The three British merchant vessels which were lost were the 8,003 ton freighter Matra, the 275 ton trawler Cresswell and an unidentified third craft which sank about a mile from where the destroyer went down.

Two men were killed in an explosion which sank the Matra. The ship was believed to have struck a mine. The Creswell's survivors said it was torpedoed by a German submarine and two of its crew were missing. No casualties were mentioned in connection with the third vessel.

The commander of the submarine which sank the Creswell picked up ten of the 12 man crew from a raft and seven hours later put them aboard another trawler, the Phyllisia. As he did so he instructed them:

"Tell Churchill [Britain's first lord of the admiralty] that German U-boat men are not the heartless murderers you are led to believe."

PICKETER AND HIS BRIDE, 16, TOAST LOVE IN LOOP BAR

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bowker were glimpsed last night celebrating their second honeymoon at a cocktail lounge on South Wabash avenue. Bowker, 21 years old, and his bride, the former Lorraine Landon, 16, were reunited Saturday after parental disapproval threatened their marriage.

Bowker, who lives at 216 South Harvey avenue, Oak Park, and Lorraine eloped to Kentucky last July 15. The girl was taken from him July 28 by her parents. Lorraine's father, Arthur Landon, is a cartage company executive.

Bowker for a time picketed his bride's home, asserting she really loved him and was being held against her wishes. A suit to annul the marriage now has been dismissed. The couple refused to talk with interviewers who sought them out at the cocktail lounge.

DEMAND BRITAIN REVEAL ITS WAR AIMS TO EMPIRE

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 14 [Special]. —While conferences for setting up a vast training school for flyers of the British empire hung fire today over the question of finance, a demand for an imperial conference in London to state Britain's war aims was issued by W. D. Herridge, leader of the new Democracy party, and Col. C. E. Reynolds, president of the Canadian Corps association. They have just returned from England.

Herridge and Col. Reynolds said they went to England "to learn what this strange war is all about." They said they found that the empire had a job on its hands "since Fuehrer Hitler is prepared to pay the final price of communism if it is necessary to procure victory."

Canada, which would soon be the air center of the empire and would hold a key position in empire war finance, should give the empire leadership, they said. The Canadian government, they asserted, should demand an imperial conference "to state our peace aims, lay down the principle and the plan by which the federated resources of the empire will guarantee a new order of security for all our people."

Having done this conference should create "a supreme council of the empire to win the war."

122 VESSELS SUNK AND 1,875 KILLED SINCE WAR BEGAN

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

The sinking of a British destroyer, three British merchant vessels, and a Norwegian tanker, announced yesterday, raised the number of ships sunk since the start of the war 2½ months ago, to 122 and the known tonnage destroyed to 500,117. At least 1,875 persons have been killed; many others are missing. Great Britain led all nations in ships lost with 66; others included Germany, 14; France, 7; the Scandinavian countries, 25; and other neutrals, 10.

NOTE TO HITLER CALLED PEACE AID BY ROTHERMERE

LONDON, Nov. 14 (AP).—Lord Rothermere, noted publisher, declared today that he had merely been "trying to prevent war between two peoples" when he engaged in European political wire pulling that involved contact with Adolf Hitler in letters and thru his "ambassadress."

His statement was made in closing evidence in the suit of Princess Stefanie Hohenlohe-Waldenburg, the "ambassadress," against him. She charges breach of a contract under which she says she was to receive about $20,000 a year as his special political representative.

Asked whether a letter he wrote Hitler suggested a course that "would have had most violent repercussions," the publisher replied, "I don't think so," and said he was engaged then in trying to prevent war.

The letter's text was not disclosed. The hearing was adjourned until tomorrow.

GEORGE WASHINGTON SAID:
"Excessive partiality for one foreign nation and excessive dislike for another cause those whom they actuate to see danger only on one side, and serve to veil and even second the arts of influence on the other."—From the Farewell Address.

BOUNTY TO OUR DESPOILER.

Venezuela, of all the countries which have been given concessions by the United States in a reciprocal trade treaty, is most deserving of consideration. She didn't default upon large issues of bonds sold in the United States, as other Latin American countries did. She hasn't treated American capital unfairly. And on a cold turkey basis she has steadily increased her purchases to the respectable figure of 52 million dollars in 1938. Moreover, while some other countries were buying Nazi, she increased our share of her business. A good customer always deserves consideration.

And the terms of the treaty announced last week were not objectionable because they won concessions for some of our industries at the expense of others. The 50 per cent cut in the import tax on Venezuelan oil should do little harm, since the amount of oil that can be brought in from Venezuela and all other countries combined is limited to 5 per cent of our total requirements. Anyhow, letting in a little more foreign oil helps to conserve a resource that is not limitless.

Agreeing to freeze the tariff on orchid plants at the level to which it was reduced for all most favored nations as a result of the treaty with Great Britain should work no great hardship. For this, and other what appear to be trifling concessions to Venezuela, that country has agreed to reduce its tariffs on a long list of our products. That is a swell deal.

But why do anything for Mexico? Our treaty with Mexico has a most favored nations clause in it. As a result the import tax on Mexican oil will be cut in half. Mexico, which has flouted the rights of American citizens; which confiscated the property of Americans and refuses to make settlement for them, is given a present! The treatment which the United States has received from our southern neighbor is disgraceful. She needs us now more than ever before, for England has prohibited the importation of any more silver. If we don't buy her silver she can't sell it. And because of the war she can't ship any more oil to Germany, nor collect on past shipments.

The situation requires that the Mexicans must be brought to realize they cannot deny rights to our citizens with impunity. There was hope that this would be done when, on Aug. 14, Sumner Welles, then acting secretary of state, warned the Mexican government to resume negotiations looking toward the settlement of the controversy over oil lands and that "a continuation of the dispute would dislocate still further beneficial commercial relations between Mexico and the United States." What are the Mexicans to think now when, without giving us any satisfaction, we bestow upon them a new gratuity in the form of a reduced tax on their oil? If the American government ever expects to be able to adjust the claims against Mexico peacefully, or even to have the respect of that country, action must be taken to withdraw most favored rights of that country until she comes to terms.

OUR FRONT IN CHINA.

The British war office has announced its decision to withdraw the British troops from North China, leaving only a few to guard property. The other governments which have maintained troops in that part of China in accordance with the international agreements of 1901 have been notified that the British are pulling out and are relying on them to take over and to protect Britain's interests. The United States is expected to step in and assume its share of responsibilities.

Instead of taking over the British line in North China the United States should withdraw its own troops. That has been urged upon our government, and with particular emphasis since occupation by the Japanese changed the whole picture. If it was folly, as it was, to remain before the British withdrew, it is double folly to remain with responsibility for the British interests.

Actually the European and American troops in China have been there for about the same reason the Japanese troops are there. Their methods, most of the time, were different and their scene of operations was smaller, but all were in China as aggressors, controling areas of the country for the purposes and profit of the countries which maintained them there. They supported alien jurisdiction and China had to stand for the encroachment because it was unable to put the foreigners out.

Because aggression is on a small scale it does not, therefore, become different in spirit and intent from aggression on a large scale. The Japanese invasion finds plenty of precedent in what was done by Europeans before it. We have joined other nations in keeping troops in China and denouncing the Japanese for following that example. The American soldiers should be taken out and they should have no part in further military adventures and enterprises in China, and certainly none in the furtherance of any European interests. We have no Chinese front.

THE REAPPEARANCE OF CAPONE.

Al Capone, the largest part of Chicago's worst reputation, being now supposed to have paid the penalty for such misdeeds as could be proven on him, is about to be released from penal servitude. The only thing found legally against him in all his gory career was his failure to share the profits of crime with the federal government. He didn't pay his income tax. It happens that as Mr. Capone is about to return to the more or less free air the police are trying to find out who killed Edward J. O'Hare, the race track owner and rich enterpriser who was associated with the gang boss in the older days and, until he was murdered, with Judge Holland, and who, altho acquiring a front of respectability, had some of the profitable Capone businesses.

Evidence in possession of the state's attorney's office reveals that O'Hare had received a warning indirectly from convicts who had been released from Alcatraz that Capone was angry and that O'Hare might be in danger when the former top gangster was released. This warning, of which there is proof in the form of a letter found among O'Hare's possessions, furnishes what is now regarded as the best clew to the identity and motives of the persons who shot the race track man. Capone is supposed to be suffering from maladies which have affected his mind, but apparently he is to come out of his prison life as the central personage in a bit of gang crime typical of his most flourishing days.

The federal penitentiary authorities have given an additional mystery to the reappearance of the gangster by keeping his whereabouts secret, and this procedure seems not unworthy of a bit of comment. Some time ago Capone was transferred from Alcatraz to the Terminal Island prison near Los Angeles. There have been reports that in preparation for his release Nov. 19 he has been removed to a prison near Washington, to the Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore, or to some place of custody in Boston. The department of justice and the federal prison officials refuse to disclose where he is. And this raises a question whether the federal burocracy is now claiming the privilege of concealing from the public knowledge the whereabouts of a convicted man serving sentence, and if it has that authority, just what an extension of it would mean.

Most people do not care what happens to Al Capone except to hope that it measures up to his deserts. But they may be curious to know whether the department of justice and its agents and the federal prison authorities are beginning to assume the status of state police under a dictatorship which need not account for the detention of any person it chooses to sequestrate. There is a bit of the old Bastille and the new concentration camp in that. The tendency toward stiff necked and unchallengeable authority has been noted in many of the processes of the federal administration of justice, and against the background of general governmental innovations this similarity to the police methods of the dictatorships doesn't strengthen the belief that the relation of the individual to the government is improving in this country.

OFF FOR THE SOUTH POLE.

The migrating Byrd snow cruiser succeeded in making the boat in the first stage of its flight from its nesting place out here to its home land in Antarctica. Its operators can only hope that the first hundred years are the hardest and that they were occupied in going from Chicago to Boston. The 37 ton cruiser, which was designed to conquer the ice fields, found the highways here tough going. It reposed for a while in a creek in a cow pasture, having taken out a bridge. In crossing Massachusetts thru the Sunday travel it tied up traffic in what will be known historically as the Big Jam.

A great many people between here and Boston learned, if they did not know it before, that Admiral Byrd is returning where his heart is, to the south pole—and the snow cruiser may get there with him. Ten feet of its rear had to be cut off to get it on the ship, and its adventures are just beginning, altho it is now going out of the publicity belt.

Admiral Byrd apparently does not regret that his niche in life is carved in the ice of the antarctic and that he does not elsewhere find himself in harmony with the universe. Many people might regard that as a lonesome destiny. For the admiral it is the congenial career and he is ill at ease when not pursuing it. A polar explorer can't ply his trade in Virginia. He needs a pole.

THE 1940 CONVENTIONS.

The time is near when the national committees of the major parties must decide where their 1940 conventions will be held. Chicago would welcome the opportunity to act as host to either or both of the meetings; from much experience we think we know how the job should be handled. We have what it takes: the hall, the hotels, the wire and radio facilities, the diversions for delegates and visitors. More especially, we have the tradition. Chicago has had more national party conventions than any other city because it is most conveniently located. The rail lines and the air lines all lead to Chicago. The territory tributary to Chicago is generally a hotly contested area. The party which meets here has the immense advantage of presenting its candidate and its platform at the center of the nation's population, an advantage which both parties have generally been quick to recognize. The men who will present Chicago's invitation can assert confidently that no city in the country is as well equipped to handle a national convention as Chicago.

OLIVER TWIST GETS BREAK.
[Memphis Commercial Appeal.]

"I'm pretty well convinced that attendants and other officials should eat the same food as the inmates, except at the penitentiaries . . . if the food is good enough and sufficient for the patients it certainly is good enough for the employes."

Gov. Cooper thus banishes the double standard for food at the state's institutions [except prisons]. It is a move calculated to keep the fare of the state's unfortunates at a wholesome level and remove what in the past has sometimes amounted to class distinction. It has the ring of sound government.

THE IGNORANCE OF SHERLOCK.

"His ignorance was as remarkable as his knowledge," wrote the worthy Dr. Watson of his amazing friend, Sherlock Holmes, shortly after they had taken rooms together at 221-B Baker street. "Of contemporary literature, philosophy, and politics he appeared to know next to nothing. Upon my quoting Thomas Carlyle, he inquired in the naivest way who he might be and what he had done."

Then, in a systematic appraisal of his eccentric fellow lodger, Dr. Watson jotted down on paper:
"Sherlock Holmes—his limits.
"1. Knowledge of Literature—Nil.
"2. " " Philosophy—Nil."

But the man who was destined to become the greatest detective in the world could not be pinned down in the notebook of a half pay army doctor. He just grew and grew and grew in the hands of A. Conan Doyle. Therefore let us examine the later evidence regarding Sherlock Holmes' knowledge of literature and philosophy.

We soon find him referring to a passage in the works of Thomas Carlyle, and tracing it to its source in the works of the German fantastic romancer, Jean Paul Richter. He quotes a translation of the original.

He quotes two French sayings about fools of the standard epigram type. He quotes a letter from Gustave Flaubert to George Sand. He recognizes in a letter ["A Case of Identity"] a quotation from Balzac. Evidently he has ranged widely in French literature and is not shy in trying to speak the language.

He is also at home among the German classics, for he quotes two passages from Goethe's "Faust" in the original.

He tosses off two lines in Latin about a miser, thus suggesting a familiarity with Horace. He refers to Hafiz, the Persian poet. He is strong on the tales of Edgar Allan Poe, and apparently knows by heart the theories and achievements of his prototype, C. Auguste Dupin. He calls Winwood Reade's "The Martyrdom of Man" one of the most remarkable books ever penned.

From all of which it appears that if Sherlock Holmes had not devoted himself exclusively to crime he might have become an acceptable editor of the Line o' Type column.

A DRYAD SINGS.

As I weave my steps so fleet,
With the wind about my feet,
In my dance I sing a song
Winter's days will come ere long.
Heigho and welladay.
I shall seize the amber sun
Light my way when day is done,
Till I see the tall trees bending
Sadly at the summer's ending.
Heigho and welladay.
In the sky where once the swallows
Wheeled through sunny depths and shallows
Gray clouds mass and chill winds sigh,
In the lonely reeds I cry
Heigho and welladay.
Golden leaves, how bright you shiver
Drifting on the lazy river.
Know you that the river's tune
Must change within another moon?
Heigho and welladay.
Wind and I go hand in hand
Patterning a saraband.
All the words I sing fade, flying
On the day's slow dying, dying . . .

The Education of an American!

To explain the Anglophile tendency of the American "colonials" on our eastern seaboard, I submit in evidence a textbook used by an uncle of mine in 1871. He was a seventh generation New Yorker who, like the Roosevelts, Morgans et al., went to a private school. It is called "A Child's Guide to Knowledge," and was published in London. Quotation from text:

Q.—Where was the Mogul's empire?

A.—In Hindustan in Asia; it now belongs to England.

Q.—Is not the extent of India very great?

A.—Yes, it is about 15 times the size of Great Britain and contains a population estimated at 200 millions.

Q.—Are we not responsible as a nation for the well being of this immense multitude?

A.—Yes, God has made England the most powerful of all nations, and we ought, therefore, to govern with mercy and justice.

Q.—Why?

A.—Because if we do, He will continue to bless and prosper us.

There are other honeys to be culled from this same little enlightener of the American boy mind of 1871 in an American private school.

THIS CHANGING WORLD.

When I was a very little girl
Life hinged on Dad's stern word:
"My child, at table you're to be seen
But never should be heard!"

And now that I have Tom and Dick
And Sue and Bill the III.,
At table Life's pages turn back for me—
Again I'm to be seen—not heard!

A Bad Case of Thursday Lull.

While your research engineers have been delving into "What's the Matter with Thursday?" here in La Crosse, Wis., our local professors have put their finger on the real cause. Owing to the formation of an association known as the Hurricane Hill Horseshoe Hurlers, who retire every Thursday afternoon to the woods, not to emerge until Friday morning, there to practice the ancient art of hurling the horseshoe and testing the corn squeezings, our bustling metropolis has the appearance of a quiet Sabbath every Thursday afternoon. In fact, this is the only city in the country where the barber shops close on Thursday noon.

THE TENDENCY TO GOUT.

Is gout a thing of the past? Has this crippling, painful illness disappeared? To these queries we may reply emphatically, "No." The animal has changed its spots perhaps, but it is the same beast. Fortunately, it occurs less routinely—or its roars of anger are less annoying. The reason is that we have modified our eating habits in the last 20 years or so. While many gormandizers are abroad in the land, they are not as plentiful as they once were—or kidney pie is less popular.

We now understand that the malady is of metabolic origin. Proteins that are rich in material from which uric acid is manufactured are the chief offenders. Kidneys, sweetbreads, liver, fish roe, brains, etc., possess this element in generous amounts. As these substances are digested the acid is produced at a rate of speed far more rapid than the eliminating powers of the body can handle. It combines, therefore, with almost any alkali that it can find [sodium from common salt, for example] and then settles in and about the joints.

The disease affects males principally, sometimes beginning as early as age 35. When women are afflicted, symptoms follow the menopause. Seizures in the autumn are common, particularly with those who have suffered "twinges" in other years.

But diet is not the only factor. Any type of indiscretion that lowers resistance or increases fatigue, such as worry or exposure, seems to add to the severity of the bouts. They will last longer, come on more frequently, and be attended with more suffering. While alcohol can scarcely be included among the causes it certainly aggravates the disorder. Numerous cases, however, are reported among teetotalers and some among vegetarians. The most ready victim is the heavy eater, who is somewhat corpulent and who is a sitter by habit.

Nowadays we can recognize the ailment with great accuracy by means of a blood examination which will show that the uric acid has risen well above normal limits. While this does not mean that the patient will suffer a siege immediately, it does indicate that the groundwork is being laid for a most uncomfortable period. For weeks prior to an acute manifestation the patient may complain of dyspepsia with belching, constipation, mental irritability, headache, and an "out of sorts" feeling.

It should be said, however, that occasionally an episode will come out of a clear sky, the victim waking some time between 2 and 4 a. m. with pain in a great toe. Within an hour or so swelling is observed until the distended skin presents a red and glossy appearance like a polished apple, the distress progressing rapidly in severity. Later the agony will abate and the patient may drowse. During the day fair comfort may be experienced but toward nightfall the symptoms may return in full force. These periods are prone to come and go and may continue for several weeks, although much depends upon the speed with which elimination is restored. The quicker the reserve can be built back to normal, the better.

Cure is out of the question unless we attack the problem—first of all from the standpoint of foods and their use by the system. A balanced intake is essential. We need not restrict proteins completely but those rich in uric acid forming components should be avoided. Minerals are essential and vegetables and milk products may be emphasized in the menu. Thereafter all foci of infection can be eradicated. There is reason to believe that more water rather than less is helpful, at least for a time. Hot baths, the application of hot wet packs, and the infra-red lamp are all useful procedures.

[We have a low purin diet for distribution, which may be secured by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope.]

CONCUSSION.

M. C. writes: Exactly what happens in concussion of the brain?

REPLY.

The tissues of the brain are soft. Following injury, small or large hemorrhages may occur. This, plus the swelling which always accompanies trauma, causes an increase in the pressure within the skull. Since the bony structure cannot expand, the force is exerted directly upon the vital centers in the brain, which causes unconsciousness.

BRAIN LIGHTNING?

G. M. V. writes: What is "brain lightning?"

REPLY.

You probably refer to flashes of light experienced by patients in some conditions, such as certain eye diseases. As a rule, an epileptic attack is preceded by an "aura" or warning. I have heard of lightning-like brains voicing plenty of thunder but not of incandescent mental bolts.

THE WORLD WAR 25 YEARS AGO

[From Tribune Files.]

Nov. 15, 1914.

[110th day of world war; 76th of present war.]

LONDON.—Exploits of German warcraft have struck terror to the British. A U-boat invaded the Straits of Dover and sank the destroyer Niger in the Downs off Deal. Other enemy craft were sighted, giving the civilian population the feeling that the war was at its very door.

PARIS.—The German army kept up its steady drive on the western front, pressing on beyond Dixmude, which it had retaken, to within 50 miles of the channel ports of Calais and Dunkirk. Tho the sacrifice of men was staggering, the kaiser was reported to be determined to reach the coast.

WARSAW.—The czar's army reached the gates of Cracow in Russian Poland, after victories all along the eastern front. The allies were encouraged by reports that the German and Austrian commands were quarreling and that Emperor Franz Josef was tired of the war.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—In view of its observations of the European war, the war department admitted reluctantly that our army would need six times the artillery on hand if it should become engaged in a conflict. There was not enough artillery for two army corps of 50,000 men.

OUR ARMAMENT COSTS.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Nov. 11.—Regarding the scandalous rate at which our government is spending money on armaments, I want to join with you in protest against the armchair spend-easy tactics of our navy lords, together with their bickerings, all of which imperil the legitimate needs of our defense.

If our defenses, and offenses [lest we be mistaken] are so woefully weak, then why in Hades should they be in such a shape? As tho the army and navy have had to go a-begging during the last ten years! Something is slightly putrid, and not in the state of Denmark, either.

I am appalled by watching congress authorize in the last two years, with hardly a dissenting word, appropriations for the army and navy running into billions, and then on top of that deficiency appropriations to cover unwarranted additional spending, made possible with the knowledge that dear old Uncle Sam could hardy refuse. And we are now faced with the crowning exploit of all, the demand by special interests of 3 billions of dollars for a new "defense" bill. It is disgusting to hear on all sides of our inadequate defense, and the sad condition of our armed forces, which have had only a paltry eight or nine billions to spend on themselves during the last 10 years. Cannot some of our brilliant military strategists tell us also why, for all that expenditure, our defenses are not the best?

FAVORS "ARMOUR-LEWIS."

Chicago, Nov. 10.—A great many of us agree with S. B. Komaiko that Armour-Lewis would be a more appropriate name for the new institute. We hope those who chose Illinois institute will change their minds. The name "Illinois" in connection with educational institutions is always thought of as a part of the state university, whereas Armour-Lewis would be the appellation of another distinct college built from the experience and tradition of the two very fine Chicago schools.

MOTHER OF AN ARMOUR STUDENT.

A FIREMAN'S KICK.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—Will some one tell why they do not hold promotional examinations in the fire department? The present captain's, chief's and lieutenant's lists are up around five years when the law says they will expire in two. When they do hold examinations for those positions. It takes from one to three years to post the list and a man is almost a pensioner before he is eligible to the next advancement in rank.

Can't something be done so a new list would be posted every two years?

A FIREMAN.

THEY SUPPORTED HIM.

Chicago, Nov. 11.—What right have THE TRIBUNE and the Dies committee to find fault with our President for giving political jobs to Reds? Didn't they vote for him at the last election? Won't they continue to vote for him just as long as he uses the public's money to pay them?

If he were to appoint some of the thousands of able men now out of work whom he professes to love so much, but who might vote independently, you might have some excuse to attack this statesman.

W. M.

WOULD ABOLISH CONGRESS.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—The congressmen who think their only function is to serve as rubber stamps to the chief executive should introduce a joint resolution at the January meeting to submit a constitutional amendment to the voters of the nation to abolish congress. This would appreciably ease the tax burden on the American people and would demonstrate the sincerity of those congressmen.

I am making this suggestion at this time in order that it will give the congressmen ample time to consider this matter before the opening of the regular session in January.

UNION'S BAND POLICY.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—"Union Bars R. O. T. C. Bands from Seven Legion Armistice Parades."——Headline yesterday.

If the American Legion boys aren't a bunch of sissies they'll dip this guy Petrillo in the lake a few times and cool him off.

In another case Petrillo stopped the participation of a high school band in its local community dedication of a flag until citizens dug down into their pockets for the price of a professional band. His action in this case was a holdup in broad daylight—or a racket; take your choice.

CITIZEN.

TO THE REAR WITH WAR NEWS.

Benton, Ill., Nov. 12.—I get tired of reading the headlines about the European war. I don't read the articles themselves. You were able to do pretty well in putting out a paper before the war, so why not now dispense with any war news on the front page? For your bloodthirsty readers you might devote other pages at the back of the paper for their consumption. Otherwise you are helping the war propagandists.

What a wonderful thing it would be for the World's Greatest Newspaper to adopt my idea. Others might follow suit.

S. M. WARD.

FINDS MEXICO AN EXAMPLE.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—Thinking of our 13,000,000 unemployed, we could learn something from Mexico, where the law provides employment of 95 per cent Mexican citizens and 5 per cent foreign labor. Here in this wonderful country there is abundance of everything, except there is no tariff wall against employing foreign labor.

In fact, the rule seems to be that aliens [and there are millions of them] can go right to good paying jobs while Americans cannot make the grade.

Why not raise a tariff wall against foreign labor?

AMERICAN.

CREDIT TO BORAH.

Chicago, Nov. 12.—Now that the arms embargo repeal is safely in the law, that we are all happy in helping poor France and England; let us not forget to give due credit for the brave fight for neutrality made by our veteran senator William E. Borah. Brave men are never deterred by losing a fight. That the embargo repeal cannot possibly be of any benefit to our country is admitted by all advanced and farsighted people. All that we can do now is to hope and pray for the least harm that it may do to us.

APPEAL FROM TUSKEGEE.

Tuskegee Institute, Ala., Nov. 8.—Thru a staff of consecrated, experienced workers Tuskegee institute conducts a year around program of necessary service to southern rural families. Their most acute problem is low and uncertain income.

When settlements are made for the fall crops there are always thousands of sharecropper and farm labor families who "didn't come out" and a large majority of this group are Negro farmers. From harvest time until the meager advances are made for spring planting such families face their hardest struggle for existence.

Right in the midst of this period Christmas comes and without some such service as Tuskegee institute renders thousands of children in these homes would have nothing to remind them of the holiday season.

For many years devoted friends thruout the country have used this institution as a medium thru which they may send gifts to brighten these homes and warm the hearts of the children.

We therefore renew our appeal for donations of clothing, books, toys, candy, pictures, etc. Some friends prefer to send money with which to purchase gifts and in such instances the donation is spent as directed.

F. D. PATTERSON,

MOVED BY JEALOUSY.

Marquette, Mich., Nov. 13.—That age old question of Chicago's alleged steal of Lake Michigan's water for its drainage canal bobs up again.

I have always thought, and still do, that Wisconsin and Michigan, and other remotely interested states, were engaged in a pretty small business in trying to deprive Chicago of its much needed water for sanitary purposes. It's jealousy—nothing else.

ARTHUR J. RICHARDSON.

DISCOVERS A USE FOR THEM.

WARNS AGAINST SUBSIDY GRANT FOR TELEVISION

Chicagoan Tells FCC of Free Speech Peril.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—A warning against a government subsidy for the struggling television industry was received by the Federal Communications commission today. At the same time, the commission issued a report finding that the American public has displayed little interest in buying sets to receive broadcasts of scenes with sound.

The commission said there were pitfalls in giving television a green light prematurely, and acknowledged recent progress in the field to the extent of recommending liberalization of existing regulations to help popularize visual broadcasts.

E. F. McDonald Jr., of Chicago, president of the Zenith Radio corporation, sent the commission a letter saying a government subsidy of television would be dangerous to free speech and harmful to radio, magazines and newspapers.

Subsidy Called Unfair.

The commission did not mention a government subsidy in its latest report. The possibility of such a subsidy, McDonald noted, has been discussed in the press recently.

"It seems to me that this would have a stifling effect upon television and would be undesirable from other standpoints," he wrote. "Obviously, the government cannot finance all comers, and could hardly justify providing direct or indirect profits to a single entrepreneur. It would hardly be fair for government to lend its tax-secured resources to establish competition with existing advertising media by a subsidy.

"The problem of free speech will also face television as it develops into a great avenue of mass communication and supplements the press and radio. In these fields, the constitution guarantees the right of free speech. It would not be possible, if this new field of television were government-subsidized and government-controlled, to keep government influence from determining what should be telecast and what should not.

"This field of communication, it may be pointed out, is probably the most dangerous of all in which to take even a few steps leading toward government control by subsidy."

Few Receivers Sold.

The commission's report was its second. Last May a committee headed by Commissioner T. A. M. Craven, said television was only emerging "Less than a thousand television receivers have been sold since last May," the report said, "and nearly all of these are in New York city. To date, only 7 of the 19 channels available for television have been used."

The committee made 10 specific recommendations intended to clarify and simplify the present regulations and to encourage the new industry to advance beyond the experimental stage. These include a modification of the prohibition against commercialism to permit sponsorship on experimental programs, under certain conditions.

The report warned that the public should avoid investments at present in television promotion schemes.

TEST YOUR HORSE SENSE

By Dr. George W. Crane

III.

Check the answer you consider best for each of the five business problems given below. Correct answers on page 37.

1. A woman drives into a gas station in a 16 cylinder car and says: "Yesterday one of your service men checked my tires, but left all the valve caps off." You should:
—— Tell her she must be mistaken.
—— Tell her she can't get away with a trick like that.
—— Offer to replace them at once.

2. A business house decides it needs a machine to print form letters. It should buy:
—— A mimeograph.
—— A Linotype.
—— A comptometer.

3. A fellow worker arbitrarily orders you to do your work in a different way from your custom. He has no authority over you. You should:
—— Tell him not to stick his nose in other people's business.
—— Tell him "O. K." but do it your own way.
—— Follow his advice.

4. Bill Smith is an efficient worker, but resents taking orders. He is likely to be a troublemaker. It would be wise to:
—— Discharge him at once.
—— Place him on probation for one month.
—— Make him a straw boss.

5. It is necessary for you to reprimand an employé. It would be best to:
—— Criticize him before the other workers.
—— Bawl him out in your private office.
—— Privately sandwich your criticism between two compliments.

BYRD SHIP SAILS AT DAWN TODAY FOR ANTARCTICA

Boston, Mass., Nov. 14 (AP).—Polar pioneers, who may become Uncle Sam's first antarctic colonists, bunked on shipboard tonight. They are ready to sail at dawn for the Little America that Admiral Byrd believes might provide a base for a new and safer air trail between the United States and Australia.

The sailing of the North Star, lead-off ship in the government's first antarctic venture in 100 years, was delayed today by the necessity of lashing a 37 ton snow cruiser on the vessel's fore deck.

The big snowmobile, which encountered a series of mishaps on its jaunt from Chicago to Boston, was eased onto the forward deck of the North Star this morning by Dr. Thomas Poulter, designer of the juggernaut.

SQUALUS TAKEN FROM NAVY ROLL DURING REPAIRS

Portsmouth, N. H., Nov. 14 (AP).—Survivors of the United States submarine Squalus—a hardy band of undersea men who faced and escaped death together 40 fathoms deep in the Atlantic—approached tonight the parting of ways.

The long sunken, now salvaged submersible will be decommissioned tomorrow to permit reassignment elsewhere of the four officers and 28 members of her crew who escaped the fate of the 26 who died when she went down last May.

Orders releasing the Squalus from service will be read by Lieut. Oliver F. Naquin, her commander, who has been transferred to San Diego, Cal. The three other officers will go to Newport. Work of reconditioning the craft will be continued.

STUDENTS VOTE AGAINST ENTRY IN EUROPE'S WAR

Voice Opposition in Poll of Catholic Schools.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

The United States will not be drawn into Europe's war if the students of 182 Catholic colleges and universities in this country have their way.

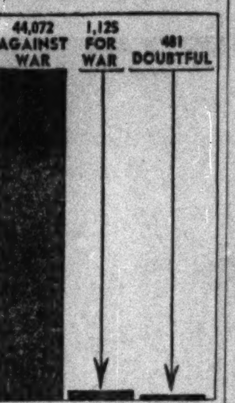

Chart compares students' vote

A poll of the students, conducted by the Catholic journal, America, shows that 44,072 students oppose America's entry into the war. A total of 1,125 students said they thought the United States should enter the war, and 481 were doubtful. The poll is 75 per cent complete. The complete vote will appear in the December issue of the journal.

Five Points Covered.

The poll sought to determine the students' opinions on five points — whether the United States should participate in the war, whether it eventually will be drawn in, whether there should be a popular referendum before a declaration of war, whether the nation's entry on the side of England and France would lead to a stable peace, and whether the students would volunteer, await conscription, or be conscientious objectors.

More than 30 per cent of the students declared they would be conscientious objectors. Only 11,369 of 51,225 students who answered this question said they probably would volunteer for service if the United States declared war now. More than 21,000 said they would await conscription.

20,000 Fearful of Entry.

More than 20,000 of the students said they believed that the United States will be unable to stay out of the war, while nearly 25,000 said they either did not know or did not think that Americans would fight in France again. A total of 34,000 favored a referendum before a declaration of war, and 9,000 voiced opposition to such a vote.

More than 36,000 students said that the United States would not insure a lasting peace by going to war. Approximately 3,000 said they believed the nation's entry would bring such a peace.

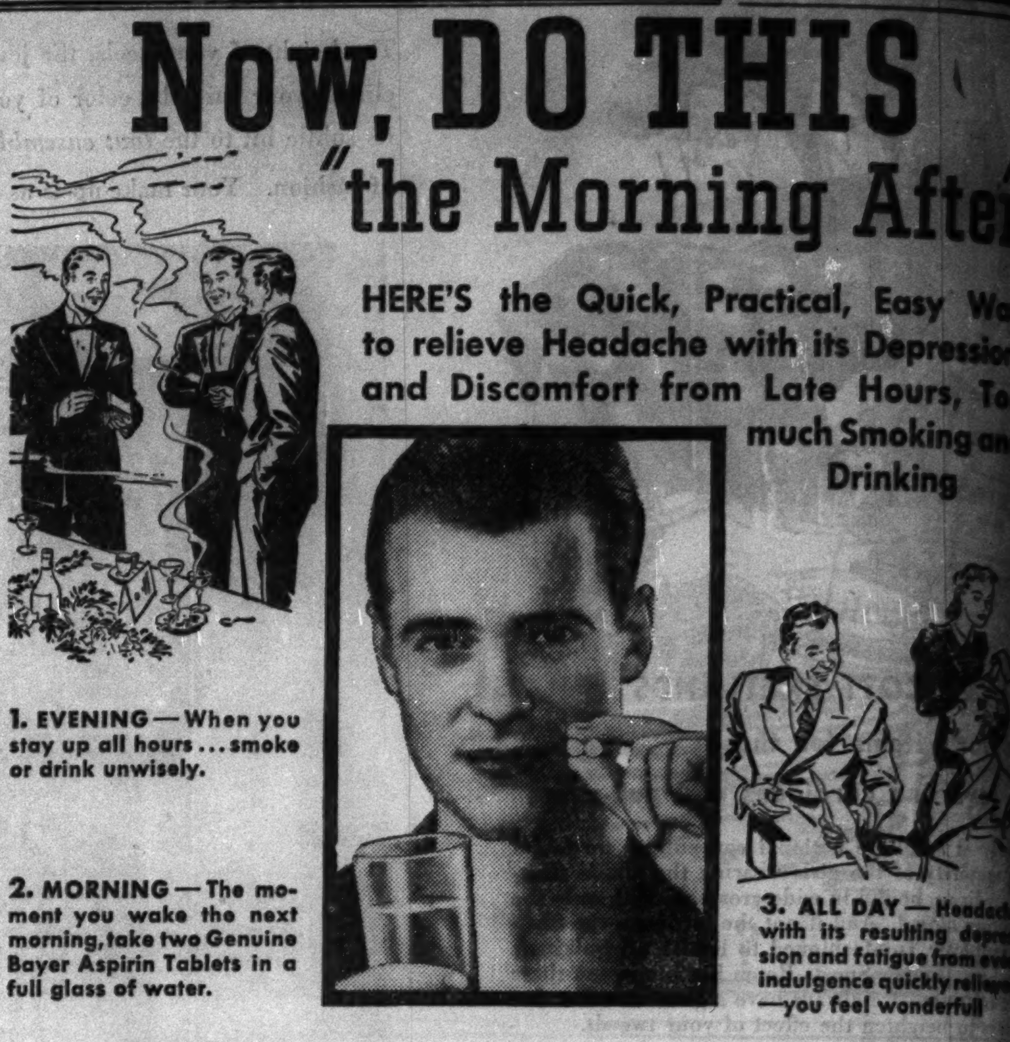
Now, DO THIS "the Morning After"

HERE'S the Quick, Practical, Easy Way to relieve Headache with its Depression, and Discomfort from Late Hours, Too much Smoking and Drinking



1. EVENING—When you stay up all hours...smoke or drink unwisely.

2. MORNING—The moment you wake the next morning, take two Genuine Bayer Aspirin Tablets in a full glass of water.

3. ALL DAY—Headache with its resulting depression and fatigue from over-indulgence quickly relieved—you feel wonderful!

Thousands Save Hours after Over-Indulgence by taking Genuine Bayer Aspirin

No need now to resort to fleeting "pick-me-ups" or ineffectual "medicines" to combat painful effects of unwise smoking and drinking. Thousands now are discovering a fast and effective way to do the "morning-after" job.

It's simple . . . and absolutely logical. Quickly relieve the headache and resulting discomfort from over-indulgence by the method used by millions to relieve similar pains from other causes . . . with fast-acting Bayer Aspirin. Try it.

All you do is this:

On waking up in the morning after such over-indulgence, take two Bayer Aspirin Tablets in a full glass of water.

That's all. But results will amaze you. For quick-disintegrating Bayer Aspirin starts to "take hold" in a remarkably short time. Your headache is eased with astonishing speed, that "low" distressing feeling which results also is relieved with equal promptness. You feel clear-headed and thus energetic. And you'll say you never "functioned" better . . . all day long.

It's a revelation! Try it. Just Bayer Aspirin, that's all. But remember it is quick-disintegrating Bayer Aspirin that makes these claims. When you buy, be sure you get the Bayer Product. Always ask for Bayer Aspirin by its full name, not for aspirin alone. And see that you get it.

WHY BAYER ASPIRIN STARTS TO WORK SO FAST

Drop a Bayer Aspirin Tablet in water. Almost instantly it starts to disintegrate—is ready to go to work.

By this test you can see for yourself why Genuine Bayer Aspirin works so fast.

AIR LINE RAISES QUESTION OF SEA LANE MONOPOLY

Seeks Right to Compete with Pan-American.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—Shall two or more American air transportation operators be allowed to compete over trans-Atlantic airways to Europe, or shall one concern be given a monopoly on these routes? This is the issue raised here by American Export Air Lines, a subsidiary of the American Export Steamship Lines, in a petition pending before the Civil Aeronautics authority.

The point is made in the Export Air Lines' application for a certificate of convenience and necessity to operate flights to Europe carrying air mail, passengers and express. The company asserts that it is eager to commence regularly scheduled flights to provide needed competition with Pan American Airways System, which has been flying regularly across the North Atlantic since last June, thus preventing Pan American from acquiring a virtual monopoly on the North Atlantic such as it already enjoys around South America, in Alaska, and on the Pacific ocean.

Charge Un-American Campaign.

Officials of Export Air Lines, in pleading their case before the examiners of the CAA, assert the whole future supremacy of American flag borne commerce in the air depends upon leaving the way open for competition. They declare that Pan American Airways is attempting to apply un-American principles in gaining their monopoly to all ocean flying routes operated by Americans.

The hearing and its repercussions in New York, headquarters for both Pan American Airways and Export Air Lines, bring once more into the open the three year struggle between the two concerns. Export Air Lines' officials, ever since they sought permission in 1936 to make their first pioneering flights across the Atlantic, have been charging that Pan American has a monopoly.

From the beginning the Export Air Lines' authorities have declared that American domestic air lines are the best in the world only because of the intense competition between various major operators. The same results, they have asserted repeatedly, can be expected on the oceans only if real competition is provided.

Landing Rights Tied Up.

The first open recriminations were exchanged between the two concerns when W. H. Coverdale, president of the steamship company, discovered that Pan American held what were at that time exclusive landing rights for American commercial airplanes in Portugal. This barred Export Air Line planes from the Azores, then considered an important refueling stop for trans-Atlantic flying.

Subsequently the state department and the Civil Aeronautics authority negotiated treaties with England, France, and Portugal that allowed any American airplanes to operate from these countries on a reciprocal basis for English, French, and Portugese airplanes that might wish to fly to bases in the United States.

Under these treaties the United States had the right to grant authority to American air transport operators for two round trips a week to England and four round trips weekly to France. Pan American Airways filed applications at that time for four weekly round trips, but the CAA limited their operations, which began last June, to two.

Rival Asks Dismissal.

Almost immediately Pan-American Airways filed applications for two more round trips each week. The same type of application has been made by Export Air Lines. A hearing before a CAA examiner on Export's petition opened here a week ago. Preliminary testimony is being given at this time. Among other motions made is one by Henry Friend, counsel for Pan American, for dismissal of Export's petition.

Thomas Hitchcock Jr., noted polo player and a partner in the investment house of Lehman Brothers, which is backing the Export Lines, was one of those who charged today that granting of a monopoly to Pan American Airways is un-American and unfair. Hitchcock, a former war flyer, is an Export director.

"It is unthinkable that the north Atlantic trade route on the water would be turned over to one steamship line," declared Hitchcock, "yet this is what is being proposed for the air."

Offers Better Service.

Hitchcock also declared that Export Air Lines proposes to use a type of flying boat that is faster, capable of longer range, and of carrying a slightly greater payload than those now carried by Pan American's Boeing Clippers. He asserted that Export's service will be superior.

J. M. Eaton, vice president of Export Air Lines, also protested. He declared that the question boiled down to one issue: Is the United States going to develop a comprehensive long range aviation program or let foreign competition overrun the air lanes because only one American company is allowed to fly them?

"The North Atlantic is the most highly traveled water route in the world," he said. "We're not asking to be the only line to carry commercial cargoes over it. It is big enough for two or three or four companies. Competition would be the best thing in the world for the standard of service."

Two Routes Proposed.

Specifically, Export Air Lines, in its original petition filed with the CAA, asked for rights to fly two round trips weekly from New York to Europe. One was to go to Foynes, Ireland, and on to Southampton, England, a 3,260 mile trip. The other was to be to Biscarosse, the great French military seaplane base on the Bay of Biscay. This was a hop of 3,581 miles.

Launching of the European war, passage of the cash and carry neutrality amendment, and President Roosevelt's proclamations of combat zones have made it impossible to fly these routes at this time. Subsequently Export Air Lines officials amended their petition, asking rights to operate to Lisbon, and thence to Barcelona, Spain, and on to Rome, Italy.

Export Air Lines proposes to establish, during the summer of 1940, an interim service with twin-motored Consolidated flying boats—commercial modifications of the navy's famous PBY-4 long range patrol bombers. This service would be limited to airmail and express. The company now owns one of these boats and last summer carried out three highly successful round trip preparatory flights.

Service in a Year.

Permanent service, Export's proposals state, would commence in the late months of 1940 or early in 1941. The plane to be used would be a Sikorsky S-44 flying boat. This was developed originally as a navy four motored pocket battleship of the air. The navy bomber would be redesigned for the commercial service and three machines built immediately.

Igor Sikorsky, designer of the S-44 and many other successful planes and engineering manager of Vought-Sikorsky division of United Aircraft corporation, recently testified before the CAA on the capabilities of the new plane.

Fully equipped and with a crew of 11 men, he said, the airplane is capable of cruising at 150 miles an hour for 3,800 miles at 10,000 feet and have a reserve of 400 gallons of fuel. This would be sufficient for about six hours' flying at reduced speed. In this condition the boat would carry a pay load of 5,000 pounds.

Would Pass Up Azores.

With the S-44s the Export Air Lines operations authorities proposed that they should eliminate the stop at Horta, Azores, now made by Pan-American Airways planes flying the same route to Lisbon. The stop at Horta is uneconomical and is dependent upon good weather and water conditions in Horta harbor, which is notoriously unprotected, altho it is the best available.

By making the trip nonstop Export's operations would be independent of Horta's weather conditions and service could be more regular, the CAA was told. At present Pan American's Boeing Clippers must make the Horta stop to refuel before reaching Lisbon, Export's engineers declared.

The American Export Steamship Lines operate a fleet of 20 vessels between New York and Mediterranean ports and the Black sea. The air lines' venture was conceived first as a method of supplementing passenger facilities for their trade route.

Previews Travel in Future.

Later the company announced that it believes all first class ocean travel ultimately will be by air and declared that it wished to hasten this day with its own operations.

An asset of Export Air Lines, the CAA examiners were told, will be the weather information and safety of having from four to eight of the American Export Line steamers always at sea on the air route.

"If Export's petition is denied," said Hitchcock yesterday in commenting on the whole situation, "Pan-American's monopoly will obtain for years. It is expensive to do the necessary ground and survey work to enter the field.

"To date Export has put a half million dollars into this venture, with no assurance that they will get a certificate. If their application is denied, it is unlikely that others will be foolish enough to venture such a large sum with the discouraging experience of Export before them."

Pan American Defends Stand.

Pan American Airways, in statements issued from New York yesterday, defended its stand by stating that all the competition necessary will be provided for any American line flying the Atlantic by big government subsidized airlines backed by various European nations. English, French, German, and Italian airlines, backed by these states, already have shown interest in the Atlantic.

As for the Pan American company's demand now for increased rights, Pan American Airways' officials say that economics of operation force them to demand the additional trips. They say that only by operating four trips weekly can any airline break even. To give the two additional trips to Export Air Lines, they say, will be to insure less efficient service for the country and cost the government an additional $1,000,000 annually over the cost of four trips by the same company.

Hearings before the CAA have been inconclusive. A CAA attorney has filed a motion to suspend the hearings at this time to allow Export to obtain landing rights in Italy—a point that has not been fulfilled. The attorney suggested it is fruitless to consider the application until it is certain that service can be rendered.

Oral arguments on this and upon the Pan American Airways motion for dismissal of the petition will be heard tomorrow.

American Export's Transocean Plane

The converted navy patrol bomber in which American Export Air Line crews made three round trip trans-Atlantic survey flights last summer. The flights were made in preparation for regular service and the company now is seeking rights from the Civil Aeronautics authority in Washington for two weekly round trips. This plane is a twin motored type similar to the navy's PBY4 bombers.

Elmer's No Grid Star, but He's Missed in the Lineup

Beecher hall wants Elmer. Beecher hall is a women's dormitory at the University of Chicago. For the homecoming last week-end the girls rigged up Elmer, a dummy dressed as a football player. His helmet disappeared Friday night. Sunday all of Elmer was gone. The girls want him back, because Elmer's football suit is worth $60.

GIRDLER WARNS OF NEW ATTACK UPON BUSINESS

Hits at Harassment of Free Enterprise.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 14 (AP).—Tom Girdler, Republic Steel corporation chairman, urging a period of better earnings for the steel industry, declared tonight that fresh experiments in business regimentation and control are reported in the offing.

"Upon business men fall the obligation to defend free enterprise from further crippling restrictions," Girdler told the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce. "The work of clearing up the deplorable mess in which this country finds itself has hardly begun."

Fixing the steel industry's average net return for the last 10 years at 2½ per cent, Girdler said the industry should earn 10 per cent on invested capital in peak years to fortify it against bad years. In 1929, he recalled, the return was 9.1 per cent. Since then the industry has spent a billion and a half dollars in modernizations, he asserted.

Attack on Steel Prices.

"Our critics are interested only in keeping steel prices down regardless of costs, regardless of profits, regardless of any return to the half a million people who have put their savings in the industry," he added.

The head of America's third largest steel company said he was patiently waiting for some concrete evidence that a truce has been declared in the warfare upon business.

"The ending of the [European] war should not destroy the forces of recovery which were at work before the war started," he asserted.

Expressing conviction "the Wagner act has done more to disturb industrial relations in the United States than any other legislation in the history of the country," Girdler said:

"In addition to the stirring up of labor strife, the labor board hearings and the litigation which often follows them have served to develop in the public mind a great many misconceptions which are far removed from actual facts.

Tells of Exaggerated Report.

"For instance, it was generally reported last week that the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, Philadelphia, to which Republic had appealed its labor board case rising out of the 1937 strike, had upheld an order of the labor board directing the company to reëmploy 5,000 men and to give them $7,500,000 in back pay.

"The fact is that nowhere in the labor board's order were these figures used, nor were they used in the decision of the Court of Appeals."

Girdler said the company would have to pay only a fraction of $7,500,000 if it lost an appeal to the Supreme court.

"Although 5,000 employment applications were received by the company from strikers following the labor board decision, many of them were from employés who already had been returned to work. Many more employés who filed applications were returned to work immediately following the board's order," he explained. "Relatively few men who filed applications and who are entitled to employment are now out of work. It is apparent therefore that the $7,500,000 back wage figure which has appeared in the newspapers and which came from the C. I. O., existed only in their [C. I. O.] minds."

Fall from Horse Injures Mrs Lawrence M. Stein

Wins Hero Medal

Fred Guilbert (left) of the Chicago park district presenting a medal to Whitney Pearson for saving a life at Oak street beach last summer.

Park district officials were to have presented National Safety Council medals to two heroes yesterday. But some one forgot to tell one of them, a park policeman, to be there.

Whitney Pearson, 2104 Fargo avenue, a lifeguard, got his medal for rescuing a boy off Oak street beach last Aug. 22. It was presented to him by Fred Guilbert. Policeman William F. Donnelly, 9049 South Marshfield avenue, the absentee hero, earned his medal last summer by rescuing two workers who had been overcome by gas in a water tunnel construction job at 8th street and Michigan avenue.

Another lifeguard, Richard Johnson, 4740 North Sacramento avenue, will receive a medal at ceremonies to be held at the University of Illinois, where he is a student. He rescued a boy at Center street beach last summer.

A. F. L. WORKERS ASK RETURN TO CHRYSLER JOBS

Move to Qualify for State Compensation.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 14 (AP).—The A. F. of L. division of the United Automobile Workers, declaring itself to be unconnected with the contract dispute between the Chrysler corporation and the C. I. O. auto workers, instructed its members today to assemble at gates of Chrysler's Plymouth plant at 7 a. m. tomorrow and demand that they be permitted to work.

Homer Martin, U. A. W.-A. F. of L. president, said this action would show that the A. F. of L. members and nonunion workers have been put out of work thru no fault of their own and are therefore entitled to their unemployment compensation.

State Denies Compensation.

The Michigan unemployment compensation commission ruled last week that the more than 58,000 Chrysler employés now idle as the corporation and union officers try to negotiate a new contract are not eligible for unemployment benefits.

Several hundred Plymouth employés appeared at the plant today, and Peter McGavin, A. F. of L. local leader, said some members of his group worked for an hour. A corporation spokesman said no employés had been called back to work and that the Plymouth plant cannot operate until it obtains materials from the Dodge plant, which remains closed.

Report Agreement Near.

Corporation and C. I. O. officials continued their conferences with federal and state conciliators seeking an agreement to end the shutdown of Chrysler plants. James F. Dewey, federal conciliator, said that negotiations for a contract were in their final state. "The union is expected to bring in a draft of their wage proposals when the conference resumes Wednesday," said Dewey.

At Lansing, Gov. Luren D. Dickinson of Michigan said the situation had demonstrated need for a law that would give the state more authority to settle labor disputes.

Freak Blaze Looses Flood of Gas; Firemen Subdue It

Firemen fighting a basement fire at 3001 Lawrence avenue yesterday were confronted with a freak problem. The fire melted lead connecting plugs on ten gas meters and escaping gas was ignited. Firemen first played water on the gas pipes, then used wrenches to shut off each meter.

Approve $25,000 for City Superhighway Planning

The city council finance committee yesterday voted to appropriate $25,000 from the motor fuel tax fund so that the superhighway commission can complete plans for new express highways. Recently the state vetoed the committee's plan to take $100,000 from next year's motor fuel tax for the commission's work.

Council Committee Urges Approving Veneer Buildings

The city council building committee yesterday recommended that construction of brick veneered residences be permitted in areas within the fire limits where not more than 51 per cent of the buildings are of frame. Fire department officials told the aldermen the veneer would reduce the fire hazard in these areas.

COUNCIL TO GET MILK CONTAINER ORDINANCE TODAY

Drafted for Health Board After 4 Week Delay.

The board of health recommendation that paper milk containers be permitted in Chicago will be presented to the city council today. A draft of a proposed amendment to the city milk ordinance was sent to Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, yesterday by Assistant Corporation Counsel Walter V. Schaefer.

Dr. Bundesen then sent the draft to City Clerk Ludwig D. Schreiber with the request that it be presented to the city council today in accordance with the resolution adopted by the board of health on Oct. 16.

How Delays Started.

On that date Dr. Bundesen forwarded a copy of the resolution to Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes, inclosing a letter saying the resolution was sent for Hodes' information.

Hodes took the attitude that no opinion nor ordinance had been requested from him and he took no action on the proposal for three weeks. Dr. Bundesen said he had acted in accordance with the board of health recommendation.

Members of the board of health met last Thursday and asked specifically that the corporation counsel draft an ordinance in accordance with their recommendation.

No Opinion on Legality.

In his letter to Dr. Bundesen yesterday Schaefer pointed out that the ordinance was prepared "in the manner specified by you—that is, by adding the words 'or single-service containers' after the words 'standard milk bottles' in section 154-15," Schaefer's letter concluded:

"You have requested no opinion as to the form or legality of any ordinance or of any regulations to govern the use, manufacture, and handling of single-service milk containers and we express no opinion as to these matters."

The board of health determined the standards by which the single-service or paper milk containers are to be judged when the original recommendation was passed. In that resolution, introduced to the board by Dr. Bundesen, it was recommended "that the board adopt such standards as have been promulgated and recommended by the United States public health service for the manufacture and handling of single-service containers."

Hodes Questions Board's Right.

Hodes' letter to Bundesen yesterday suggested that the corporation counsel is by no means sure that the health board has the right to set up paper container standards and that it is probably the province of the aldermen instead of the health board members. Dr. Bundesen said last night that he will confer with Mr. Hodes today and, if the latter so advises, the matter of standards will be placed in the proposed ordinance and left to the city council for approval.

Dr. Bundesen contended, however, that the board's right to fix standards for the containers is based on its authority to pass rules and regulations governing health measures. He said the board was so advised by the corporation counsel in the matter of rules to govern the operation of hospitals.

It is expected that the city council will refer the proposed paper container ordinance to the health committee today. Dr. Joseph C. Ross [40th], chairman of the committee, has announced public hearings will be held on the measure.

NEW YORK DAIRY FARMERS TO GET INCREASED PRICE

New York, Nov. 14 [Special].—A blended price of $2.27 per hundredweight [47 quarts] of milk, an increase of 18½ cents, will be paid dairy farmers supplying the New York metropolitan area for their October milk, E. M. Harmon, administrator of the federal-state milk marketing area, announced today. A blended price of $2.08½ paid for September milk brought a strong protest from farmers.

The chief factor in the sharp rise in the price of the farmers, Harmon said, was the increase of 22 cents per hundredweight for class 1 of fluid milk, which became effective Oct. 1. As the increased price for class 1 milk brought a ½ cent increase in the retail price of milk Oct. 1, no further increase is expected. A new labor contract recently brought another increase of ¼ cent in the retail price.

The large distributors started this week to introduce a new two quart paper container which will mean a saving of 1½ cents a quart for those who use them.

LAY OFF 200 CITY WORKERS TO GET GARBAGE FUNDS

Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works, told the city council finance committee yesterday that 200 of the city's 1,650 street and alley workers had been laid off in the last two weeks. This was done to obtain funds to continue garbage and ash collections five days a week as council ordered, he said. On recommendation of the committee he agreed to stagger available work so that all would obtain some employment. Hewitt's suggestion that the city reduce truck rentals from $22.50 to $18 a day was referred to a subcommittee.

O. K. LA SALLE ST. TUNNEL CLOSING TO BUILD SUBWAY

The council finance committee yesterday approved an agreement between the city and the Chicago Surface Lines whereby the La Salle street tunnel for street cars will be closed during the construction of the Dearborn street subway. The Dearborn subway turns west at Lake street and crosses La Salle. It is planned to reroute street cars thru other tunnels.

WARN RELIEFERS AGAINST FRAUDS WHO SEEK MONEY

Persons on the Chicago Relief administration rolls and applicants were warned yesterday not to pay money to persons or organizations who offer to get them on the relief rolls or to obtain special privileges for them. Leo M. Lyons, CRA commissioner, posted large signs to this effect in every office.

Gilbert Lang, secretary of the Cook County Workers' alliance, admitted recently that reliefers who belong to the organization are expected to pay dues of 10 cents a month each. The levy on WPA workers, he said, is 25 cents a month.

Lyons said the CRA gives equal service to all on the basis of need. He asked reliefers who are solicited for funds to notify the CRA at once so the complaint may be investigated by its CRA fraud department.

HEAD OF METAL STAMP COMPANY IS FOUND SLAIN

Peter G. Jacobson, 57 years old, president of the Excel Manufacturing corporation, was found shot to death last night in his office on the second floor of the Excel plant at 3945 North Western avenue. The company makes metal stamps.

Lieut. Albert Hoffman of the North Damen avenue police said Jacobson apparently had taken his own life by discharging a .30 caliber hunting rifle after inserting the muzzle in his mouth. The [illegible] was on the floor about five feet from the body.

The lieutenant said early investigation indicated Jacobson was in business difficulties. He lived at 7360 North Damen avenue. The body was found by one of the Excel employés, Frank C. Nolan, 3854 North Claremont avenue, who was in another part of the building when he heard the shot.

JOS. GOLDBLATT NOMINATED FOR BOY SCOUT POST

Joseph Goldblatt, manager of Goldblatt Brothers department store at 4700 South Ashland avenue, was nominated for the position of director of the southwest area of the Chicago Boy Scouts last night at a meeting in the International Amphitheater.

The crew of the Sea Scout ship Blackhawk was presented with the flag of the national flagship fleet, an honor bestowed upon only 21 crews out of more than 2,000 in America. The presentation was made by Tom Keane, national Sea Scout executive. Tom Hawkins, skipper of the Blackhawk, received the flag.

LOOT HOME OF GEMS.

Burglars entered the apartment of Philip Werner at 7003 Crandon avenue by forcing open a front door last night and took jewelry valued at $620. Werner is a traffic representative for United Air Lines.

GUIDE to READING — BOOKS — NEWS and REVIEWS

Lin Yutang Produces a Truly Great Novel of Modern China in His "Moment in Peking"

"Moment in Peking," by Lin Yutang. [John Day, 815 pages, $3.] Published tomorrow. December choice of the Book of the Month club.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

Lin Yutang, the author of "The Importance of Living," has written in "Moment in Peking" the great novel of modern China. That statement was made by some one who probably knows more about the inherent rightness or wrongness of his material than any non-Chinese of our day, Pearl Buck, who herself has written great novels of China. The same unqualified statement will be made by every reader, whether he has ever seen China or not, for "Moment in Peking" is self-evidently a great book.

According to western designs of novels this seems more a panoramic history than it does a novel. It has none of the usual carpentering — the plot building up to a climax, like a finely planned dwelling which is capped and adorned by its roof. In it lives are lived, their events recorded with inevitableness, but with no dramatic insistence, in a pattern determined by fate rather than by the author.

Lin Yutang.

In a passing sentence among these vast, fascinatingly detailed pages Lin Yutang writes a phrase about something else which perfectly describes his writing when he says: "What distinguishes the Peking accent from other dialects is its calm tempo and its composed tone, good humored, and contemplative, the talkers ready to appreciate the full flavor of talk in the forgetfulness of time."

That quality is the very essence of "Moment in Peking," and is what gives this book at the same time an aura of utter strangeness according to our standards of novel construction and writing, and of undeniable greatness.

The "moment" begins in peaceful 1900 and ends in chaotic war-riddled 1938. But in that moment the old China became the new China. Lin Yutang chronicles both old and new, with apologies for neither, and in the same "calm tempo" and "composed tone."

Carl Crow has an amusing and interesting book this fall called "The Chinese Are Like That." But more truly in "Moment in Peking" than in any book of either fact or fiction that I have ever read do we see how, inside their minds and their hearts as well as inside their homes and in their courtyards, the Chinese are like that.

"Moment in Peking" must be read as it is written—in a calm tempo and with composure. Not a line can be missed because, except for the universal human emotions of love and hate, every reaction, whether emotional, social, or economic, which it describes is so strange to a western reader that it fascinates him; everything is so exotically different from his own environment that the words themselves, however familiar, make new patterns to his mind. This reader spent eight days of almost continuous reading on "Moment in Peking" —and does not consider one moment misspent.

Another View of China

"The Chinese Are Like That," by Carl Crow. [Harpers, $3.]

If, after you have finished Lin Yutang's tremendous picture of the Chinese from the inside looking out you take up this picture of them from the outside looking in, you will find, strangely, that Mr. Crow's book has gained a new reality from "Moment in Peking."

The Chinese scene is caught like a fly in amber, forever, in "Moment in Peking" and what any one thinks about the Chinese, even what Mr. Lin himself thinks, seems of less importance than the essential data of the book. Carl Crow amusingly interprets incidents of Chinese character or action from an American business man's point of view. Characteristics, social or economic tendences are looked at with understanding and, in most cases, affection by Mr. Crow, to whom the Chinese are the sum of many interesting parts but sometimes contradictory.

Carl Crow wrote the first extremely popular book about the Chinese, "400 Million Customers."

Authors and Their Work

Since this is National Book week, devoted to children's books, you may be interested in what some authors of children's books are doing. Munro Leaf, author of the imcomparable "Ferdinand," is on his first visit to California, where he will spread cheer and gayety up and down the coast lecturing on children's books.

Worth Gruelle, illustrator of the new Raggedy Ann story, "Raggedy Ann in the Magic Book," is the third generation of artists by that name. His father, the late Johnny Gruelle, was a newspaper cartoonist and originator of the Raggedy Ann books, and his grandfather was a well known portrait and landscape painter.

The Julia Ellsworth Ford Foundation for Children's Literature has awarded its annual $2,000 prize for the best book manuscript for children to Elinore Blaisdell of New York City. The prize winning manuscript, "Falcon, Fly Backward," is a story of medieval France in the days of knights and ladies. The author's own illustrations accompanied the manuscript. The book was published Monday by Julian Messner, Inc.

Bertha Stevens, the editor of "Thoreau" [John Day, $2.50], an excellent selection from his writings which is a wonderful companion piece to Henry Seidel Canby's superb biography of "Thoreau" [Houghton Mifflin, $3.75], teaches rudimentary science at the Avery Coonley School in Downer's Grove.

The Inquiring Reporter

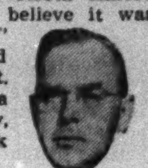
The Question.

What was the first book you had as a child?

Where Asked.

Corner of Randolph street and Michigan avenue.

The Answers.

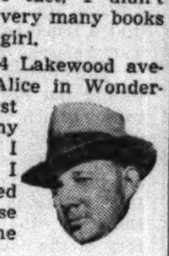


Ralph Wegner, 119 North Karlov avenue, historian.—I believe it was "Grimm's Fairy Tales." I don't recall how old I was when I got it. That's going back a long way, you know, but I read that book over and over again.

Florence Howard, 6640 South Hoyne avenue, office clerk.—It must have been Baldwin's First Reader. That was before I started school. I remember the boxes and balls and things in it, all colored, and after a while I managed to read it, too.

R. E. Toepfer, 3438 Franklin boulevard, accountant.—"Heidi." That's the first I read by myself. It's a girl's book, but it made a deep impression on me. I've often wondered how goat's cheese would taste. Heidi ate it toasted, remember?

Miriam Luers, Crete, Ill., student.—Gee, that's so long ago I can't remember. I know I read "Heidi" over and over again in school, but I don't remember what else. As a matter of fact, I didn't have very many books when I was a little girl.



John B. Mills, 6534 Lakewood avenue, accountant.—"Alice in Wonderland" was the first book I could call my own. It is the first I remember reading. I remember how I liked the mouse because Alice shrunk until she was just its size.

Meetings and Lectures

Dorothy Aldis will read from her new book of verses for children, "Before Things Happen," for the dinner program of the Friends of Literature at 6 p. m. tomorrow at the Piccadilly Tea Room.

Leslie Edgley's play, "In All Directions," is being produced this week at the Little Theater Off Bughouse Square, 867½ North Dearborn. His first novel, "No Birds Sing," will be published in January.

Author Presents a Guide to Reading for Children

Laura E. Richards, author of that perennial favorite, "Captain January," now passes on her rich knowledge of what children like to read in "What Shall the Children Read?" [Appleton Century, $1]. From the age of 6 to adolescence she follows the child's growing interest in books.

Public Library Week Set Aside for Chicagoans

Nationally, Nov. 12 to 18 is Book week, dedicated to books for children. Locally it is also Public Library week by proclamation of Mayor Edward J. Kelly. All citizens of Chicago are invited by the Chicago public library to "signify their interest in the services and conduct of this public service institution by favoring it with a personal visit during the week." Open house will prevail in all the branch libraries and the central library, and their work and facilities will be shown in exhibits and guided tours.

Poetry, a Magazine of Verse, announces in its November issue the names of the winners of its annual prize awards. The Levinson prize, given this year for the 25th time, goes to E. E. Cummings of New York City. Stephen Spender of London, England, is awarded the Guarantors prize, and Maxwell Bodenheim of New York City the Blumenthal prize. The Davis prize for the work of a young poet goes to John Malcolm Brinnin of Ann Arbor, Mich.; the Harriet Monroe Memorial prize to H. B. Mallalieu of London, England, and the Lyric prize to Malcolm Cowley of New York City. The prizes are for $100 each and are given annually by Poetry, which was founded in 1912 by Harriet Monroe.

The winner of the second all-nations prize novel competition has just been announced by the American publishing firm, Farrar & Rinehart, Inc., which sponsored the contest together with ten foreign publishers and the Literary Guild of America. A first novel, "No Arms, No Armour," written by a British army staff officer, Maj. Robert Henriques, is awarded the prize, which was estimated at the announcement of the competition as approximately $15,000. The actual prize, however, is somewhat less due to the defection of several of the participating European publishers because of the war. Winners of twelve national awards were submitted for the final international award. The winning American entry was "Sam," by John Selby, published in New York in October.

Memorial Service to Pay Tribute to James W. Linn

A public memorial service for James Weber Linn, who died July 16, will be held at the Rockefeller Memorial chapel of the University of Chicago at 4:30 p. m. tomorrow. Mr. Linn had been a member of the university faculty for more than 40 years and was professor of English at the time of his death. He was well known as a novelist and biographer, notably of his aunt, Jane Addams. President Robert Maynard Hutchins of the university will preside and speak at the service. Other speakers will include Frederic Woodward, former vice president of the university; Percy H. Boynton, professor of English, and President Sydney B. Snow of the Meadville Theological seminary.

Children Given Place of Honor for Book Week

This week is the 21st annual Book week specially emphasizing books for children. Schools, churches, libraries, book shops, everywhere where children or those interested in children gather are all celebrating the week.

The Chicago Public library has a new children's building at 4900 Lake Park avenue, with a large story hour room, a room for young children, and a room for young people. It will be opened with a tea tomorrow for members of the Parent-Teachers' associations and the principals of schools in the neighborhood. In all of the branches of the public library, as well as in the main library, there will be talks about the new books for children.

The book shops all have special displays of books for children. In one shop there is an exhibit of first editions of famous juvenile books. Another shop is providing a special book fair in Ravinia and has an unusual window display.

Books for Babies

As soon as they begin to choose their favorite toys you'll find babies liking picture books, and awkwardly tracing the pictures in them with interested fingers. This year there are some enchanting picture books.

First Cloth Book, by Leonard Weisgard, with pictures of the baby's possessions in color, and Second Cloth Book, by Glen Rounds, with pictures of animals [Holiday House, $1 each], are nontearable and noneatable. Two books which can be unfolded into endless fascinating panoramas, and even used as nursery friezes, are Town and Country, by Clement Hurd [Scott, $1.25 each].

Among the alluring new books for children old enough to want a slight story with the pictures that they pore over are Little Toot, by Hardie Gramatky [Putnams, $1.50], the story of a tug boat in New York harbor.

Munro Leaf, author of "Ferdinand," teaches behavior in an amusing book of drawings which show the kind of person that any right minded child wouldn't care to live with. It is called Watchbirds [Stokes, $1] and is so made that the pictures can be framed and hung on the nursery wall as admonitions. Parents all over the country bless Mr. Leaf for this and for Fair Play [Stokes, $1.50], which guides the slightly older child toward good citizenship.

Animals, always a delight to children in both picture and story, are the subjects of some delightful books for very young children this year. Books about dogs include Amandus, by Elsie and Morris Glenn [Macrae Smith, $1.50], a tale with amusing drawings by Kurt Wiese about a dog which was much too big; The Pup Called Cinderella, by Esther Watson Reno [Bobbs Merrill, $1.25], delightfully illustrated by Leonard Weisgard, in which a pup, like her famous namesake, came out of the kitchen and carried off a prize,

A goat called Peanut Butter is one of the heroes of an amusing book, Peanut Butter's Slide, written and illustrated by Grace Paull [Viking, $1].

Illustrated in the mode of her lovely "Mittens" and "Barkis," is Clara Turlay Newberry's Cousin Toby [Harpers, $1.50], a story of the visit of two children to a baby cousin and the surprise they found when they got home.

Burros and donkeys are the heroes of Bomba, by James Bodrero [Random, $1.25], which tells of a wild donkey that finally landed in clover; Piccolino, by Marian King [Whitman, $1], a story of a Neapolitan donkey who, with his young master, goes to Europe with a circus and gets homesick; The Burro that Had a Name, by Lorraine and Jerrold Beim [Harcourt Brace, $1.25], a story of Mexico, illustrated by Howard Simon, and Mule Twins, by Inez Hogan [Dutton, $1], the author and illustrator of the famous "Nicodemus."

Well, the Penguin, with story and pictures by Price Day [Simon & Schuster, 75 cents], tells a very amusing story about how a penguin obeyed his family's injunction to send home a post card.

More familiar creatures are the heroes of Cock-a-Doodle Doo, by Berta and Elmer Hader [Macmillan, $2]; Crunch the Squirrel, a story by Elizabeth Anne Bond and Joan Elaine Rabin, with pictures by Kurt Wiese [Dodd Mead, $1.50]; On the Farm, by W. W. Robinson [Macmillan, $2], with double full page illustrations in color by Irene Robinson, and Susie Mariar, by Lois Lenski [Oxford University, $1], in which an old folk rhyme is illustrated with delightful drawings.

Madeline, by Ludwig Bemelmans [Simon & Schuster, $2], is the story of a little girl who had her appendix out, told in delicious pictures by an artist-author of delicious humorous books for adults. F. B.

A Choice Array for Children Who Are Just Past Babyhood

BY EDITH WEIGLE.

It's often a problem to choose books for children who have just stepped over the threshold of babyhood, yet who have graduated from picture books. The younger boys and girls in the 4 to 10 age group will like to have many of the following stories read to them; the older ones will want to do their own reading.

Among the outstanding books of the year is Kate Seredy's The Singing Tree [Viking, $2], which tells of the adventures of the Hungarian children she wrote about in "The Good Master." Its illustrations, by the author, are artistic.

Other far-away lands make colorful backgrounds: Silk and Satin Lane, by Esther Wood [Longmans, $1.50], an amusing tale of a little Chinese girl, illustrated in black and white by Kurt Wiese; Treasure in Gaspesy, written and illustrated by Amy Hogeboom [Dutton, $2], a story of the Gaspé peninsula; Jo-Yo's Idea, by Kathleen M. Elliott [Knopf, $2], about a very small native of the South Sea Islands; Tony and Toinette in the Tropics, by fellow Chicagoans, Lina Small Harris and Valeria Harris [Whitman, $2], an account of the travels of an American family in the islands of the Caribbean; I Am a Pueblo Indian Girl, by E-Yeh-Shure [Morrow, $1.50], a most unusual and beautifully illustrated book by an Indian girl, with a foreword by Oliver La Farge.

Four books about Ireland and Irish children are Hannah Marie, by Richard Bennett [Doubleday-Doran, $1.50]; Terrence O'Hara, by Thomas Burns [Harcourt, $2]; Francie on the Run, by Hilda van Stockum [Viking, $2], and The Well o' the World's End, by Seumas Macmanus [Macmillan, $2].

A remarkable little Eskimo boy has drawn the pictures for the account of himself and his days that he gave to William Albee for Kanguk, a Boy of the Bering Strait [Little Brown, $2.50].

A little Quaker, Libby Ann, is the heroine of Little Grey Gown, by Mabel L. Hunt [Stokes, $1.75]. Little Amish Schoolhouse, by Ella Maie Seyfert [Crowell, $2], is another Pennsylvania story. A Vermont youngster who went to Minnesota to live in the 1870s makes Oh Susannah, by Ruth and Richard Holberg [Doubleday-Doran, $1.50], interesting.

A pilgrim's journal of Plymouth colony is given in Homes in the Wilderness, by William Bradford [Scott, $2]. Deadwood, Dakota, in the last part of the 19th century and the same period in Indiana are described in All the Days Were Antonia's, by Gretchen McKown and Florence S. Gleeson [Viking, $2] and Runaway Linda, by Marjorie H. Allee [Houghton Mifflin, $2].

Warwick M. Tompkins tells of a dangerous voyage around Cape Horn in Two Sailors [Viking, $2.50], the sailors being his own two children. Photographs illustrate this grand tale. Another sort of ship, the modern fire boat, is described in The Fire Fighter, by Henry B. Lent [Macmillan, $1.50], and for the younger members of the age group of 4 to 10 there is Joey Goes to Sea [Scribners, $1.50], the delightful little book by Alan Villiers about a "ginger" cat that really did go to sea with him.

Animal stories? Yes, there are plenty this year. Among the best is Ben and Me, an Astonishing Life of Benjamin Franklin By His Good Mouse Amos, by Robert Lawson [Little Brown, $1.50], the artist who did the inimitable pictures for "Ferdinand."

Books with animals as their subjects are: Little Alfie, by Robert S. Robison [Lippincott, $1]; The Curious Lobster's Island, by Richard W. Hatch [Dodd-Mead, $1]; Let's Go Outdoors, by Harriet E. Huntington [Doubleday-Doran, $2].

Harriet E. Huntington.

This same age group will love the children's poems in Before Things Happen, by Dorothy Aldis [Putnam, $1.50], and the story of Mrs. Peregrine at the Fair, by Esther Burns [Messner, $1], and they'll laugh over The Stuck-Up Prince, by Loris Corcos [Dutton, $2].

Photographs are used to illustrate The Dog Who Looked Around, by Leonard Hyams [Bobbs Merrill, $1.50], about a wire haired terrier; Tobe, by Stella Gentry Sharpe [Chapel Hill, $1], a narrative of the daily life of a 6 year old colored boy on a North Carolina farm, and Mateo and Lolita, by Burr Durfee and Helen and John McMorris [Houghton Mifflin, $1.25], about two real Mexican children.

Fanciful, gay, and entertaining are Cinders, by Katharine Gibson [Longmans, $1.50], about a wise little horseman in old England; Five Bears and Miranda, by Henry Beston [Macmillan, $2], the adventures of five bears and a mermaid; Hoo! Hoo! Dewitt!, by Frances Duncombe [Holt, $1.25], which tells of a lonely baby owl; Padro Porko, by Robert Davis [Holiday House, $2], a tale of a wise and kindly pig who devoted his life to helping poor and troubled humans, and The King's Stilts, by Dr. Seuss [Random, $1.50], the saga of a king who believed in fun.

A real fairy story is St. George and the Witches, by J. W. Dunne [Holt, $2]. A tame giraffe that can talk figures in Not Really, by Lesley Frost [Coward McCann, $1.75], and the adventures of a young rooster are chronicled in Kip, by Irma S. Black [Holiday House, $1.50]. A little llama is the hero of The Lucky Llama, by Alice Curtis Desmond [Macmillan, $1.50].

The famous Oz stories of Frank L. Baum are continued by Ruth Plumly Thompson in Ozoplaning with the Wizard of Oz [Reilly & Lee, $1.50].

A Selected List for Youngsters of Age 10 to 13

From the year's output there are a number of excellent books for subteeners, children 10 to 13 years old. That boys and girls of these ages love animals is perennially true and that they adore reading about them naturally follows.

The squirrels, the beavers, the prairie dogs, and the rabbits are described in The Chisel Tooth Tribe, by Wilfrid S. Bronson [Harcourt-Brace, $2]. The author illustrates the books with clever and informative drawings.

Joan and the Three Deer, by Marjorie Medary [Random, $2], is a charming story for which Kurt Wiese has made the illustrations. It tells a sensitive child's experiences when, for the first time, she discovers the shy friendliness of the creatures of the woods on the Island of Grand Manan in the Bay of Fundy. Animals in their native haunts are photographed and written about by Mrs. Martin Johnson in her book, Osa Johnson's Jungle Friends [Lippincott, $2].

Dogs are the heroes in Watch, Shepherd of the Range, by Howard L. Hastings [Cupples-Leon, $1], and Mike of Company D, by Don Aspden [Scribners, $2]. Mike went to France with Company D in the first world war and was its mascot. Silver Birch, by Dorothy Lyons [Harcourt, $2], is about a wild white horse that was tamed by a young Girl Scout.

Informative as well as fascinating are Real Boys and Girls Go Birding, by Jack Van Coevering [Lippincott, $2], illustrated with fine photographs of wild birds. How Father Time Changes the Animals' Shapes, by Gaylord Johnson [Messner, $2], answers many puzzlers boys and girls put to their parents. This book, which is really a sort of geology and zoölogy combined, should be read aloud.

Children of another earlier day move thru the pages of Pioneer Girl, by Clara Ingram Judson of Evanston [Rand-McNally, 50 cents], a little story of the early life of Frances Willard which Genevieve Foster has charmingly illustrated; Little Mossback Amelia, by Frances Margaret Fox [Dutton, $1.50], the true story of a little girl who went pioneering with her family in northern Michigan, and Boy with a Pack, by Stephen W. Meader [Harcourt, $2], which chronicles the journey of 17 year old Bill Crawford from New Hampshire to the Ohio country in 1837. Five Bushel Farm, by Elizabeth Coatsworth [Macmillan, $2], is a pioneer story of early Maine days.

Kay Boyle's first book for children, The Youngest Camel [Little-Brown, $2], is a very special book, full of originality and wit about "the youngest, most conceited, and irresponsible young camel that ever followed a caravan." Another very special story is Circus Shoes, by Noel Streatfield [Random, $2], which was awarded the Carnegie medal for the best children's book published in England last year.

Oliver Beaupré Miller, in Heroes, Outlaws, and Funny Fellows [Doubleday-Doran, $2.50], recounts the adventures of many heroes of American folk tales. Mrs. Miller has been collecting these colorful sagas for many years. Dramatic illustrations are by Richard Bennett.

For subteeners who "just like a good story" there are the following, each of which is well worth a place on their book shelves: Sally Sue Visits Old Natchez, by Myrtle J. Trachsel [Dodd-Mead, $2], a nineteenth century tale of the south; The Flahertys of Aran, by Agnes C. Lehman [Dodd-Mead, $2]; The Family from One End Street, by Eve Garnett [Vanguard, $2], an amusing tale of a family named Ruggles; Island of the Red God, by Leta Zoe Adams [Rand-McNally, $2], an Alaskan story; The Vale Family, by Helen Hill and Violet Maxwell [Macmillan, $2], with a background of Washington in 1893; Absolute Pitch, by Florence Choate and Elizabeth Curtis [Harcourt, $2], a backstage view of the world of opera; The Mystery of the Missing Car, by Maristan Chapman [Appleton, $2], one of the very few mysteries written for children of this age.

Other good stories for children of this group are: Elaine of the Mountains, by Ursula M. Williams [Lippincott, $2], a tale of a little girl in a Swiss village; Mousekness, by William C. White [Random, $1.75], an amusing narrative about a little West Indian boy; Paula, by Marguerite Vance [Dodd-Mead, $2], who was a little girl in Michigan at the turn of the century; The Boy Scouts' Year Book, edited by F. K. Mathiews [Appleton-Century, $2], which contains stories of daring and danger, and Give Me a River, by Elizabeth Palmer [Scribners, $1.75, about pioneer children in Minnesota. E. W.

Boys and Girls of High School Age Will Find Worthwhile Reading Here

Boys and girls in their early teens will be discovering the classics. But they delve into contemporary story books at a great rate, too. Here are titles, culled from among the best books of the year that have been written to appeal to young people of high school age.

Will James.

Philip Rollins writes with zest a tale of the last great days of the cattle country in Gone Haywire [Scribners, $2.50]. The story of two horses who led lives of wild freedom on the western plains is told and illustrated by Will James in The Dark Horse [Scribners, $2.50].

Books about folk in faraway places include I Lived with the Eskimos, by Sydney R. Montague [McBride, $2], a great authority on the old west, a true story of a Canadian "mountie"; Red Beards of the Yellow River, by Radko Doone [Macrae-Smith, $2], about the friendship of a Chinese boy and an American boy in China;

For those boys and girls who like the true life stories of famous people there are some unusually fine books. Jenny Lind lives again in Enchanting Jenny Lind, by Laura Benet [Dodd-Mead, $2.50]. The intrepid explorer of the seas is made real in a handsome volume, Columbus Sails, by C. Walter Hodges [Coward-McCann, $2.75]. The thrilling voyages of a Viking are recounted in Leif Erikson, the Lucky, by Frederic Arnold Kummer [Winston, $2]. The life story of Robert Louis Stevenson is the subject of a beautiful book, The Treasure Hunter, by Isabel Proudfit [Messner, $2.50].

Drina, by Marion W. Flexner [Coward-McCann, $2.50], is about the young Victoria. The queen of the Scots is portrayed in Mary Stuart, by Mildred Criss [Dodd-Mead, $2.50]. La Salle, Washington, and De Lesseps are found in La Salle, a biography by Flora W. Seymour [Appleton-Century, $2]; Washington and the La Fayettes, by Frank and Cortelle Hutchins [Longmans, $2.50], and On to Suez, the Story of De Lesseps and the Canal, by Francis E. Benz [Dodd-Mead, $2]. The Microbe Man, by Eleanor Doorly [Appleton, $1.50], recounts the life of Pasteur.

Young people have enjoyed the illustrations of Reginald Birch ever since the publication of "Master Skylark" and "The Little Princess." Now they may own a potpourri of them in Reginald Birch—His Book, edited by Elisabeth B. Hamilton [Harcourt, $2.50].

A fascinating book is How They Blazed the Way, by J. Walker McSpadden [Dodd-Mead, $2.50], which tells of men who have advanced civilization from the time of Hippocrates and Aristotle to Marie Curie and the Wright brothers.

Golden Tales of the Southwest, selected by May Lamberton Becker [Dodd-Mead, $2.50], is a compilation of stories laid in our southwestern states. Illustrations are by Lois Lenski, who herself has written and made charming pictures for Ocean Born Mary [Stokes, $2], a book about a real girl who lived 50 years before the American revolution in Portsmouth, N. H.

Other books which have historical backgrounds in America are: Tennessee Outpost, by Ivy Bolton [Longmans, $2]; Cristina of Old New York, by Gertrude Crownfield [Lippincott, $2]; Steadfast at Valley Forge, by Rupert S. Holland [Macrae-Smith, $2], and Littling of Graywood, by Edna Turpin [Random, $2], all eighteenth century, and River Rising, by Hubert Skidmore [Doubleday-Doran, $2], nineteenth century.

For those of the teen age who like informative, how-it's-done books, there are the following: Make Way for the Mail, by John J. Floherty [Lippincott, $2], and Here Comes the Mail, by Robert Disraeli [Little-Brown, $1.25], both of which describe our postal service; Machines, by Gertrude Hartman [Macmillan, $2.50], a tale of great inventors and the machines they designed; America's Treasure, by W. Maxwell Reed [Harcourt, $3], which tells of our geological storehouses.

Four good mystery books, written especially for young people, are: The Devon Treasure, by Margaret Wilson [Random, $2.75]; The Phantom of the Forest, by Ann Hark [Lippincott, $2]; The Mystery at Linden Hall, by Augusta H. Seaman [Appleton-Century, $2], and The Lighthouse Mystery, by Eleanor Wheeler [Random, $1.75].

Girls who like to read about vocations, with an eye on their own future careers, will enjoy the story, No Vacancies, by Gertrude E. Mallette [Doubleday-Doran, $2], which tells of a college graduate's job hunt in New York; Sally and Her Kitchens, by May Worthington [Dodd-Mead, $2], the story of how a graduate of a home economics school made her knowledge pay; Patsy Breaks into Advertising, by E. Evalyn Grumbine, a Chicagoan [Dodd-Mead, $2]; Penny Marsh, Supervisor of Public Health Nurses, by Dorothy Deming [Dodd-Mead, $2], and Bright Heritage, by Mary V. Provines [Longmans, $2], a book for young folk who want to be librarians.

Young Mr. Stone, Book Publisher, by Daniel Melcher [Dodd-Mead, $2], is based on actual incidents in the publishing field. White Coats, by Dwight B. Fishwick [Dodd-Mead, $2], is about average college students who decide to become doctors. What Do You Want to Be, by George H. Waltz Jr. [Holt, $2], is a career book for boys, illustrated with photographs.

Laura Long writes about a girl who wanted to be an artist before the civil war in Hannah Courageous [Longmans, $2].

"A Story of Tea Clipper Days in China" is the subtitle of Pagoda Anchorage, by Mary B. Hollister [Dodd-Mead, $2]. Margaret Widdemer, the novelist, writes for young people in Marcia's Farmhouse [Appleton-Century, $2], a story of a 16 year old who wins a livelihood for herself and her convalescent sister.

The Wagon to the Star, by Mildred F. Meese [Bobbs-Merrill, $2], is a narrative about a high school girl who wants to become a surgeon. Two gridiron tales of action and excitement are The Duke Decides, by John R. Tunis [Harcourt, $2], and Varsity Jim, by Jonathan Brooks [Bobbs-Merrill, $2]. E. W.

THE TRIBUNE TRAVELERS' GUIDE

INDEPENDENT TRAVEL

WINTER RESORTS REPORT ON PRICE TRENDS OF FOOD

Compare Costs of Living with Other Years.

BY FREDERIC BABCOCK.

Now that the European war is confining most of the pleasure travel to this side of the Atlantic, the winter resorts down south are looking forward to the biggest season in a decade.

Boom times may bring boom prices, winter resort proprietors admit. If the housing accommodations and the food supplies are inadequate when the crowds descend on the south this winter the tendency will be to boost the rates.

How far will prices be increased? THE TRIBUNE is trying to find out.

Queries Sent to Correspondents.

This paper sent queries to its correspondents in Florida, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Arizona, and southern California. The questions asked in each instance were:

"What are the facts about hotel, apartment, and cottage rents in your city? How will this winter's rates compare with last summer's and previous winters'? How do current prices of foods—particularly milk—compare with those for the last fi years? How do winter prices compare with summer prices?"

The replies were varied. Some of the correspondents told of increases; others said the rates were remaining stationary. One insisted there would be slight decreases in some lines.

In this article food prices will be dealt with, and housing prices later. Emphasis is placed on milk because—as was pointed out in the Tribune Graphic section the other day—it contains more of the essential elements of diet, in proportions more nearly adjusted to body needs, than does any other food.

Reports from Six States.

Here is a summary of the replies:

Miami, Fla.—The retail price of milk here is 16 cents a quart, the same as last year. Two years ago the price was 18 cents a quart. Some commodities have risen in the last year, while others have either stood still or lost ground. In the following the 1939 price is listed first and then the 1938 figure: Butter, 35 and 32 cents a pound; flour, five pounds, 23 and 22 cents; potatoes, ten pounds, 22 and 17 cents; leg of lamb, 21 and 21 cents a pound; T-bone steak, 39 and 43 cents; prime rib roast, 29 and 31 cents; pork chops, 29 and 23 cents; bacon, 29 and 29 cents; sugar, five pounds, 21 and 23 cents.

[Miami's milk supply is not 100 per cent pasteurized. A proposal to make it so was turned own by the voters at a special referendum last week. A city ordinance prohibits the sale of raw milk in public places there, but citizens are permitted to have it delivered to their homes.]

St. Petersburg, Fla.—Milk prices have remained virtually unchanged in the last five years. A recent increase in meats and staple groceries has been rather general, with pork and bacon leading the list with as much as a 7 cents a pound advance. Sugar is up 1½ cents a pound. The usual resort town seasonal problem here finds prices higher in the fall and winter and lower in the spring and summer.

Lake Worth, Fla.—This year's winter visitors will find food prices, generally speaking, slightly lower than for the last three years. Present rates include: Milk, 17 cents a quart [set by state law and the same as last year]; steak, 30 to 45 cents a pound; potatoes, 3.3 cents a pound; butter, 32 cents; eggs, 37 cents a dozen. Fresh Florida vegetables are usually slightly lower than elsewhere in winter. Citrus fruits are very cheap.

Biloxi, Miss.—Food and commodity prices along the Mississippi gulf coast do not fluctuate much. Milk prices have not varied in the last five years.

New Orleans, La.—After the outbreak of the European war food prices here jumped overnight 10 to 35 per cent, but they have since receded to practically their former levels. Milk advanced recently 1 cent a quart, to 13 cents, 4 per cent butterfat, delivered. Some other items of food are a little higher, but the cost of living has not noticeably increased. Living costs, including all items, have advanced about 10.6 per cent in the last six years.

Phoenix, Ariz.—Milk is selling here at 13 cents a quart retail—15 per cent higher than five years ago and the same as two years ago. Food prices generally are the same as five years ago. The lowest point was reached in 1936-'37. There was some increase in September, due to the war. Commodity prices are the same, summer and winter. This information was gathered from local dairies and grocery stores.

San Antonio, Tex.—Average food and commodity prices here are 5 per cent above those for 1934. In the last five years milk has ranged from 10 to 12 cents a quart, delivered. The latter price is now prevailing. The latest 1 cent increase was attributed to the drouth and the resultant cattle feed shortage rather than to the demand, and was forced by the recent producers' strike.

Los Angeles, Cal.—The University of Southern California's bureau of business research gives the following picture of food price comparisons, based on the average weekly expenditure of the average Los Angeles family of 3.9 persons, for March and September of each of the last six years:

	Fruits.	Canned goods.	Milk.	Meats.	Total Bill.

600 American Horses to Run in Havana Meet

HAVANA, Cuba, Nov. 14 [Special]—Havana's racing season, which opens Jan. 13 at Oriental Park, is expected to draw 600 American horses—150 more than were registered here last winter. The meet will last three months.

LINES ANNOUNCE 77 CRUISES TO LATIN AMERICA

Promise Attractions as Great as Europe's.

New York, Nov. 14 [Special].—Seventy-seven winter cruises to the West Indies, South America, and Mexico were announced over the week-end by five steamship lines.

The Cuba Mail Line will run 35 cruises, the Panama Line 18, the Porto Rico Line 16, the Norwegian America Line 7, and the Italian Line 1.

The Cuba Mail Line's season will extend from Dec. 1 to March 29. Seventeen of that company's trips will be six day cruises to Cuba on the Oriente. The remaining 18 will be 16 day journeys to Mexico on the Mexico, the Monterrey, and the Siboney.

Offer Many Attractions.

"Both these Latin countries offer attractions as numerous and fascinating as those denied American tourists in Europe," said William C. Campbell, passenger traffic manager.

The Panama Line's cruises also will extend from the first of December to the end of March. With one or two exceptions, sailings will be made every Thursday from New York on the Panama, the Ancon, and the Cristobal. Each of the 18 cruises will last 16 days. The ships will go to the Canal Zone via Haiti.

Use Norway's New Liner.

Cruises of the Norwegian America Line will be made on Norway's newest and largest passenger liner, the Oslofjord. They will be conducted by the Frank Travel service. The first one begins from New York on Dec. 20. Ports of call will include Willemstad, Havana, Cristobal, La Guaira, Puerto Cabello, Cartagena, and Port au Prince. The Easter holiday cruise of March 22 also will include Miami.

All these are in addition to a series of West Indies and Caribbean cruises already announced.

Kindly give me a short description of Kentucky's Mammoth cave. Is it open at this time of the year? G. S.

The cave is open thruout the year. It is situated 100 miles south of Louisville and 100 miles north of Nashville, Tenn. It has a constant temperature of 54 degrees. Tours are made along six routes. The cave was discovered in 1799. So far approximately 175 miles of underground avenues have been explored. There are two main gateways—one known as the Old, or Historic, entrance, and the other, man-made, as the Frozen Niagara entrance. Within the immense Historic entrance may be seen the saltpeter vats that were mined for the manufacture of gun powder in the war of 1812. The Bottomless Pit, Mammoth Dome, Star Chamber, Ruins of Karnak, Onyx Armchair, and Echo river also are approached from this gateway. The electrically lighted Frozen Niagara leads to the Onyx Colonnade, the Hindu Temple, Crystal lake, and the gypsum formations and stalactites and stalagmites for which Mammoth is world famous.

FISH SWIM THRU PANAMA CANAL, ANGLERS ASSERT

COLON, Panama, Nov. 14 [Special].—Do fish swim from one end of the Panama canal to the other?) Local anglers insist they do.

By way of proof, the sportsmen said fish usually found only in the Pacific ocean frequently are caught in the locks on the Atlantic side. The spillway, where the overflow rushes from Gatun lake into the Caribbean, is one of the favorite places for landing these specimens.

Gatun lake, comprising more than half the length of the canal, is fresh water, but it is claimed that the salt water fish readily adapt themselves to this change in the course of their journey across the isthmus.

Crochet Rug and Chair Set

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Matched accessories are as important to the home as to a personal ensemble. Crocheted of candlewick cotton, this rug and chair set makes an ideal present for any homemaker for any occasion. It does much to dress up the breakfast nook, and it is easy to make and most durable. It may be crocheted of one or more colors, and is a perfect foil for French provincial or early American furniture.

For the instructions in crocheting the rug and chair set, No. X-299, send 20 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

Flying Dutchman.

Egon Petri, who is a wit and raconteur as well as a great pianist, told friends at luncheon at the Arts club yesterday of his and Mrs. Petri's flight from Poland, where they have a home near Cracow, the day before the Germans started their blitzkrieg. ("And we had to leave everything behind," mourned Mrs. Petri, who is with him in Chicago). They fled to Holland from Poland. Mr. Petri is a Dutch citizen. Thus, when some one commented that the only other thing on the Chicago Symphony orchestra concerts tomorrow night and Friday besides the Busoni concerto, which Petri is playing, is the Overture to the Flying Dutchman, Mr. Petri murmured:

"In compliment to me."

Paraphrase.

Neat little quip from an Englishman, in connection with a book catalog sent by George Bates to Clare Baum in Chicago, with an announcement that he has moved from London to Brighton, "owing to war conditions." Mr. Bates, whose catalogs are enjoyed because of his prefaces (as are Ben Abramson's of Chicago), speaks of old novels (1760-1840) and says that their lure was the unimpeachable purity of their heroes and heroines.

"As they move thru the pages, sans peur et sans reproche," writes Bates, "one is reminded of Hitler's Germany, where all is sans beurre et sans brioche."

Comment.

A teacher in a Chicago school asked her sixth grade class to write compositions about the public library, and one youngster began hers:

"One of the few services you can get in this city without going to your alderman is getting a library card. . . ."

Urban Album.

A woman waiting for six hours to get a glimpse of Katharine Cornell in the room where the Chinese jewelry is being sold at Field's for the benefit of Mme. Chiang Kai-shek's war orphan fund. She arrived at 10 a. m. and waited without luncheon. Miss Cornell was not due until tea time. A little group of Goodman theater drama students waited around for a glimpse of her, too. And saw, not only Miss Cornell in a cocoa brown dress, wearing a necklace of Chinese pagodas and temple bells, but also Mady Christians, handsome, blond queen in Hamlet. . . . Edward Alden Jewell, New York art critic, leaving the Art institute after a preview of the two exciting new exhibitions, to dash to the Arts club to see the Braque show. . . . Philip Reed of My Dear Children in blue jeans doing a beautiful rhumba with Mrs. Theodore S. Gary, wearing an enchanting peasant costume and white moccasins from Madeira at the Saddle and Cycle club country dance. . . . Cornelia Otis Skinner, in chic black, chatting with Margalo Gillmore.

Mail Order Houses Increase Their Gifts to Community Fund

A contribution by Sears Roebuck & Co. of $47,500 to the Community fund was announced yesterday by A. H. Mellinger, general chairman of the campaign. Company employés are still being mobilized, so their contributions have not been reported. The firm's subscription was $2,500 over that of 1938.

Montgomery Ward & Co. increased its 1938 subscription by 10 per cent to $22,000, Mellinger said. Employés and executives to date have contributed $30,100, an increase of 27 per cent over last year.

The campaign goal is $3,611,000. The report of the third week of intensive solicitation will be made tomorrow at a noon meeting in the Hotel Sherman. Last week's report meeting brought the total to $1,528,479.

Gives Party for Colonial Dames Today

BY JUDITH CASS.

WHEN the Colonial Dames of America meet it is an occasion, for these women are among the leading feminine citizens of each city. To become a Colonial Dame a woman must prove that she "is descended from some worthy ancestor who rendered valuable service to the colonies and who became a resident of America previous to 1750."

This afternoon Mrs. Silas H. Strawn is opening her home at 209 Lake Shore drive for a meeting and reception for the Colonial Dames. Mrs. Joseph B. Hutchenson of Philadelphia, the national president, will be the special guest. She is visiting Mrs. John Crerar, president of the Illinois society.

The board of directors of the Illinois society will give a luncheon at the Casino for the visiting Dames, who include about 10 members of the patriotic service committee. Miss Louise Zabriskie of New York, the national chairman of this committee, is visiting Mrs. Robert G. Peck. Mrs. Henry Pease of Philadelphia, the vice-chairman, is staying with Miss Frances Whedon.

Plan Parties for Mrs. Francis Smith.

An attractive visitor from the east who will be much fêted during her stay in Chicago is Mrs. Francis Goodwin Smith of Hartford, Conn., who is arriving today to be Miss Cornelia Conger's house guest. Mrs. Smith lived in Lake Forest about 15 years ago when she was Mrs. David Bigelow, and all of her old friends are making plans to entertain for her.

Mrs. Charles S. Dewey, Mrs. James M. Hopkins, and Mrs. James Ward Thorne have planned parties for Mrs. Smith. So have Miss Conger, who is giving a luncheon tomorrow at the Casino; Mrs. A. Watson Armour, Mrs. George A. Ranney, Mrs. Francis R. Dickinson, and Mrs. Frank Hibbard.

Margaret Culkin Banning to Address Vassar Clubs.

One of America's distinguished novelists, Margaret Culkin Banning, is coming to Chicago next week to be the especial guest at a luncheon the Chicago and North Shore Vassar clubs will give on Tuesday at the Chicago Athletic association. Mrs. Banning is a trustee of the college and will speak at the luncheon.

President Henry Noble MacCracken of Vassar is coming to Chicago tomorrow to be here over Friday. Mrs. Chauncey B. Borland is giving a tea for him on Friday and Mrs. Clark J. Lawrence will entertain at dinner for him on Friday night.

Reception to Follow Snyder Inauguration.

The trustees and faculties of Northwestern university will give a reception for President and Mrs. Franklyn Bliss Snyder from 5 to 7 o'clock today in the Charles Deering library. The reception will follow the inaugural ceremony to be held in the First Methodist church at 4 o'clock. Dr. Snyder will be installed as the 11th president of the university.

Receiving with President and Mrs. Snyder will be Kenneth Burgess, president of the board of trustees, and Mrs. Burgess; Dr. Fred D. Fagg Jr., vice president and dean of faculties, and Mrs. Fagg.

Darrow B. Fultons Parents of Son.

Mr. and Mrs. Darrow Bruce Fulton are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son, their third child, yesterday at St. Luke's hospital. Mrs. Fulton is the former Miss Anna Wren. The baby has two sisters, Nancy Bruce, 14, and Leslie, who is 11. Nancy attends St. Timothy's church at Catonsville, Md., so won't see her little brother until she comes home for Christmas.

The infant son born last Saturday at the Doctors hospital in New York to Mr. and Mrs. Andrew McNally III. has been named for his father and grandfather, Andrew McNally of Evanston. The baby is the second child of the former Margaret McMillan and Mr. McNally, and the first grandson of the senior Mr. and Mrs. McNally.

Robert Cornelius are the names Mr. and Mrs. Alfred McCormack [Winifred Byron Smith] have given to their third son, born at the same hospital on Nov. 7.

House Coat of Taffeta

[TRIBUNE Studio Photo.]

Lovely large patterned moire taffeta is used for this two-tone house coat. Long sleeves with cuffs, a high round neckline and the extremely wide full skirt accentuate the beauty of the material. The only decoration is a large glittering buckle for the prime narrow self material belt.

Winter Sports Clothes a Plea for Cold Days

BY RHEA SEEGER.

All that's lacking is enough snow. The new winter sports clothes accessories are now hanging around while the new owners pray for ice or cold weather. It takes good streamlined, light weight clothes to make a comfortably dressed performer, and it means wearing equally smart but slightly warmer apparel if you crowd the side lines. The new collections feature everything you need.

Double cartwheel skirt outfits for the very young are teamed with rib-hugging quilted jackets, superdesigned jackets that provide the necessary warmth without bulk.

Slacks for winter sports have been tailored with great skill. Sheep lined greatcoats, knockout mittens, eye blinding colors in socks, and matching hoods as well as mittens make the accessory showing well worth a trip to town.

Outstanding tweeds for travel to the land of snow are of the trim, two piece suit and topcoat models. The jackets hug the streamline and the short skirts flare interestingly with circular cut godet effects along the lower half. Shades of pale and gun metal gray small checks, oatmeal tweeds in flecked brown and white, and contrasts of green and gold are unusual fabrics cut in lines smart enough to please the most exacting shopper.

Quilted plaid jackets, together with the reddest wool jackets ever unpacked, go over skating skirts as well as slacks.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

In case you haven't met Nancy Drew in other pictures of this series, be informed that she's a nosy young lady always busting into other people's affairs, dragging her boy friend, Ted Nickerson, with her and getting the two of them into pecks of trouble, which usually includes a MURDER MYSTERY. . .

This trip she interests herself in the concerns of the Turnbull sisters, who own an estate wanted by crooked race track gamblers and are about to fall into the hands of the thieves.

Assisted by the unwilling Ted, who delivers ice as training for football, Nancy goes to the aid of the ladies, gets into the hair of the police, and eventually clears up matters for everybody, revealing, of course, the identity of the killer in the case.

For a time the action is just too, too naive. And all of the time the police are so dumb that they're not even funny. But along toward the end the action speeds up and collects unto itself quite a bit of suspense.

Personally I think Bonita miscast as Nancy. Of course, in her way, Nancy is a problem child, but not the cussed sort of adolescent which Bonita knows best how to portray. . . . Frankie Thomas, who won a raft of fans for himself as the mayor in "Boys' Town," is properly goofy as Ted. John Litel qualifies pleasantly as Nancy's father. . . . Other rôles are handled as well as the writing of them permits.

The film is laudably brief.

Looking at Hollywood

By Ed Sullivan

Behind the Scenes.

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 14.—Winnie Sheehan, former newspaper man and ex-boss at Fox studios, is now at M-G-M. . . . His deal calls for several pictures a year, with Sheehan as the producer, and he's engaged at the moment in the first of them, "Florian."

This is the picture that won international attention when Cameraman Rosson, sent to Austria to get background shots, was heaved into the jug because in an excess of enthusiasm he trained his camera on a fortified town near the border.

Actually, all he desired was a picture of the local railroad station with a train chugging into it for the opening shot of the flicker, but his explanation to the gestapo [German secret police] fell on deaf ears. . . . They chucked him into the local bastille, and just for extra measure they also chucked his wife in with him. . . . He lost weight and squawked. . . . His wife lost weight, and was very pleased.

Just how the dictator nations operate was best illustrated in this idiotic arrest of a Hollywood cameraman. . . . When Rosson was haled before the German secret agents he found three of his camera crew apparently in custody.

"What's the matter, boys," he hailed them jovially, "are you guys arrested, too?" . . . The assistant cameraman shook his head. . . . It developed immediately that the three of them, engaged by Rosson to aid him in his work, actually were Gestapo agents, detailed to keep an hour by hour report on his activities.

"Florian" is a romanticized story of the famous Lipizzan horses of Austrian royalty. . . . Carefully bred, carefully trained, they carried European history on their backs for generations. . . . Sheehan thought that today, with war mechanized intensively, it would be interesting to look back to the days in Europe when commanders led their men on the Lipizzan grays. . . . Personally, I think that he's something there . . . not that Sheehan's picture shrewdness needs any pat on the back from this department. At Fox he signed three players who have since vindicated his judgment as a picker—Paul Muni, Spencer Tracy, and Alice Faye.

From Pittsburgh's William Penn hotel a nostalgic letter from Bill Gaxton and Victor Moore, the indestructibles of musical comedy who are now touring the country in "Leave It to Me" with Sophie Tucker. . . . Just how great a task these two—Gaxton and Moore—have performed for the musical comedy stage is beyond computation because year after year their presence on it was an assurance that all was well with the stage's song and dance routines.

The letter was nostalgic because it recalled memories of that morning at the New York Paramount theater in 1933 when your reporter made his first vaudeville appearance. . . . Bill and Victor, in answer to my frenzied appeal, sat in the audience at that first show as friendly critics.

They came backstage after the first show. . . . "Wonderful," said Moore, "simply astonishing." . . . Gaxton nodded: "You're all right, kid—yessir, you amazed me." . . . After the room had emptied of kibitzers Gaxton said mildly: "I think that maybe if you changed your opening speech it would be a little better, Ed—don't you, Viv?" . . . Moore nodded. . . . "In that second speech," said Moore, "I'd cut out that joke. It doesn't fit in very well."

By the time they'd finished they'd rewritten the act completely and taught me more about show business than I ever knew before. . . . "The idea," said Gaxton, "is to be yourself. You're not a wisecracker, so it's silly for you to tell wisecracks, because coming from you they are not believable. Sincerity and believability are all-important on the stage—in others words, be yourself."

I was telling that a few minutes ago to young Ann Rutherford, who had dropped in to say hello after her triumphal tour of the south and the east. . . . 19 year old Ann, off screen, is a bundle of excitement. . . . She simply spills excitement, one thought trooping over another as she talks. In the midst of her raves over Greenville, S. C, she starts telling you about Washington, D. C., and the breakfast cake the usherettes baked for her in a Loew theater at New York.

On the screen the youthful Canadian is reserved and almost shy. . . . I told her to be herself on the screen—to bubble just as she does in real life. . . . If she ever does she'll be the sensation of the movies because she'll typify young America as surely as does young Mickey Rooney.

Gaxton and Moore's advice—"Be yourself"—has a lot of meat to it. . . . I'm thinking of Merle Potter, noted Minneapolis critic. . . . Annually the portly Mister Potter comes to Hollywood to cast his eagle eye over the movie crop and to arrange for the distribution of prizes which his paper awards each year. . . . Merle is an unusually competent critic and in addition he is enthusiastic about the stage and its people.

A few weeks back he dressed down Jim Barton, who had appeared at Minneapolis in "Tobacco Road." . . . "Well," replied Barton, "you act the part and I'll be the critic." . . . Potter went on for part of one act and Critic Barton hemmed and hawed and said that the performance was "too fragmentary" to permit thoro judgment.

Potter, at ease in his column, confessed that hereafter he'd "be himself" and leave the acting to actors.

★ THRU THE LOOKING GLASS ★

One of the brush manufacturers has a clothes brush that is positively exciting. It's a great big thing, shaped like a mammoth hair brush, with coarse, flexible bristles a couple of inches long. It was created originally for brushing tweeds, but it will really make its mark in the world because it takes every bit of lint and other stuff from wools.

It's the answer if you have a cat or dog around the house. We go about now unadorned with blond spaniel hair, and a woman we heard of who has a couple of cats says that family relations are no longer strained because of their unwise tendency to shed all over her husband's suits. It's not an expensive brush, you'll be glad to know.

Perfumed air purifiers are increasingly popular, we find. So far as we're concerned, their principal usefulness lies in the fact that they destroy the odor of smoke. We are not crazy about perfumed rooms, unless the scent is a very delicate, fresh one, but a heavy pall of tobacco smoke is deadly.

One of the newest of these things is better looking than most. The bottle of clear glass is well shaped and well cut and the metal cap is not too ornate. When you light the wick, which trails down in the solution in the bottle, you let it flame for a very short time. The disk above the flame glows until the metal cap is replaced, and it's this that diffuses the purifying scent.

Pine, gardenia, sandalwood, amber, and jasmine are your perfume choices, or you can get the liquid unscented.

ELEANOR NANGLE.

Danger on the Border

By FREDERICK R. BECHDOLT

[Copyright: 1939: By Frederick R. Bechdolt]

SYNOPSIS.

Leonard speeds west by car after finding that the sample of ore sent to him by his sick friend, Dillon, is rich in gold. In Copper City he picks up two strange companions, fat Mrs. Sebastian, and Louis Mestres, who claims to be a line jumper. They pull out just after the pay car of the Golconda mine.

INSTALMENT III.

PURSUED BY MACHINE GUN FIRE.

The rattle of the running gear had deafened Leonard and his fellow passengers to what was going on ahead of them. So they looked now upon a spectacle, less than one hundred yards away, whose actors were still oblivious to their presence.

It was an ugly sight, the hot white sunshine revealed every little detail with startling clarity. The pay car was standing in the middle of the road, the stacatto drumming of its idling motor affronted the surrounding stillness. The windshield trembled to the vibrations, and the bared hair of one of the soldiers in the rear seat shook constantly as if a breeze were stirring it. A blot of dark red was spreading over the upturned face.

The body of the man beside this one was doubled like a half-opened jack knife over the low door: Evidently he had been trying to leap out when death overtook him. The little officer lay back against the leather cushion of the driver's seat like one asleep. The other two privates were invisible, the chances were that they were somewhere in the bottom of the car. There was much blood. The reek of smokeless powder hung in the hot air.

Two men were standing skylined on the summit of the cut bank which overlooked the gulch. Their backs were toward Leonard. They were wearing overalls and high heeled boots and huge felt hats—a sun-burned pair, unshaven and coated with desert dust. They held submachine guns in their hands and they seemed to be completely engrossed in what the driver of the pay car was doing. A third man, whom Leonard had not seen before, was carrying a box up the gulch. The box was of thick wood, bound with iron bands. He vanished behind the clump of ocatillas and cacti on the point of land which divided the main gully from its tributary.

Apparently the driver was busy with his gear lever, for his back was bent, his right arm extended downward. The door at his side was wide open. The motor's exhaust roared, the car lurched forward, he spun the wheel, and, as the automobile got under way, he sprang from the seat. It swung from the road, it climbed the bank a short distance, it swerved and fell upon its side with a tremendous crash. There followed a moment of dead silence during which Leonard was conscious of the dust rising in a heavy cloud above the bodies which had been thrown out upon the steep slope.

The driver was saying something to one of the pair at the top of the bank, he was laughing as he turned his head. Then he caught sight of Leonard's car and the mirth froze upon his face, he raised his hand abruptly and he uttered a curious strangled shout.

It had all happened quickly. Between the time when Leonard clamped down the brakes and the outcry, perhaps ten seconds had elapsed. And the enormity of the scene which confronted them had left the three in the sedan dazed during that brief interval: Their minds were busy trying to understand the things which had already taken place, and to catch up with the other things which were going on. They were not able to realize the necessity for swift action on their own part until they heard that shout.

Now Leonard's eyes were half-closed, his right hand was on the gear lever, his foot upon the clutch. Back, and turn around for flight, or go on ahead: He had his choice And he was about to try the former course when he saw the pair on the bank moving to meet this emergency.

They were busy with the two submachine guns, they were opening the magazines, the empty cartridge clips fell at their feet.

"Duck, you two," Leonard bade his companions. His foot shoved down the accelerator. The little car leaped forward.

His right hand remained on the gear lever, he was holding her in second, for there was some loose sand in the bed of the gulch and this was going to be one time when he could not afford to kill his motor. The dust rose from the wheels in a dense brown cloud. Through this he had a glimpse of the two men frantically shoving cartridge clips into the magazines. It was as brief as the flashing of a single exposure in a film which is projected on a silver screen.

Then he was past, the little car slewed viciously as he made the turn where his side road came into the main track. He was speeding down the gulch when a sound like a pair of riveting hammers on a new steel building came through the roaring of the gears. Something fanned his cheek, he heard the tinkling of broken glass. He shifted into high. The voice of Louis Mestres came through the uproar a few moments later:

"They have another car."

The clatter of the machine guns had ceased. Here in the bed of the gulch a cloudburst had been at work gouging out the loose dirt, leaving a hundred ugly pitfalls in the way of sudden declivities over the living rock. There were vivid instants when the steering wheel strove to tear itself from Leonard's grasp. He was conscious of his seatmate tossing against him, of the voice of Mrs. Sebastian coming from the rear in a steady monotone. She was saying the same thing over and over. It was the old prayer of the people of her faith for succor, and even in these moments of stress Leonard wondered, for the salutation which he overheard was in English.

"If she was really Mexican," he was thinking, "that would be 'Ave Maria,' not 'Hail, Mary.'"

The speedometer needle had been sweeping back and forth across the figured arc, but the wildest spurt had not brought it beyond 25 miles an hour, and even then there were moments when disaster barely shaved them by a hair. Now the space between the enclosing banks was widening fast, the going was becoming a little easier, he let her out to 30. A few moments later they were on the level floor of a low mesa, and the plain was a glowing expanse ahead of them. Here the broken fragments of malapi lay among stunted greasewood bushes where the trafic had left a network of tracks. The speedometer needle trembled around the 40 mark.

The glass of the windshield was obscured by a circular spot. Leonard was conscious of a score of small cracks radiating from a little hole almost in front of him. Mrs. Sebastian's voice rose to a shrill crescendo. He heard the steady tapping of the machine guns again, it died away for a moment and the interval was filled by the roaring of a high-powered motor. Louis Mestres had twisted his body and was clinging to the back of the seat with both hands. He slumped down into his original position and shrugged his shoulders. The noise of the machine gun resumed. It seemed to be growing lounder. Leonard shoved the accelerator until he felt the floorboard beneath his foot.

The little sedan reeled over the rough ground. The plain was looming nearer now. A moment later they swooped over the edge of the mesa, the rear wheels skidded in a wild arc. He shoved on the power and pulled out of it, the car plunged into a chuckhole and the dust came seeping through the floorboards in a thick brown fog.

The luck which had been with them still held: They had struck the only pair of ruts which was not gouged deep by the truck trafic, and when they came out of that chuckhole with the running gear still intact, there was an interval of a few hundred yards where the tracks were barely visible upon the burnished surface of the flat. But the roar of the pursuing car was growing louder, and Leonard saw a half dozen troughlike depressions crossing their course ahead of them.

Slacken up, or wreck the car: He had his choice. No matter which course he took, the result would be disaster. Those fellows back there were withholding their fire. They were awaiting the moment when they could slow down for better aim, when they could take their time and exterminate the three witnesses to the bloody work at the forks of the road.

The voice of Louis Mestres was in Leonard's ear, he felt a grip upon his shoulder. He had a momentary glimpse in the rear vision mirror: His companion was on his knees, back to the windshield. He hovered there, he swayed and almost lost his balance, he raised himself until his head was near the top of the sedan, he shot over the back of the seat. The mirror showed no more of him. The voice of Mrs. Sebastian rose above all other sounds. Apparently Mestres had landed on her ample lap. A moment later he came within the mirror's field, he was kneeling on the rear seat and he had something in his hands.

It was a pasteboard cylinder and he was tearing it open. He thrust both hands through the shattered glass of the rear window.

Hygienic Cleanliness in the Bathroom

THE use of "Lysol" in daily cleaning of the bathroom does many jobs at once. It disinfects, deodorizes, helps guard against ringworm of the foot ("Athlete's Foot") from infected floors. "Lysol" makes cleaning easier because "Lysol" is soapy in nature; helps remove stains from tubs, basins, tiling. "Lysol" makes cleaning more thorough because "Lysol" spreads into every crevice to seek out germs.

Holiday Spirit More Than Just Fun and Feasts

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Most of our holidays are tied up with the history of our country, among them being Washington's birthday, Lincoln's birthday, and Independence day.

Each one of those three celebrates a magnificent personality of a magnificent event. Each day stands for something vital to us as individuals and as a nation. Each one should be a red letter day.

It should be so not only because it brings us the pleasure of leisure, tucked in among our work days, but its meaning should be thought of and understood by us, and as thoroly as is possible for them, by our children. The schools do cover this, but they could give each special day that is part of America's background, more import. And we who are parents should do our part.

Of course there's always the fun side and the festive side of a holiday. It isn't all seriousness. Feasting, parties, going places and seeing things are all part of a red letter day.

Thanksgiving, which lies just ahead, combines seriousness, history, and festivity, tho I think this year the accent is on thankfulness for what we have and thankfulness that we are Americans.

If You're on Man Hunt Let It Be Secret

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"Dear Miss Blake: Whatever suggestions you have for me I'll execute to the best of my ability, for I'm truly anxious to meet a nice man who will want to marry me. Here's my story:

"Two years ago I came to the city from a small community. I obtained a job as a secretary at a salary large enough to enable me to live in a fine girls' club. I dress well and try to make the most of my appearance.

"I have made several nice friends among girls, who have on several occasions arranged dates for me with men friends of their 'dates.' But, for some reason, I never made a big enough 'hit' with my blind date to make the man want to ask me out."

You are not alone in your feelings, for many girls 30 years of age and over are just as anxious to marry as you are, yet their opportunities for meeting desirable mates are slim. Your fault may be that you are too anxious, and your anxiety frightens away every man you meet. The best suggestion I could make to you, Thirty-Three, is that you keep in circulation as much as possible, and look your best at all times. Who knows, your one-and-only may pop out of a clear sky some day! Another suggestion to you is that you interest yourself in the things in which men are interested—badminton, bridge, tennis, dancing.

Popovers are fun to make for a hurry-up supper. They aren't difficult, either, and will surely "pop" if the batter is placed in sizzling hot pans, and the pans into a hot oven. A lower temperature is required after the popovers have popped, to dry out the inside.

Popovers should be started before any of the other parts of this supper. While they are baking, the onions may be set to boil, the potatoes may be sliced into butter, covered to steam and fry until soft, the chicory may be washed and readied for its dressing, and the dessert may be prepared.

SHORT CUT DINNER.
Hamburger Patties with Creamed Onions
Butter Fried Potatoes with Minced Green Pepper
Wilted Chicory
Popovers
Quick Date Pudding
Coffee

Hamburger Patties.
[Serves Four.]
1 pound ground lean beef
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup soft bread crumbs
2 tablespoons milk

Combine ingredients and shape into four patties. Broil or pan-fry over medium heat in a small amount of hot fat, about four minutes to the side.

CREAMED ONIONS.

Select small to medium onions of even size and boil in salted water until tender. Drain and add to a fairly thin white sauce. Proportions for the sauce: 1½ tablespoons butter, 1½ tablespoons flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 cup milk. Blend butter, flour, and salt, add milk gradually, and cook over low heat until smooth and thickened.

Wilted Chicory.
Small head chicory, washed and broken apart
4 slices bacon
3 tablespoons vinegar
1 tablespoon water
2 teaspoons sugar

Fry bacon, remove from pan, and break into pieces. Add vinegar, water, and sugar to the drippings, and heat until the mixture simmers. Add broken bacon and pour the hot dressing over the chicory. Serve at once.

Popovers.
[10 medium.]
1 cup flour
¼ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons melted shortening
1 cup milk
2 unbeaten eggs

Heat well greased muffin or popover pans in a hot oven. Sift flour and salt into mixing bowl, add melted shortening, milk and eggs, and beat the mixture until smooth, using a rotary beater. It is unnecessary to beat longer than just enough to smooth the batter. Fill sizzling hot pans a third to a half full, and place in a hot oven, 450 degrees, for 20 minutes. Reduce heat to moderate, 350 degrees, and continue baking for 20 to 25 minutes longer.

QUICK DATE PUDDING.

Use a prepared vanilla, butterscotch or chocolate mix, and add ½ cup chopped dates to the mixture after it has cooked smooth. Serve warm or cold with cream in sherbet glasses.

Versatile Idea in Suits

WOMAN'S AND MISS' ENSEMBLE.

For wear under your winter coats, and to be reserved for wear as a suit in the spring, this ensemble is a good wardrobe bet. The jacket may be double breasted or cardigan, and its notched rever collarline is smart. The skirt that keeps the jacket company is a plaited model with plenty of "swish."

The original costume teams a plaid woolen jacket with a harmonizing plain woolen skirt. There are many combinations you can fashion yourself. A pastel jacket, for example, might be the teammate of a dark skirt.

Style No. 3068 is designed for sizes 12, 14, and 16, and 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 1⅝ yards of 54 inch material for jacket, 1⅝ yards of 35 inch for lining, 2 yards of 54 inch for skirt.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

South	West	North	East
1 club	Pass	2 spades	Pass
2 diamonds	Pass	4 clubs	Pass
4 hearts [1]	Pass	4 no tr'p [2]	Pass
6 clubs	Pass	Pass	Pass

"[1] North and South used asking bids.

"[2] Showing second round control of hearts and two aces.

"West opened the diamond nine. South strongly suspected a doubleton and feared that the lead might possibly be a singleton. It apparently was hopeless to play for an even division in diamonds, and another line of play was decided upon. The diamond king took the first trick and a low spade immediately was led in the hope of finding the ace on side. The ace of spades captured the king and a diamond was returned, which declarer allowed to ride to dummy's queen. A low spade from dummy was trumped and a heart led back. Another low spade was trumped and dummy was entered once more with a lead to the high heart. A spade was led and trumped for the third time with the queen of clubs. The lead of the king of clubs was followed by the ten, which was overtaken by dummy's ace. On the lead of the jack of clubs declarer tossed his losing diamond. A low diamond was taken by the ace in declarer's hand, and the queen of hearts led for the twelfth trick.

"While the hand is not such a terribly unusual one, it is a good illustration of the use of the 'dummy reversal' as an alternative method of playing a hand rather than depending on a break of diamonds which immediately held little promise of success. Obviously, the hand could have been made in another way by leading three rounds of hearts and discarding one diamond from dummy on the third lead. The losing diamond in declarer's hand then could be trumped high in the dummy. Perhaps this latter method might be considered the better one, as it would guard against a 4-1 distribution of clubs. Nevertheless, it is an interesting hand and I give it to you for what it is worth.—W. J. B., Illinois."

Two points stand out in this deal. one, that while the final contract was eminently correct, South bid somewhat too strongly on his own cards. Having "reversed" by bidding clubs first and later diamonds, he did not have the values for his four heart bid, even tho it was used as an asking bid. It was North who should have done most of the bidding after South's first two bids. This point, however, is not very important, considering that the partnership did reach the proper spot. The second point covers the play of the hand. My correspondent's conjecture that it was not played to take advantage of "percentage" is quite correct. The method used [ruffing out dummy's spades and, in a sense, converting the dummy into the master hand] was not nearly as propitious as playing three rounds of hearts, discarding one of dummy's diamonds, then cashing two diamonds and ruffing a third round of diamonds with a club honor in dummy. As the cards lay, either plan was bound to succeed, but the approved plan has the great advantage of not depending on a trump break.

Page-Bentley Recital Offers 9 New Dances

BY CECIL SMITH.

The dance program of Ruth Page and Bentley Stone in the Civic theater last evening—their only appearance of the season—proved to be unusually well contrived. The dances varied in tone from the seriousness of the "Tristan and Isolde" Love Death to the surrealist insanity of the piece called "Delirious Delusion," and ranged in style from the serene classicism of "Du Bist die Ruh'" [an excerpt from the longer ballet "Love Song"] to the nonrepresentational modernism of an expressive new work entitled "Night of the Poor."

No less than nine dances out of a total of thirteen were brand new. Of these the Love Death is perhaps the most ambitious attempt, in that it has to cope with music of terrifying importance. Miss Page and Mr. Stone omitted all narrative reference to the libretto of the Wagner music drama.

The dance is conceived as a love duet in which the movement is characterized by overtones of agony, and in which the characters are separated part of the time by a blue veil evidently symbolizing death. I felt the Love Death to be a valuable composition, with several passages of arresting eloquence. On the other hand I could not grasp any satisfying relationship between the structure of the dance and the structure of the music.

Miss Page devotes three solo dances to Shakespearean heroines—Juliet, Lady Macbeth, and Katharine, the shrew. Despite much ingenuity in composition and costuming, all three seemed like preliminary studies rather than finished entities. The approach is sound; she wants to present the contrasting psychology of the three women in dance terms without relying on pantomime and story. As yet the dances lack both emotional depth and finality of form.

The dancers behaved like zanies in a deftly diverting parody of pseudoclassical dancing school ballet called "Zephyr and Flora," hitting upon many amusing insipidities of style. Mr. Stone offered a somewhat strident new piece relaying the inner trials of Moses.

While both composition and execution were uneven, the dancers reaffirmed their right to serious consideration in the creative American dance field.

Stock Presents 2 Members as Concert Soloists

BY EDWARD BARRY.

In Orchestra hall yesterday Frederick Stock presented his own concertmaster and first cellist—John Weicher and Edmund Kurtz, respectively—as soloists with the Chicago Symphony orchestra in the Brahms concerto for violin and cello.

This gray, difficult piece, which poses problems of appreciation for even fanatical lovers of Brahms' more familiar works, did not become any less gray and difficult in yesterday's performance. Certainly this performance was adequate, in the sense that the music was honestly and competently presented, but it lacked those vivid, revealing flashes by means of which an audience may suddenly grasp what the music is all about and be kindled into enthusiasm as a result.

Mr. Stock opened the program with Schumann's fourth symphony. He and his men gave the more soaring pages of the work a quite unearthly beauty, and managed, by means of incisiveness of phrase and richness of color, to make even the out-and-out filler passages fairly interesting.

The suite from Rossetter Cole's "The Maypole Lovers" posed the problem as to why so much music which is impossible to grasp when presented outside of its stage context should be included in a suite intended for concert performance. However, the third movement and possibly the first as well are quite capable of standing by themselves as expressive, finely wrought pieces of music.

Helen Terry, coloratura soprano, sang a program of brilliant arias and florid test pieces in Kimball hall last night. An enchanting appearance and stage manner, plus great native vocal gifts, were balanced on the debit side by a method of production which often inhibited a free flow of tone, which made a fine natural voice seem parsimonious and which rendered diction unsatisfactory.

The singer does not realize that florid passages must have an easy beauty of tone and that the phrases in such passages, just as anywhere else, must have definite shapes and contours.

Print Exhibition Is Internationtal Despite the War

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

In spite of the war the seventh international exhibition of lithography and wood engraving, which has just opened in the print galleries of the Art institute, has an international flavor. It does not seem to be quite as large a show as we have had in other years, and for one reason or another it does not seem to have the depth and variety which previous exhibitions have had.

This is probably because of the world situation and the spirit of unrest that seems to be universal. The American prints are as restless as are those from abroad.

To be honest, the most tranquil works shown come from England. It is hard to stir John Bull and an artist John Bull is as much of an Englishman as the next. For proof look at the lovely and serene farm scenes "Essex Farm" and "Sussex," by C. W. Taylor, the delicate pattern Alice M. Coats has achieved in "Lilacs," and Clare Leighton's three strongly constructed and definitely limned wood engravings.

One of the finest of the English lithographs is "A London Street," by Pauline Baumann which, with its lighted windows, each room a tiny cell in which life is frantically busy doing the thing of the moment, is completely prewar. There were no blackouts in the London of this print.

An American lithograph, "Rendezvous in a Landscape," by Frederico Castellon, was awarded the Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Logan Art institute prize of $75. The second prize went to Clare Leighton for her "Chair Bodgers." Both are interesting and timely awards with which none can quarrel.

The "Rendezvous in a Landscape" is as charming as its name and as quietly fantastic. A touch of surrealism lies over the rocks in the background and in the feel of the country. In the foreground is an intriguing group of a pretty girl mounted on one of the most appealing donkeys you will ever meet and a young man standing a few feet away—obviously the two of the "rendezvous."

PAY-STREAK

Pay-streak, in gold-mining, gravel in which the gold is concentrated.

Pay-streak, in advertising, circulation made up completely of voluntary readers.

In the circulation of every newspaper, there is a pay-streak of pure gold. It is the interested readers—the readers by choice . . . people who buy their newspaper with confidence and read it through with care.

Manufacturers prospecting for advertising results find their richest returns in such natural, unforced circulation—circulation built without subscriber contests or premiums or prizes to subscribers.

In Philadelphia there is one newspaper—The Evening Bulletin—where the circulation is all pay-streak . . . where a vast circulation that is completely voluntary covers thoroughly and effectively America's greatest city market of individual homes*

—a newspaper which, impartial research proves, is preferred for day by day advertising readership by more people than all other Philadelphia newspapers combined.†

Experienced advertisers know that response to advertising depends directly on the confidence readers have in the advertising medium.

On reader confidence alone The Evening Bulletin rose to leadership in daily circulation thirty-four years ago.

On reader confidence alone—without subscriber contests or premiums or prizes to subscribers — The Bulletin continues to lead today in daily circulation, as it has day after day, year after year, through all the years since 1905.

A national research organization, after recent surveys among newspaper readers throughout the Philadelphia territory, reports that:

When 1,383 business executives, directors and bank officials answered the question, "In which Philadelphia newspaper do you have the most confidence?"

—899 named The Evening Bulletin . . . more than named all the other newspapers combined.

And when 34,636 customers of grocery and food markets, drug stores, moving picture theatres and a prominent department store answered the question, "In which ONE newspaper do you look for advertising of the products sold here?"

—20,011 named The Evening Bulletin—more than named all the other newspapers combined.

Although the total circulation of all other Philadelphia newspapers combined exceeds that of The Evening Bulletin alone, — the surveys show that more customers look for advertising in The Bulletin than in all other newspapers together!

Philadelphians buy The Evening Bulletin to read . . . and read it to buy!

Let your advertising agency show you how The Evening Bulletin . . . with 95.3% of its large circulation concentrated in the Philadelphia retail trading area . . . will give you thorough and effective coverage of this profitable territory at one of the lowest costs per reader in America!

Nine out of ten dwellings in Philadelphia are single-family homes. More than in New York City and Buffalo combined; more than in Chicago and St. Louis together; more than in Cleveland and Detroit; more than in any one of twenty-two states. (U. S. Census, 1930).*

†Complete information about customer and dealer surveys in the Philadelphia territory, made by the Ross Federal Research Corporation gladly sent on request.

In Philadelphia - City of Homes - nearly everybody reads The Evening Bulletin

HAWKS LOSE TO BRUINS IN OVERTIME, 3-1

N. U. AND IRISH GAIN POWER FOR ANNUAL BATTLE

Stars Return to Both Teams.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The annual battle with Notre Dame long has been a high point on the Northwestern football schedule. The Wildcats, keenly disappointed in losing to Purdue, now are preparing to oppose the Irish at Notre Dame Saturday, and in their minds also must be the thought that one week later, in the finale of the season, they will meet the Iowa boys who last Saturday conquered Notre Dame.

"Notre Dame's defeat unquestionably makes Northwestern's task harder," Lynn Waldorf, Northwestern head coach, remarked yesterday. "The Irish will come back, for they have the same incentive we have to wipe out an unexpected defeat. Our scouts report that Iowa's scoring opportunity after a fumble decided the game, although it could have been a tie if Notre Dame had converted.

Waldorf Recalls Errors.

"Northwestern believed it had a better than even chance to whip Purdue. The opinion was based on the progress of the team since we lost to Ohio State and, of course, that includes our victory over Minnesota. Mechanical errors cost us the game. We lost the ball on an intercepted pass, a fumble, an intercepted lateral pass, and a fumbled lateral pass. These four errors may be blamed largely for our failure.

"Our defense also relaxed when Bylene broke away for the run which eventually set up the opportunity for the winning field goal. Bylene's run amounted to approximately 40 per cent of the yardage gained against Northwestern by rushing. We must take this in stride, but it is to the point that last Saturday's results certainly have made our chances for victory over Notre Dame slimmer."

Bauman May Return.

Northwestern hopes to have the services Saturday of Alf Bauman, who has not been in uniform for two and a half weeks. His return may offset partly the return of Notre Dame's regular tackles, Tom Gallagher and Ted Harvey, who did not play against Iowa. Notre Dame's other casualties are Lou Zontini and Bob Saggau, both of whom will be able to share the duties but who may not be in the best of condition.

George Benson, sophomore fullback injured against Purdue, probably will be lost to the Wildcats for the season. Red Hahnenstein, altho suffering an ankle injury, has not been marked off the list of available men.

Piepul vs. Clawson.

The Northwestern-Notre Dame battle will bring together two of the hardest hitting fullbacks in the sport. Notre Dame's Milt Piepul, a junior, is a more polished performer than Northwestern's sophomore plunger, Don Clawson, but Jack Brown, Purdue half back, said Clawson hit him harder last Saturday, when he tackled him, than any other player has this season.

Clawson has been an important factor in Northwestern's attack and has come along splendidly on defense. The right half backs also have improved on defense and have blocked better, which accounts for the increasing effectiveness of the Wildcats' rushing.

N. U. Has Power Offense.

Northwestern rightly has been called a power team, but it also is important that the Wildcats seldom wait for the other fellow to make mistakes. This is the reason why much ground is gained between the 20 yard lines. But Northwestern's record of ground gained—362 yards against Minnesota and 339 yards against Purdue—stands as a challenge to both Notre Dame and Iowa regardless of the points that may be scored. The Wildcats gained more

Don Guritz, N. U. Star, Elopes; May Be Lost to Squad

Northwestern university students were speculating last night whether Don Guritz, senior Wildcat guard, had jeodardized his eligibility for Saturday's Notre Dame game by eloping with a sophomore co-ed, Mary K. Vogel, 1033 Greenwood avenue, Wilmette. It was learned that the couple had taken out a marriage license at Crown Point, Ind., but their friends could not discover whether a marriage had followed.

University regulations make students who marry without the consent of their parents, the men's counselor, and the women's adviser subject to immediate dismissal from school. Dick Howell, swimming star, and Ken Heenan, football half back, are among Northwestern sports stars of recent years to have been dismissed for infraction of the rule.

Guritz is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Gurit, 1714 Darrow avenue, Evanston, and is a member of Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity. Miss Vogel, a member of Chi Omega sorority, is the daughter of Attorney Leslie H. Vogel.

THE GUMPS—RECEPTION COMMITTEE

The Look of Eagles—They Have It

Davey O'Brien (left), and Bill Hewitt, Philadelphia Eagles stars against whose offensive attempts the Bears will be on the lookout when the two teams meet in Wrigley field Sunday. O'Brien, an Eagle freshman, started at quarter back for the College All-Stars in this year's All-Star-New York Giants game. Hewitt, left end for the Bears for five seasons, will be making his first appearance here since he was traded in February, 1937.

MEET THE CUBS' NEW COACH: IT'S OLD GEORGE UHLE

George Ernest Uhle, once known as the Cleveland sandlotter because he stepped from the amateur ranks directly into big league stardom, was taken into the Cubs' official family yesterday. He was spirited into town from Cleveland, introduced all around, and then signed as a coach, filling the spot made vacant ten days ago when Roy Johnson accepted the management of the Tulsa, Okla., club.

For several years Johnson's chief duty was to watch the traffic at first base and Uhle probably will spend next summer afternoons doing the same thing. But the main point in taking on a man of his experience was that, having been a cagy pitcher in his time and having picked up considerable coaching experience in recent years, he might be able to tutor the youngsters in the Cubs' mound department. Red Corriden will continue in the rôle of watchman on the third base side of the infield.

Pitches for Indians 10 Years.

Uhle first pitched for Cleveland in 1919 and was a fixed star there for ten seasons, after which he drifted to the Tigers and subsequently a couple other big league outfits. He got into the big winner class in 1921 when he captured 16 decisions. The next season he won 22 and in 1923 stretched the total to 26 victories. The top year of his career was in 1926 when he scored 27 successes against 11 defeats. He pitched in the 1920 world series with Cleveland but only three decisionless innings.

After being released by Detroit he split the 1933 season between the Giants and Yankees and in 1934 was engaged by Toledo. During 1936 and 1937 he coached under Manager Steve O'Neill at Cleveland and when the latter took over the bossing of the Buffalo club he took Uhle with him.

One More American Leaguer.

By signing Uhle the Cubs furnished further evidence of a belief that coaching talent must be scarce among National league graduates. In recent years the Cubs have had Ray Schalk, Charley O'Leary, Red Corriden, Roy Johnson, Tony Lazzeri, and now Uhle, all ex-American league performers. Corriden also had a whirl at playing in the National league.

Hewitt, O'Brien, and Eagles—Bears Meet All o' Them Sunday

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

Half a dozen years ago, when the Bears were riding rough shod thru the National Football league, rival coaches were wont to dwell at length on one member of the championship cast known to them as "those three fellows Halas plays at left end."

"Those three fellows" returns to Wrigley field Sunday and a day has been arranged for him. He is Bill Hewitt, one of the outstanding ends of all time. Bill comes back to Chicago accompanied by Davey O'Brien and associated Philadelphia Eagles to oppose the Bears.

Two Man Gang Now.

It was eight years ago that Hewitt reported to the Bears from the University of Michigan and began his climb to stardom. Eight years in the National league is a long time and Hewitt no longer is considered three men. Rival coaches have reduced him to two in their awed comment.

Sunday's game marks the first time Hewitt has played here since he was traded to the Eagles in February of 1937 for the draft rights to Sam Francis.

The Bears' preparation for the game is a striking tribute to Hewitt. But the Bears are not sentimentalists and their work is based on their respect for the ability of a man who thruout his career delivered his greatest performances in the most important contests. For example, there was the Philadelphia-Detroit game last year.

That Detroit Upset.

The Eagles, beaten repeatedly, were scheduled in Detroit on the final Sunday of the season. A Detroit victory was a foregone conclusion. Before the kickoff, announcement was made that a coin would be tossed in midfield after the game to decide where the Lions would meet the Green Bay Packers in a playoff for the western division championship. But there was no coin tossing and no playoff. The score was Hewitt, 21; Detroit, 7.

Hewitt and his flair for the unexpected is not all that is worrying Coaches George Halas and Luke Johnsos. Up until two weeks ago there had been a tendency to regard O'Brien as just another college hotshot who did not quite measure up. O'Brien's remarkable passing record at Texas Christian was just so many clippings in early Eagle games. But in recent weeks little Davey has begun to find himself. He opened with 11 completed passes against Brooklyn in a night game played in the rain and last Sunday completed 19 against Green Bay to set a new league record for one game.

No Breather for Bears.

With the success of his passes there has been improvement in his running and O'Brien today looms as the professional star Owner Bert Bell had pictured when he signed the little Texan to an expensive contract. Halas and Johnsos are afraid the Bears will attempt to take the Eagles in stride.

The Bears have had sufficient experience this year to know that no team in the league can coast and win. Philadelphia will not figure to beat the Bears, but all such figures are based on top performances by both clubs. When one falls off, the figures go awry.

DIVORCED WIFE OF BROACA ASKS ALIMONY BOOST

Barnstable, Mass., Nov. 14 (AP).—Testimony that she is "virtually without clothing" and at times goes hungry was given in probate court today by Mrs. Cordelia Ireland Broaca, divorced wife of Pitcher Johnnie Broaca of the Cleveland Indians, in an effort to increase her alimony from $18 weekly to $75.

Judge Campbell, after dismissing a petition of Broaca's attorney for transfer of the Broaca's 2 year old son's custody from mother to father, continued the hearing on Mrs. Broaca's petition for modification of the divorce decree until tomorrow. The decree was granted Mrs. Broaca Dec. 23, 1937.

Springfield, Ill., Dog 2d in Foxhunters' Futurity

Paducah, Ky., Nov. 14 (AP).—Fleetwood, owned by John R. Kane, Springfield, Ill., scored 140 points today in the second cast of the national Foxhunters association's futurity to take second place. With 30 points earned yesterday, the Illinois hound was only 5 points back of Topsy Heels, a Paducah entry, which scored only 65 points today but held the lead with 175.

Texas Aggies to Turn Down CottonBowlBid—ifItComes

Dallas, Tex., Nov. 14 (AP).—Undefeated Texas A. and M. college announced today its football team would not play in the Cotton Bowl postseason game in Dallas if invited.

NO, ALL'S NOT CONFUSION AT P. G. A. MEETING

Pros Tee Off Minus Usual Verbal Fireworks.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

As a veteran of eight years of national P. G. A. convention detonations, the writer wishes to report that yesterday's first joint session of the Professional Golfers' association in the Roosevelt room of the Morrison hotel was as serene and enjoyable a gathering as has been conducted since the organization was founded at the Taplow club in New York on Jan. 17, 1916.

Those older gaffers who were there at the founding of one of the most interesting organizations in sport confirmed the feeling that this convention isn't quite like its predecessors of the '30s. Those were the days when you expected at least three delegates, not to mention a member or two of the executive committee, to be blown right out into that rear line where the minions of the press waited tremblingly to report the casualties to their public.

Read Reports Calmly.

Not so yesterday. The morning session began with a swift reading of reports by the various officials of the section. The smoothness of progress in this alone amazed the waiting gents of what is sometimes called the fourth estate. But they were to be surprised by the afternoon action, which produced one interesting move.

There were, for instance, a lot of fellows, who expected the person of George Jacobus of Ridgewood, N. J. to come flying out of the convention sessions, along with several of the parties who had been upheld by George in the fight of the tournament players against the executive committee of the P. G. A. during the outfit's national championship tournament last July at Pomonok, N. Y. Instead, George and the boys who initiated the strike because the executive committee ruled out Denny Shute, twice their champion, for tardy payment of association dues, made their quiet peace with one and all. George and the boys and the rest of the executive colleagues of Jacobus joined each other in the president's annual dinner last night.

Ties in Open Qualify for P. G. A.

The name of Shute, stormy target of the Pomonok strike, was linked with that of Craig Wood of Mamaroneck, N. Y. in the most important of yesterday's resolutions. Denny and Craig tied with By Nelson for

N. Y. Inquiry Into Thomas Expose Is Delayed for Week

New York, Nov. 14 [Special].—The New York state athletic commission today opened an investigation into the confession of Harry Thomas, Minnesota heavyweight, recently disclosed exclusively in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE that he threw fights against Max Schmeling and Tony Galento. The commission was said to be particularly interested in the Thomas-Schmeling bout, which was held in New York City. The Galento match was in Philadelphia.

Under a subpena issued by Maj. Gen. John J. Phelan, chairman of the commission, Thomas appeared before the commission meeting for what had been heralded as "an exhaustive line of questioning." But the program stalled when Thomas, exercising his constitutional privilege, declined to submit to questioning in the absence of his lawyer. Thomas was ordered to appear before the commission's meeeting next Tuesday.

After today's brief hearing, Thomas told reporters he had nothing to add to his statements published and authenticated in THE TRIBUNE. Neither Promoter Mike Jacobs nor Joe Jacobs, manager of Galento and Schmeling, were present.

Arthur Donovan, licensed referee, was the third man in the ring in the fight between Thomas and Schmeling, held two years ago. Donovan was instructed to be present next Tuesday at the inquiry.

Life.

A little girl, a little boy, a little while ago;
A lot of happy moments, happy hours, then, well, you know,
I just can't seem to figure, but I guess it had to be.
Nobody ever wonders when the kids are roundabout;
And no one tries to learn what the whole thing's about,
Nobody seems to figure that the birthdays come and go
Till just before the parting—then it's too late. Don't I know?
Don't I know? 'Twas close to bedtime when that grownup girl of mine Told her wedding plans to Daddy; I could only say, "That's fine!
And I hope that you'll be happy." God in heaven, let Your light Shine forever on her pathway. Cheer a lonely heart tonight.

SHAUGHNESSY IS 'NOT INTERESTED NOW' IN NEW JOB

Clark Shaughnessy of the University of Chicago, mentioned as a possible successor to Marshall Glenn as West Virginia university football coach, said last night that he was "not interested in any other job at the present time."

Dispatches from Morgantown, W. Va., said that the West Virginia athletic board had made Bill Kern, now at Carnegie Tech, the No. 1 choice, with Shaughnessy next in line if Kern passed up a contract said to call for $7,500.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 14 (AP).—The Boston Bruins snapped out of their two game losing streak by overhauling the speedy Chicago Blackhawks by a 3 to 1 margin in a bruising National Hockey league overtime game tonight before 10,000 in the Boston Garden. It was Boston's first victory of the new season.

The Stanley cup defenders, opening their 16th home campaign trailed until the 53d minute, when Bill Hollett put them on even terms by combining with Eddie Shore. The lone Chicago goal was made during the third minute of play by Rookie Doug Bentley, who had a trial in the Bruins' training camp last season.

Win with Clapper Off Ice.

Once the action entered the overtime stage the Bruins redoubled their efforts, which appeared doomed when Capt. Dit Clapper drew a penalty.

Being short handed, however, saved the champions, for when the Blackhawks attempted a five-man rush Milt Schmidt broke away and managed to drive home the clinching point as Art Wiebe rode on his back and big Earl Seibert attempted to check him from behind. Hollett made the third Boston score while polishing off another breakaway play.

Before the game, Frank Calder presented the Bruins with their Stanley cup medals and the national hockey league's pennant was raised over their home surface.

After only 2 minutes 27 seconds of play the Blackhawks had gained the lead on a gang play. Bill Thoms intercepted the puck and fed it to Mush March 10 feet inside the Boston blue line. March swept in and fired a hard shot at Goalie Frankie Brimsek. The puck bounced off the goalie's pads and Bentley swooped in and slapped it home.

Karakas Has a Busy Time.

The Bruins attempted to throw their old time power against the Hawks during the remaining 17 minutes of the period, but most of their drives were broken up by the smooth playing Chicago secondaries.

Earl Seibert gave Karakas stout support during the first half of the second period as the Bruins renewed their efforts to score. Seibert handed out severe punishment to his attacking rivals and broke up several rushes. Altho most of the play was deep in Chicago territory, the Hawks managed to get in three close-up shots at Brimsek, while limiting their rivals to four.

The first penalty of the game was imposed on Jack Shewchuck, two minutes before the end of the second period. It was called for holding when Mush March got a break down the middle lane. Before the Hawks could take advantage of their short handed rivals, March was sent off for hooking Shore.

Shore Goes to Penalty Box.

The Bruins opened the third period with a determined charge, during which Hill and Seibert drew penalties for high-sticking. As the Bruins continued applying the pressure, March broke down the ice alone for a close-in shot, but Brimsek made a neat save. Shortly after Hill and Seibert were released, Shore was sent in for tripping and it was the Hawks turn to do the charging. The Bruins, however, held their foes in check and they had but one shot at the goal during Shore's absence.

After 13 minutes of five-man rushing Hollett netted a 15 footer down the middle aisle after he had fought his way thru the Chicago defense with a pass that Shore fed him from the right boards in back of the Chicago net.

The Blackhawks then threw all hands against the Boston cage and Brimsek was hard pressed stopping a drive headed by Wiebe. A few seconds later Clapper teamed with Bobby Bauer and the former forced Karakas to drive out five feet to smother his closeup shot. That ended the excitement until the Bruins' two rapid fire goals came in the overtime.

CORN PICKING BY MACHINE KEEPING MR. DUCK HEALTHY

He Forsakes Marshes and Eats in Fields.

BY BOB BECKER.

When the wild mallard ducks now in the Illinois river valley get together in big flocks we have a hunch that they join in three rousing cheers for the farmers who use mechanical corn pickers. The pickers are leaving a trail of corn behind them on the thousands of acres of tilled land near the river bottom and the happy ducks are flocking to these fields to eat their fill of this free grain.

As a result of this daily migration to the cornfields the waterfowl in the Illinois valley today are operating on a schedule that is as different as it is baffling to thousands of hunters who remember how the birds used to stay in the valley several years ago. It's this shuttling back and forth to the cornfields that is largely responsible for much of the mediocre hunting that so many sportsmen have experienced this fall.

Ducks Change Habits.

We were impressed with this change in the habits of the ducks when we went down the river the other day to try our luck with the mallards and pintails. On this trip we looked over thousands of acres along the Sangamon river above its junction with the Illinois. Last year we saw tremendous flocks of mallards and pintails in these marshy lowlands where the water level is perfect and the sloughs have an abundance of natural food for waterfowl.

This year there are enough ducks to give any party a swell hunt in these marshes. But the flocks of 5,000 and 10,000 mallards that we saw last year aren't there this year. They are in the valley somewhere but operating on an entirely different schedule of eating and flying, for the birds plan their days around those trips to the cornfields and do not "trade" around the marshes like they did in former years.

Hunters Notice Change.

The average hunter who has a little pond shooting hole, the day shooting places, the clubs with big holdings—all are noticing this change in the habits of the ducks. There are exceptions to the poor bags being taken by some shooters but a large majority of the boys are complaining about their luck.

For example, Van Campen Heilner of New York, well known sportsman and author of "The Book of Duck Hunting," published a few weeks ago, told us last week when the two of us were sitting side by side in a blind and considering ourselves lucky in having a dandy shoot near the Sangamon river, that he had managed to bag [by very hard work] only 21 ducks in five days on one of the largest and best equipped marshes in the Illinois river valley. This small bag was further evidence of how the smart ducks are staying out of many of the marshes where the guns are booming.

Detroit Wins, 4 to 2; Ties for Hockey Lead

New York, Nov. 14 (AP).—Detroit tied Toronto for the National Hockey league lead tonight as Rookie Ken Kilrea and Veteran Cecil Dillon, former New York Ranger, led the way to a 4 to 2 victory over the New York Americans. The defeat left the New York hockey teams without a victory so far this season. The Americans have lost three straight while the Rangers have two ties and a loss.

Outplayed for two periods, the revamped Americans, making their first appearance at home this fall, put on a two goal rally in the third, but a breakaway goal by Syd Howe spiked the threat.

Kilrea skated in to rap home Dillon's pass out from the corner and started the scoring late in the first period. The same combination clicked again early in the second period and Keating made it 3 to 0 on Howe's pass five minutes later. Johnny Sorrell and Murray Armstrong scored for the Americans. Lineups:

GIANTS TO BUILD LIGHTING PLANT; OVERRULE TERRY

New York, Nov. 14 (AP).—The New York Giants today announced they would play night baseball next season in the Polo Grounds.

"We're going to have the finest lighting plant in the game for 1940," President Horace Stoneham said.

"We'll play our first game at home either the last week in May or the first in June, and will have seven games in all under the lights. We'll invite each of the other clubs in the league to play one night game at the Polo Grounds."

Thus, the last National league stronghold against night ball passed out of the picture. Just about a year ago this time, the Giants vowed they would never play under the lights, either at home or abroad.

C. Y. O. WINNERS ARE SELECTED IN WEST SECTION

Team Qualifies for Next Week's Semi-Finals.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The Catholic Youth organization's west side boxers last night took up where their south side colleagues had left off on the preceding evening. After two and a half hours of slugging in the C. Y. O. center gymnasium, eight open division fighters and eight novices emerged as west sectional champions. These boys will go into next Monday and Tuesday's semi-finals where they will meet the south, north, and suburban title holders.

The north sectional championships will be decided tonight in C. Y. O. center. The boxers of the suburban area will pick their titleholders tomorrow and Friday in a series of matches in Joliet.

Tony Bausone Wins.

Tony Bausone, novice flyweight champion of last season, and Dick Blaha, king of last year's novice bantamweights, fought for the 118 pound open division title in one of the best bouts on last night's program. While his brother, Frank, veteran of many a hard amateur bout, cheered him from the ringside, Tony pounded out a three round decision over his stubborn adversary.

Wayne Fidler, 126 pound champion of 1938, qualified impressively for the semi-finals by outpointing Jesse Garcia in a bout which went for three rounds without a letup of fast action.

In a contest which was left over from the Monday night program Eddie O'Connell took the south sectional lightweight championship by beating Eddie Miller in three rounds.

Al Noto, Dave Walker, Isiah Wells, Hubert Wood, and Joe Clemente will complete the west side lineup in the open division semi-finals next week. The champions follow:

Open Division.

112 POUNDS—Al Noto, Presentation.
118 POUNDS—Tony Bausone, St. Mel.

POMPOON, 1936 JUVENILE TURF CHAMPION, DIES

Career Ends for 1937 Derby Favorite.

Hyde, Md., Nov. 14 (AP).—Death today ended the racing career of Pompoon, big black thorobred who won the 2 year old championship of the turf in 1936 and was runner-up in the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness stakes in 1937.

The 5 year old son of Pompey-Oonagh died unexpectedly in his stall at the Three Cousins stock farm of his owner, J. H. Louchheim, in Long Green Valley, where he had been resting since he broke down last summer.

Owners Deeply Affected.

Mr. and Mrs. Louchheim, who had been staying at the farm during the Pimlico meeting, were so deeply affected by Pompoon's death that it was indicated they would cut short their stay and return to their Philadelphia home.

Emergency treatment failed to save Pompoon after he had been found down and in distress in his stall. His death came only 24 hours after a veterinarian had commented that he seemed to be reaching fine condition. Had he lived, Pompoon probably would have been booked for the stud next year.

Loses to War Admiral.

In his championship 2 year old season, Pompoon won six starts and $80,000 to become winter-book favorite for the Kentucky Derby. But the following year War Admiral ruled the 3 year olds and beat Pompoon in both the Derby and Preakness.

Making a comeback in 1938, Pompoon won the Dixie handicap at Pimlico, setting a new track record of 1:56 4-5 for 1 3-16 miles from a stall-gate start. He also won the San Carlos handicap at Santa Anita and earned $40,550 that year.

Pompoon tried again this year to win the Dixie but was an also ran. His last race was in the Wilson stakes at Saratoga on Aug. 2, when he finished second to Eight Thirty.

BOMBERS PLAY ARROWS.

The Chicago Brown Bombers will seek their 10th victory and their fourth in a row tomorrow night when they play the Silver Arrows of Cicero in Spencer field, 4200 North Central avenue.

PIMLICO BARS SMOKE SIGNAL; SEEK IDENTITY

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 14 (AP).—Stewards of the Maryland Jockey club today directed the racing secretary at Pimlico to bar further entry of the horse Smoke Signal until his identity has been properly established.

The question of Smoke Signal's identity was raised when he was entered in the seventh race at Pimlico Nov. 10. At that time the stewards were told the horse positively was Smoke Signal. He ran second.

Later, the stewards issued a statement saying Smoke Signal had run under the name of Laddie Boy Ring at Washington Park Aug. 2, 1938, and barred him from the Pimlico track until the Illinois racing commission gives him a clean bill of health.

BLADES TO LEAD CARDINALS IN '40; PREDICTS TITLE

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 14 (AP).—Manager Ray Blades, fortified for 1940 with a new contract calling for a salary increase, said today he saw nothing that would keep the St. Louis Cardinals from winning the National league pennant next year.

"If we get the same breaks as we did last season," he declared, "we'll win easily with the same club."

The contract for a second year as manager was the 21st signed by Blades with the Cardinal organization, with which he has spent all his baseball career since 1920.

Retention of Blades was expected because of his successful season with the club, which made a great stretch drive, just falling short of the pennant-winning Cincinnati Reds.

THIS WHISKEY IS 5 YEARS OLD

This Is Our Story:

When properly made and sufficiently matured, American whiskies are the best in the world for every purpose. THE HOUSE OF CHAPIN & GORE since 1865 has set the standard for quality Kentucky Bourbon whiskey. Made in the old fashioned way—SOUR MASH METHOD. The most expensive way, assuring a RICH, DISTINCTIVE FLAVOR. That type of whiskey improves with age. Nothing can be added that will improve its quality. For that reason CHAPIN & GORE whiskey is never mixed with other whiskies. It is always sold STRAIGHT, and is the finest quality that science and long experience can produce.

Look for the name CHAPIN & GORE on the label. Old Timers know that name to be the consumer's protection as to quality and age.

CLIFF PETERSON INJURED AGAIN; LOST TO ILLINI

Full Back Is Disabled in Drill for Ohio.

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 14 (AP).—A recurring knee injury laid low Cliff Peterson of Moline, Illinois junior full back, today and probably put him on the sidelines for the remainder of the football season.

Clifford Peterson.

Peterson, injured first in the Southern California game, went down in a scrimmage today with a twisted knee as the Illini stepped up preparations for the game with Ohio State Saturday. Peterson's re-injury probably will force George Rettinger to play his third complete game this Saturday without relief.

The varsity experienced little difficulty stopping Ohio plays as executed by the freshmen in a 35 minute defensive drill.

The varsity solved the Buckeye running attack, but two aerial thrusts, with Piggott and Good throwing, enabled the freshmen to score twice. When the regulars took the ball their chief weapon was the throwing of Chuck Purvis, senior half back. He completed several long tosses, one for forty yards to Don Elting and one to Ralph Bennett that was good for a touchdown.

Most of the regulars were in action, but Wes Martin, right guard; Bill Lenich, and Ralph Ehni took it easy. Ehni and Lenich played the entire Michigan and Wisconsin games.

Zuppke announced the team will depart by special train Friday morning, arrive in Columbus at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon, and spend the night in Magnetic Springs.

OHIO GETS NEW PLAYS.

Columbus, O., Nov. 14 [Special].—Coach Francis A. Schmidt gave Ohio State several new plays today to meet the challenge of Illinois. The rebounding Illini invade Ohio stadium Saturday. Ohio State probably will be in good shape. Tucker P. Smith, team trainer, indicated that Vic Marino, regular left guard, would be ready to play.

No, All's Not Confusion as P.G.A. Meets

the national open championship in Philadelphia in June. Denny became involved in the Pomonok battle and Craig was eliminated trying to win a sectional berth in the tournament. Yesterday's vote will allow all players tying for the national open to qualify automatically for the P. G. A. tournament without the necessity of working sectionally. This sectional exemption also applies to the members of the 1939 United States Ryder cup team, who were named in an honorary gesture Monday night.

More important, however, is the likelihood that the annual election of the association will be held today, instead of tomorrow, as predicted.

Walsh, Dudley Lead Candidates.

Leading candidates for the presidency, which Jacobus has held for seven years and for which he has indicated he will not be a reëlection candidate, are Tom Walsh of Chicago's Westgate Valley Country club and Ed Dudley of the Philadelphia Country club. Walsh has served as national secretary of the P. G. A. for three years and drew 26 against 40 of the possible 66 votes for the presidency against Jacobus last year. Dudley is former western open champion, Ryder cup player, and, with Bill Burke, was winner of the Hagen anniversary tournament at Midlothian last August.

Top report of all, from the standpoint of us who cover golf, was that of Freddie Corcoran, the energetic young man from Boston who conducts the P. G. A. tournament bureau under the supervision of the tournament and executive committees. Fredrick last year traveled more than 30,000 miles in being at all of the 38 P. G. A. shows, 28 of them medal and ten match play, for the year dating from Nov. 1, 1938, to Nov. 1, instant. These brought a total of $174,000 in purses to the boys who went after them. Corcoran has arranged a winter schedule, beginning with the $10,000 Miami open in Miami Springs, Fla., and ending with the Masters' tournament in Augusta.

Seniors Play at Sarasota.

Dudley, who also has been chairman of the tournament committee, made a right good point during his morning report, asking for a distinction between the boys who are commonly called playing pros and those whom he feels should be called golf professionals. He pointed out a number of pros who are classed as playing pros, who still do their share of teaching and plenty of it, including Byron Nelson, the national and western open champion.

The third annual senior's championship of the association, open to P. G. A. members over 50 years of age, will be decided on Jan. 12, 13, and 14 in Sarasota, Fla., according to an announcement by Capt. Charles Clarke of Willoughsby, O. The previous two events were won by Jock Hutchison of Chicago and Freddie McLeod of Washington, D. C.

Secretary Walsh reported an increase of 77 members over last year, making the total national enrollment 1,812.

MOON MULLINS—OUTSPOKEN

Iowa Forgets Early Success; Gophers Next!

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 14 [Special].—Iowa's football iron men went back to work today.

The acclaim of the student body for their victory over Notre Dame, accepted yesterday, was a thing of the past, and Coach Eddie Anderson, worried over the rising strength of Minnesota, told them to forget the entire season to date.

"You have just one thing to work for now," he told them. "That is the homecoming game against the Gophers in your own stadium next Saturday. You will have plenty to do if you even hope to stop them, now that they are rolling, without thinking of those games that already are won."

In today's practice session Coach Anderson held to the routine that has been used all season at Iowa. Passing drill and pass defense occupied the remainder of the practice.

Bruno Andruska of Chicago, who suffered a sprained wrist in the Notre Dame encounter, was out for practice and ran thru signals with the first team. The squad otherwise was in good condition.

GOPHER GUARD RETURNS.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 14 [Special].—Appearance of Bob Smith in football regalia this afternoon, when Minnesota's Gophers went to work in earnest for the Iowa game, indicated that the regular left guard should be physically fit for the battle at Iowa City Saturday.

Sy Johnson, however, will be out of action for another week. The Gophers' only other cripples—George Franck and John Mariucci—apparently were on their way to complete recovery after some hard usage in the Michigan game.

STATE BACK TODAY.

East Lansing, Mich., Nov. 14 [Special].—The Michigan State football squad will return home late tomorrow afternoon and start practice immediately for its homecoming game Saturday with Indiana university.

Saturday's encounter will be the third this season for the Spartans with a Big Ten school. State will be after its first victory over Western conference opposition. The Spartans were defeated by Michigan, 26 to 13, by Purdue, 20 to 7, in the past two games. The squad has shown decided improvement since then, however. It handed Syracuse a 14 to 3 defeat two weeks ago and last Saturday lost, 6 to 0, to Santa Clara at San Francisco.

HOOSIERS TUNE UP OFFENSE.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 14 [Special].—Ground plays came in for a major share of attention today as the Indiana university football squad tuned up its offense for the Michigan State game at East Lansing Saturday.

A back field composed of three sophomores, Tuffy Brooks, full back, and Kenny Smith and Mickey McGuire, half backs, and Junior Eddie Herbert, quarter back, concentrated on power plays in an offensive drill.

MICHIGAN SCRIMMAGES.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 14 [Special].—Michigan's football team got down to hard contact work today in preparation for another intersectional game Saturday against Pennsylvania at Philadelphia.

Thruout the scrimmage, coaches stressed fundamentals, which were poorly executed against Minnesota last Saturday. Faulty blocking and tackling proved to be Michigan's downfall in that contest. "Missed tackles gave Minnesota at least 160 yards," Coach Fritz Crisler said.

Bob Ingalls, sophomore center who was shifted to quarter back and played most of the game against the Gophers, will remain at that position for Penn, subbing for Forest Evashevski, who has a sprained ankle.

STORCK DENIES CLARK'S PLEA TO PLAY FOR RAMS

Cleveland, O., Nov. 14 (AP).—Earl [Dutch] Clark is divided into two parts.

One piece—the coaching half—belongs to the Cleveland Rams. The other piece—the inactive playing half—belongs to the Detroit Lions.

This dual personality must be retained, President Carl Storck of the National Professional Football league ruled tonight, until the Rams either buy or barter for his complete services. The decision followed a request by the one time all-American that he be permitted to play Sunday against the Detroit eleven, which he formerly coached.

"The Detroit Lions hold the contract for the playing rights of Dutch Clark," Storck said at his home in Dayton. "He was transferred to Cleveland as a coach by mutual agreement of the Lions and the Cleveland organization as well as Dutch Clark. The only way he can play Sunday against Detroit is to buy his full release."

Storck's ruling was made after receipt of a letter from Thomas E. Lipscomb, president of the Cleveland club, asking Storck to "use the broad powers granted to you in our constitution and by-laws" and declare Clark a free agent.

WILDCATS, IRISH GAIN POWER FOR ANNUAL BATTLE

ground against Minnesota than Notre Dame and Iowa both made in their game last week.

In six games Northwestern has gained a total of 1,568 yards from scrimmage. In seven games Notre Dame has gained less than a hundred yards more although with advantage of an extra contest.

Succeed with Passes.

Forward passing has been a factor in Northwestern's attack to a greater degree than in any previous season of the Waldorf régime. Northwestern has tried 91 forward passes in six games, completed 38 for 501 yards, had 46 incompleted, three that the passer was thrown for a loss, and one when the passer ran successful. There have been three interceptions. In seven games Notre Dame has attempted 58 passes, completed 13, and had eight passes intercepted.

Northwestern's best offensive record was last week, but it must not be forgotten that 18 first downs and two blocked kicks, a passing record in which 12 out of 25 were completed, did not produce a point. This is the week's practice problem, elimination of errors which nullify the hard work that has advanced the ball.

Hal Method, senior guard, who with Corne Aarts, tackle, and John Haman, center, are Northwestern's iron men, will be the Wildcats' captain for the Notre Dame game.

IRISH STRESS BLOCKING.

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 14 [Special].—"We'll have to start laying in some blocks if we expect to beat Northwestern," Coach Elmer Layden told his Notre Dame football squad today before sending the squad through a drill on fundamentals.

Tom Gallagher, Chicago junior, and Tad Harvey, Wilmette senior, who have missed the last two games due to injuries, will be ready for Saturday's game, it is believed. Their absence from the lineup undoubtedly has impaired Irish timing and effectiveness although Jim Brutz and Paul Lillis, sophomores, have filled the breach capably.

Peterson May Help Tenant at Left Half

Madison, Wis., Nov. 14 [Special].—Wisconsin's varsity returned to work today, going thru a long dummy scrimmage against the freshmen, using Purdue formations in preparation for the homecoming game here Saturday.

Bob Peterson, husky sophomore from Aurora, Ill., was given particular attention as an understudy to Johnny Tennant at left half back. Tennant was injured in the Illinois game, but probably will be able to start. Two other left half backs—Bob Willding, a sophomore, and Tony Gradisnik, a senior—are lost for the Purdue game because of injuries.

Today's practice indicated Wisconsin will rely heavily on an air attack.

GALVIN STILL AILING.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 14 [Special].—The questionable status of John Galvin, Jack Brown's understudy at left half back, and the probable loss for the season of Carl Verplank, veteran right guard who was injured before the Santa Clara game, provided additional worries for Coach Mal Elward today as Purdue resumed an intensive drill for the Wisconsin game in Madison Saturday.

Galvin, who was unable to play against Northwestern last Saturday because of pulled muscles in his side, still was unable to run with anything approaching his normal form today.

ROCCO-HOWARD AMATEUR CARD LISTS 7 BOUTS

Patsy Rocco, former middleweight, and Kid Howard, veteran loop gymnasium proprietor, will offer the first of a series of weekly amateur boxing shows in Venetian hall, Roseland, tonight. Seven contests in the heavyweight, light heavyweight, middleweight, featherweight, and bantamweight divisions will be held.

St. Ignatius Gets First Shot at Catholic Title Since 1922

BY JAMES SEGRETI.

A group of youngsters yesterday raced around a field surrounded by the staid walls of St. Ignatius High school, founded by the Jesuit order of the Catholic church in 1867. The happy players, football champions of the north section of the Catholic league for the first time since 1922, breezed through the signal drill in preparation for their title battle with Mount Carmel Sunday afternoon in Soldiers' field and the right to appear in Mayor Kelly's all-city contest on Dec. 2.

The spirit of the squad indicated that Mount Carmel, 1938 champion, will encounter its toughest opponent of the season. It was an inspired band of St. Ignatius players who brought the school the sectional title last Sunday when they defeated the highly touted St. George eleven, 19 to 12, in the biggest upset of Chicago's prep season.

Coaches Praise Team Spirit.

"We were outweighed by St. George," said Ralph Malliard, St. Ignatius coach, "but we had eleven players on the field who were keyed up. They knew they had a hard job to fill and they did it."

Malliard, tall Nebraskan, who also teaches mathematics and history at St. Ignatius, has been coaching the squad for nine years. During that period St. Ignatius finished second in sectional races five times. Malliard played end and tackle at Creighton university under Chet Wynne in 1926, 1927, and 1928. He spent 1929 playing for the Chicago Bears professional team.

Handicapped by Injuries.

"Our squad isn't very big," Malliard continued. "Take our center, Ed Coby. He's only 15 years old, but he's always ready to play every minute of the game. We have been hit by injuries all season and I don't know how we managed to escape without a defeat in the league."

St. Ignatius suffered its first serious setback two weeks ago when Ray McCaffrey, the team's star ball carrier, incurred a broken collar bone shortly after he had scored two touchdowns to lead the team to a 21 to 0 victory over St. Mel. Two other players, Ray Pechous, right half back, and Bill White, were hurt in last Sunday's game with St. George, but Malliard is hopeful they will be able to participate in the title contest.

Names Starting Lineup.

The starting players Malliard expects to send against Mount Carmel include Bill Dwyer and Gene Spartz, ends; Joe Meccia and Joe Broccolo, tackles; James Williams and Paul Fenlon, guards; Coby, center; Pete De Palma, quarter back; Charles [Chick] Jacoby and Pechous, half backs, and White, full back.

Malliard employs the Notre Dame system at St. Ignatius, the same as Mount Carmel, which is coached by Wally Fromhart, who played quarter back at the University of Notre Dame in 1935. Mount Carmel captured the south division title for the second successive year by defeating De Paul academy last Sunday.

The winner of the championship will enjoy a long rest before engaging the Public School league's representative in Mayor Kelly's game. The Public School league semi-finals, involving Fenger and Tilden Tech in Soldiers' field and Austin and Schurz in Mills stadium, will be played Saturday afternoon. The final game for the championship will be held Nov. 25.

DU SABLE PREP TEAM DEFEATS ENGLEWOOD, 28-0

Du Sable High's football team yesterday defeated Englewood, 28 to 0, in Normal park. It was the final game in the central section of the Public School league for both elevens. The victory gave Du Sable a record of three triumphs and four defeats. Lineups:

ILLINOIS CROWD TOO NOISY, PLAINT OF STUHLDREHER

Madison, Wis., Nov. 14 [Special].—Badger football fans still were talking today of the charge made by Harry Stuhldreher, University of Wisconsin coach, that Illinois rooters were guilty of unsportsmanlike conduct last Saturday whenever the Badger team had possession of the ball.

At the weekly meeting of the Downtown Coaches' association Stuhldreher said that the Wisconsin eleven was forced to go into a huddle, something rarely done by Stuhldreher teams, when they could not hear the signals over the roar of the crowd.

"We were guests there and expected to be treated as guests," Stuhldreher said. "I have seen this happen only three times in my coaching career. A penalty can be inflicted for this sort of conduct."

Stuhldreher said movies of the game, which Wisconsin lost, 7 to 0, showed that Jimmy Smith, Illinois half back, stepped out of bounds during his eighty-two yard touchdown run.

Stuhldreher said he would not make much of an uproar over it because Ernie Vick, an official, would have called the ball had he seen Smith step over the line.

ZUPPKE HAS AN ANSWER

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 14 (AP).—"I'm surprised if my good friend Harry Stuhldreher made such a statement," said Bob Zuppke, head football coach at the University of Illinois, when informed today that the Wisconsin coach had accused Illinois fans of poor sportsmanship. Stuhldreher said the Illinois shouting disconcerted the Badgers and upset their signal calling.

"Harry knows better," said Zuppke. "I started the use of the huddle because the players couldn't hear the signals above the shouting of the crowd. Fans go to football games to shout themselves hoarse and be exuberant. Wouldn't it be sad to play a game before a crowd of Egyptian mummies?

"As to whether Smith ran out of bounds, movies will never settle it. I've always opposed football movies. They start too many arguments and prove too little. I know how easily it is to be fooled by movies. Anyhow, our movies indicate he didn't step out of bounds."

In a Mild Controversy

To produce El Producto quality, we must blend not only the choicest, but exactly the right Havana with other costly tobaccos. Any Havana will not do. The only way to guarantee the uniformity, mildness and sparkling taste of El Producto is to buy these expensive tobaccos years in advance.

Today's 10c sizes are far superior to 15c cigars of just a few years ago. Not only in taste, but in distinctive modern shapes and in beautiful workmanship, El Producto sets standards that make the 10-cent cigar the peak of real enjoyment. Prove it for yourself—try El Producto today.

If you haven't smoked El Producto lately, you will be amazed at the superlative value you get in the El Producto of today—finer cigars than you used to get for 15c.

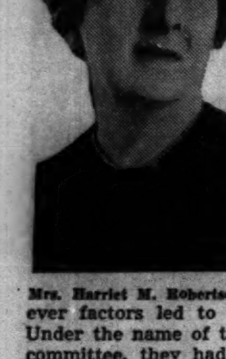
HONEST BALLOTS IN 1940 PLEDGED BY 23 GROUPS

Agree to Put Watchers in All 4,337 Precincts.

Election fraud will not be an easy crime in the 1940 elections. Not if the spokesmen of 23 civic and patriotic organizations who met at the Great Northern hotel yesterday knew what they were talking about.



Mrs. Harriet M. Robertson.

The 23 organizations in 1935 began correlating their efforts to detect and end whatever factors led to stolen elections. Under the name of the honest ballot committee, they had 1,500 volunteer watchers at the polls in the 1936 presidential election. They were instrumental in having 940 election judges and clerks removed in 1937. They reported countless instances of fraud.

Plan to Cover All Precincts.

In 1936 they covered 794 of the worst precincts in Cook county. But in 1940, they hope to have watchers at each of the 4,337 precincts in the county. In the words of Mrs. Harriet M. Robertson, president of the Women's Civic council and chairman of the honest ballot committee: "No precinct is too respectable, too nice, for fraud to creep in."

Just how this is to be achieved seemed simple yesterday. Each organization from the Chicago Association of Commerce to the Anti-Saloon league, from the Union League club to the D. A. R. will watch polling places in designated areas.

The civic relations commission of the Chicago Church federation took the largest slice of all. It will watch the polling places in each precinct in which a member church is located. This will include a third of the precincts in Chicago.

Urge Five Changes in Law.

Dr. Harold F. Gosnell, associate professor of political science at the University of Chicago, as principal speaker, suggested five changes in the Illinois election law.

These are [1], the selection of election officials by civil service to obtain a higher type of official in depreciated areas; [2], the use of a ballot with a numbered stub to end chain voting; [3], the use of public buildings as polling places, rather than garages, dingy shops or basements to lend dignity to the electoral process; [4] shortening of the number of electoral offices, [5] and enactment of a corrupt practice act.

E. R. ARMSTRONG DIES; HEAD OF PAINT CONCERN

E. Royce Armstrong, 2415 Pioneer road, Evanston, died yesterday after a long illness. He was chairman of the board of the Armstrong Paint and Varnish works, which was founded by his father.

Armstrong was born in Chicago in 1873. He became president of the company in 1900 and chairman in 1924. The Armstrong company was one of the first in the United States to manufacture ready mixed paints. Armstrong is said to have been one of the first company executives to establish the bonus system for employés.

He is survived by his widow, Julia Starkweather Armstrong; a brother, Julian of Lake Bluff, and a sister, Helen of Pasadena, Cal. The funeral will be held at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow at St. Mark's Episcopal church, Evanston. Burial will be in Graceland cemetery.

HOLD FUNERAL TODAY FOR MRS. EARL REYNOLDS

Mrs. Mary Scudder Reynolds, wife of Earl H. Reynolds, former Chicago banker, died yesterday in Pasadena, Cal. Funeral services will be conducted there today. Burial will be in St. Louis.

Until they moved to California six years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds lived on Green Bay road in Lake Forest. He was president of the People's Trust and Savings bank of Chicago, which closed in 1932. Mrs. Reynolds is survived by her husband, her mother, Mrs. Charles White Scudder, and a brother, Mason Scudder, both of St. Louis.

Firemen Revive Auto Gas Victim After 2 Hour Fight

It took firemen of rescue squad No. 6 two hours yesterday to revive Gustave Freislinger, 43 years old, who had been overcome by carbon monoxide gas in a garage behind his home at 6109 North Campbell avenue. Freislinger then was taken to St. Joseph's hospital, where it was said he would recover. His wife told police he was overcome accidentally while putting his car away.

Body of Slaying Victim Found Stuffed in Trunk

Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 14 (AP).—Police Chief William Rapp tonight said the body of a slain man was found stuffed in a trunk in a rooming house attic. The victim was identified as Ernest Uhlig, 31 years old, of Oneonta, N. Y. Rapp said a boarder at the house was being questioned.

IDENTIFY DEATH VICTIM.

The woman who died Monday night in county hospital shortly after being found in a coma seated on a step in front of 2454 Diversey avenue, was identified yesterday as Mrs. Laura Mathison, 42 years old, of 2740 N. Sacramento avenue. Her husband, Walter, said she had been suffering from high blood pressure. Mrs. Mathison apparently died of a heart attack.

DEMOCRATS WOO NEGROES; OFFER DAWSON 2D WARD

Further efforts by the city administration to keep the south side Negro district from returning to the Republican fold were revealed yesterday when it was learned that former Alderman William L. Dawson, colored, is slated to replace Joseph F. Tittinger as Democratic committeeman of the 2d ward.

"I can't deny the report," Dawson said. "There was a lack of harmony and understanding in the ward. Naturally, Joe couldn't be in touch with all phases of our life. Knowing the psychology and needs of my people, I believe that I can be of service."

Dawson, classed as a Republican, said he feels free to choose any party label that will enable him to best advance the interests of Negroes. He said he had supported the late Robert M. Sweitzer, Democrat, against a former Republican mayor and Henry Horner for Probate judge. Dawson has already been pushed to the front as spokesman for Mayor Kelly's Christmas benefit fund at ward rallies.

MARRIES GIRL HE JILTED AT ALTAR; FEARED NAGGING

After abandoning his bride-to-be at the altar Sept. 20 and leaving a note hinting that the marriage wouldn't have been a success, anyway, because she "was a nagger," Howard N. King, an interior decorator, reconsidered. Last Saturday, in the Methodist church at Clinton, Ia., he and the same girl were married.

The bride is Eleanore Doris Pihl, 22 years old, of 2807 Enoch avenue, Zion. Her mother, Mrs. Herbert N. Pihl, confirmed the elopement yesterday.

Sixty guests and the minister assembled for the wedding when the bride-to-be got King's note, calling off the ceremony.

King had been living with his foster mother, Mrs. Charles Nelly, 128 North Jackson street, Waukegan. Eleanore's mother said the couple expect to live on Wilson avenue, near King's decorating business in the Edgewater Beach Apartments building.

3 Motorists Sentenced to 10 Day Jail Terms

Three motorists yesterday were sentenced by Judge Joseph B. Hermes of the Safety court to ten days each in the county jail. Ernest Nelson, 33 years old, 4641 Emerald avenue, and Fred Haubert, 38, of 3719 South Wolcott avenue, were convicted of reckless driving. Mark Robinson, 48, of 1237 Miller street, a truck driver, was sentenced for driving while intoxicated.

WOMAN VICTIM OF HIT, RUN CAR DIES OF INJURIES

Mrs. Helen Hanson, 48 years old, 519 Arlington place, died in the county hospital last night from a skull fracture received a week ago when she was struck by a hit and run automobile in front of 3550 North Halsted street. Police were without clews to the driver of the car.

John Skeets, 57 years old, 2706 North 72d avenue, Elmwood Park, died in Belmont hospital of injuries incurred Nov. 4 when he was struck by an automobile at Hamlin and Diversey avenues. The driver was Mitchalek, 3054 North Kolmar avenue.

Thomas Predergast, 58 years old, of Riverdale, a railroad worker, was killed when he was struck by a truck at 126th street and Ashland avenue, Calumet Park. The driver was Joseph Padden of 1107 North Hickory street, Joliet.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 756 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 581 were killed in Chicago, where 19,374 were injured in the same period.

JOHN SCHWARTZ, HIGHWAY CHIEF IN AURORA, DIES

John S. Schwartz, 55 years old, highway commissioner of Aurora for 10 years, died yesterday of a heart attack in his home at 509 Forest avenue, Aurora. He was elected four times by large majorities.

As highway commissioner Mr. Schwartz built bridges over the Fox river without issuing bonds or increasing tax rates. During the depression he devised a scheme for unemployed home owners who could not pay their taxes. They were allowed to work on the roads, earning twice as much money as their tax, and being permitted to keep the difference.

Surviving Mr. Schwartz are his widow and five children.

Toy Day Nov. 24 Expected to Launch Yuletide Boom

A Christmas holiday trade 10 to 20 per cent bigger than last year is expected to be launched when Chicago's annual Toyland displays open Nov. 24, the day after Thanksgiving.

That is the opinion of Lawrence H. Whiting, vice president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, which is lending its aid in the campaign for a city-wide toy opening day. The estimate was based, he said, on reports of merchants and on the generally satisfactory state of business activity thru the middle west.

OBITUARIES

Dr. Emil Ries.

Dr. Emil Ries, professor and head of the department of gynecological surgery of Post-Graduate Medical school since 1896, died yesterday in his home at the Plaisance hotel, 1545 East 60th street. He was 74 years old. Dr. Ries was born in Stuttgart, Germany, and was educated at the Universities of Strasburg, Tubingen, and Munich. He came to Chicago in 1895. He was a former president of the Jackson park branch of the Chicago Medical society and of the Chicago Gynecological society, and was a member of the Chicago Pathological society and the Institute of Medicine. Surviving are his widow, Dr. Gay K. Durbin Ries, and one son, Emil D. Ries. Funeral services will be private, with burial in Oak Woods cemetery.

Mrs. Harriet J. Clithero.

Funeral services for Mrs. Harriet J. Clithero, 65 years old, wife of Attorney Delbert A. Clithero, will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow from the home at 320 North Scoville avenue, Oak Park, to the First Baptist church of Oak Park. Burial will be in Oak Woods cemetery. Mrs. Clithero, who was prominent in church activities, died Monday night in her home. Also surviving is a daughter, Mrs. Helen C. Gambill.

Mrs. Lydia Beuckman.

Mrs. Lydia Beuckman, 59 years old, who died on Tuesday of a heart ailment, will be buried tomorrow in Graceland cemetery after funeral services at 3 p. m. in the chapel at 3301 Fullerton avenue. She was the wife of Robert H. Beuckman, 2427 Pulaski road, an official of the Columbia Scale company. Mrs. Beuckman suffered injuries in the Iroquois theater fire in 1903, from which she never fully recovered.

Mrs. Ethel C. Wentworth.

Funeral services for Mrs. Ethel Chaffee Wentworth, who died Monday night in her home at 6721 South Union avenue, will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 316 West 63d street. Mrs. Wentworth was the wife of Daniel S. Wentworth, a Chicago attorney and a trustee of Kiwanis International. She leaves two children: Elizabeth and Daniel S. Jr.

Wendell Phillips Hoge.

Pasadena, Cal., Nov. 14 (AP).—Wendell Phillips Hoge, 72 years old, for a third of a century a member of the staff at Mount Wilson observatory, ded today. Since his retirement four years ago he had engaged in research in the infra-red spectrum field and in writing on popular astronomy.

Frederick D. Willey.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 4447 Irving Park road for Frederick Delano Willey, founder and retired president of the Commonwealth Varnish company of Chicago. He died Monday at his farm near Leslie, Mo., where he had lived since last March. Mr. Willey was 72 years old. Prior to establishing his own business in 1912, he was associated with the Chicago Varnish company for many years. He is survived by his widow, Bessie; three sons, Raymond S. Willey and William and Charles Mentz, and by a daughter, Mrs. Bess Mentz Johnson. Burial will be in Irving Park Boulevard cemetery.

Mrs. Anna Walker Moore.

Mrs. Anna Walker Moore, a resident in Oak Park for more than half a century, died yesterday in her home at 329 Forest avenue, in the suburb. She was 80 years old. She and her husband, Nathan G. Moore, a retired attorney, first moved to the suburb in 1885. Besides her husband, she leaves two daughters, Mrs. Edward R. Hills and Mrs. John Coleman Bagby, and eight grandchildren. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow at the First Presbyterian church, 931 Lake street, Oak Park. Burial will be in Forest Home cemetery.

Dr. William I. Hull.

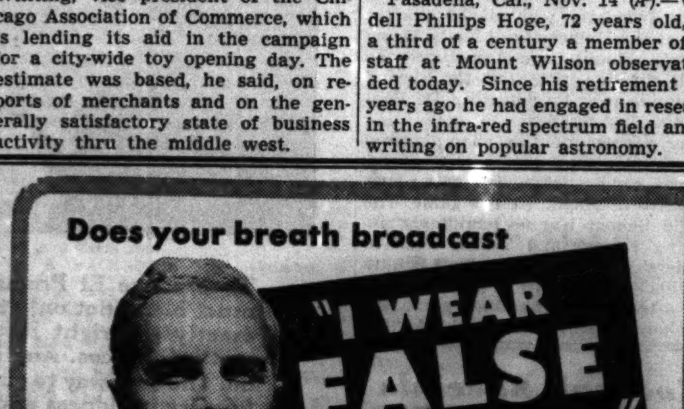
Swarthmore, Pa., Nov. 14 [Special].—Dr. William I. Hull, historian, educator, and peace advocate, died today of a heart attack in a Philadelphia hospital. He would have been 71 years old next Sunday. Dr. Hull retired in March as professor of Quaker history at Swarthmore college after serving on the faculty 47 years.

Charles W. Haller.

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 14 [Special].—Funeral services will be held tomorrow for Charles W. Haller, 78 years old, one of the earliest graduates of the University of Iowa law school in 1884. He had a law office in the same building here for 50 years. Among his survivors is a son, Louis P. Haller, of Evanston, Ill.

Henry F. May.

Berkeley, Cal., Nov. 14 (AP).—Henry F. May, 79 years old, retired attorney and special assistant to the United States attorney general in the Wilson administration, died today. He was a graduate of the Harvard law school, and practiced law in Boston and Denver.



People who wear plates or bridges often suffer from a special kind of bad breath. Dentists call it—"denture breath."

You won't know if you have it—but it can spoil your happiness. Friends will shudder—people avoid you! And the worst of it is that ordinary brushing and mouth washes may not prevent it.

For the odor comes from a mucin-scum that collects on plates and bridges. This scum soaks up germs and decay bacteria and causes a vile odor that you cannot detect.

One thing that definitely stops "denture breath" is daily use of Polident! This new brushless cleaner has won approval of thousands of dentists and users.

Polident not only purifies false teeth—but also removes all stain, tarnish and food deposits. Makes breath sweeter—plates look better and feel better. Costs only 30¢ at any drug store and lasts for many weeks. Money back if not delighted. Hudson Products, Inc., N. Y. C.

POLIDENT
Cleans, Purifies Without Brushing!

Do this daily: Add a little Polident powder to ½ glass water. Stir. Then put in plate or bridge for 10 to 15 minutes. Rinse—and it's ready to use.

TESTIMONY ENDS IN GEN. MOTORS ANTITRUST SUIT

Final Arguments to Be Heard Today.

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 14 [Special].—General Motors corporation counsel rested its defense in the corporation's trial on antitrust charges shortly after noon today in the 27th trial day of the case. Holmes Baldridge, chief government counsel, said he would not offer any rebuttal witnesses. Closing statements will be made tomorrow. The case is expected to go to the jury late tomorrow afternoon or Thursday morning.

W. S. Knudsen tells of rise from 17½ cents an hour.

Immediately after the defense rested, Judge Walter C. Lindley denied two motions for dismissal made by John Thomas Smith, chief defense counsel. One motion was for dismissal of the indictments against the 17 individual defendants, the other motion covered all defendants, including the corporation and three subsidiaries.

Testimony Is 1½ Million Words.

The trial began Oct. 9 and the government rested Oct. 25. Approximately one and one-half million words have gone into the record. The defense called 152 witnesses, the government called 68. The decision in the case will affect not only General Motors but also Ford and Chrysler, who were also indicted but took consent decrees.

The final defense witness was William S. Knudsen, Detroit, president of General Motors. He told how he rose from a 17½ cent an hour workman on a railroad to his present position, in which, he earns $150,000 annually, plus a bonus. In 1937 the bonus amounted to 2,000 shares of General Motors stock.

Knudsen testified he was born in Denmark and came to the United States in 1900. His first job was as a shipyard worker.

Got 17½ Cents an Hour.

Then he worked on a railroad where he got 17½ cents an hour and worked 10 hours a day. Later, he said, he was a riveter at $3 a day and then worked in an Erie railroad roundhouse as a boiler repairman for 23 cents an hour for 12 hours a day.

His rise in the manufacturing world began in 1902, when he went to a Buffalo, N. Y. bicycle factory at $1.75 a day. He became superintendent of the factory, which began to make automobile parts. In 1911 Henry Ford, Knudsen testified, took over control of the factory, which was used to assemble Ford cars.

Knudsen said he went to Detroit in 1913 and worked for Ford, setting up assembly plants. In 1916 he was placed in charge of production at Ford's Highland plant at Detroit. During the world war, Knudsen said, he had charge of the manufacture of Liberty motors and small ships.

Supervises Foreign Plants.

In 1919 Knudsen went to Europe to supervise Ford plants there and two years later severed his connection with Ford. In 1922 he went to General Motors as vice president of Chevrolet and in 1924 became president of Chevrolet. He said that in 1933 he was made executive vice president of General Motors and was named president in 1937.

Knudsen denied ever telling Fred Emich, former Chicago dealer, that he [Emich] had "been a bad boy." Knudsen said, "I don't use such expressions." He denied telling Emich that if he had used the General Motors Acceptance corporation in financing time sales he would not have gotten into difficulties.

Earlier in the morning Alfred P. Sloan Jr., chairman of the General Motors board, testified that 90 per cent of General Motors earnings came from G. M. A. C.

HOME BUILDING TOTAL LARGEST SINCE APRIL, 1937

New York, Nov. 14 (AP).—The dollar volume of private residential building contracts recorded in October was the highest since April, 1937, F. W. Dodge corporation reported today.

In the 37 states east of the Rocky mountains the total, including both private and public, was $118,303,000, an increase of $5,630,000 over the corresponding month last year.

"The most impressive gain," said the statistical concern's survey, "was made in one family residences, which rose in total contract value from $70,021,000 in October, 1938, to $81,975,000 last month. The total number of dwelling units provided showed a 13 per cent increase in October while the 10 months' cumulative total of dwelling units constructed represented a 57 per cent gain over the corresponding period of 1938."

The Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass company yesterday declared a dividend of $1.25 a share, payable Dec. 15 to stockholders of record Nov. 30. Quarterly dividends of 50 cents each were paid in the first three quarters of 1939. The current dividend will bring total payments this year to $2.75, compared with a total of $1.25 paid in 1938. There are 2,509,750 shares of stock outstanding.

Mohawk Carpet Mills declared an extra dividend of 25 cents a common share, in addition to an interim payment of the same amount. Both are payable Dec. 15 to holders of record Dec. 1. Previous payments bring this year's total disbursements to 75 cents. The company paid 25 cents in 1938.

Several Extra Dividends.

Heyden Chemical corporation, New York manufacturer of industrial and medicinal chemicals, announced an extra dividend of 40 cents, payable Dec. 1 to stock of record Nov. 24. Directors also voted an interim payment on the common of the same amount, due the same date. The company paid dividends of 40 cents each in the preceding three quarters of this year, and last year disbursed a total of $1.50.

Other extra payments included a 50 cent dividend announced by directors of Anadian National corporation, who at the same time announced the regular semiannual payment of $1. Both are payable Dec. 1 to holders of record Nov. 20. The company paid a $1 dividend and 50 cents extra on June 1, and paid $9 in 1938, including $6 capital distribution.

Imperial Oil Pays Extra.

Imperial Oil, Ltd., a major Canadian oil refiner, declared an extra payment of 12½ cents and the regular semiannual dividend of 25 cents, both payable Dec. 1 to stockholders of record Nov. 17. The company paid a 25 cent semiannual dividend on June 1, and a 37½ cent extra payment on the same date, and paid a total of $1.25 in 1938.

Oilstocks, Ltd., a holder of oil royalties and other securities, also declared an extra dividend. A payment of 10 cents was voted, also the regular semiannual disbursement of 20 cents, both payable Dec. 22 to holders of record Dec. 8. The company paid 20 cents on June 21, and voted a total of 45 cents in 1938.

Other Dividends Announced.

Dictaphone corporation authorized a dividend of $1 on common stock, payable Dec. 1. The company did not announce the record date. This will bring total payments for the year to $2.75, against $1 in 1938.

Monarch Machine Tool company ordered an extra dividend of 35 cents in addition to the quarterly dividend of 20 cents, both payable Dec. 1 to holders of record Nov. 21. The company paid 30 cents Sept. 1.

The Jewel Tea company declared a year-end dividend of $1 for 1939 in addition to a regular quarterly payment of the same amount on the common stock, both payable Dec. 20 to holders of record Dec. 6.

RESERVE BANK'S 25TH ANNIVERSARY TO BE OBSERVED TOMORROW

The Federal Reserve bank of Chicago will observe its silver anniversary tomorrow with a banquet and dance in the bank's halls. George J. Schaller, president, will be the principal speaker.

In the 25 years since the bank opened its personnel has been increased from 41 officers and employés to 1,550, including 200 at the Detroit branch. The latter was opened in 1918. Nine officers and employés have been with the bank since it opened. They will be presented with silver service medals.

At the end of 1915 resources totaled $63,553,000, compared with $2,966,638,000 on Oct. 31, 1939.

REJECT LIMITING OF PAN-AMERICAN PARLEY'S SCOPE

GUATEMALA CITY, Nov. 14 (AP).—The United States and Argentina joined tonight in a successful fight against a Chilean sponsored attempt to limit the scope and powers of the first Pan-American conference of treasury department representatives. The fight developed after the Guatemala delegate proposed a four point program of economic unity among the American republics to offset the shock of the European war.

The United States and Argentina, frequently rival nations, joined in crushing the Chilean motion, supported by Venezuela and Colombia. The vote was 15 to 3.

The Chilean delegate, Dr. Fernando Maira Castellon, moved that the conference's accords "possess only the character of recommendations to the governments here represented." Dr. Hector Ghiraldo, Argentine delegate, asserted that "no blanket restriction should be laid upon the conferees before they even begin work."

RAIL WILL HAUL SMALL FREIGHT BY MOTOR TRUCK

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14 (AP).—The Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railway received permission from the interstate commerce commission today to substitute motor vehicle transportation for its less than carload rail service on routes in Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, and Nebraska.

The I. C. C. stipulated that the truck service "shall be limited to service which is auxiliary to, or supplemental of, its rail service," and that trucks must not serve or interchange traffic at any point not a station on the Rock Island rail lines.

Local Rock Island freight trains will continue to handle carload business, the I. C. C. said.

Westinghouse Electric Increases Worker Bonus

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 14 (AP).—The Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company today reported it would pay its 45,000 employés in 57 plants and offices adjusted compensation of 6 per cent in November, 2 per cent more than the October bonus. The additional compensation is based on net earnings for the last three months of $3,321,022, of which $833,045 was earned in August; $1,104,137 in September, and $1,363,840 in October.

California Oil Firms Indicted on Price Fixing

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 14 (AP).—A special federal grand jury today indicted more than 40 major and minor oil companies on charges of conspiring to control the price of retail gasoline in violation of the Sherman antitrust act.

The indictments were returned after several months' investigation in which federal prosecutors sought to determine the reason for the "remarkable stability" shown in gasoline prices for the last several years.

Do Most of Coast Business.

Joe Brill, attorney general's assistant in charge of the inquiry, said the oil companies named as defendants control approximately 95 per cent of the total amount of gasoline sold along the Pacific slope.

Among those named as defendants are the Standard Oil Company of California, the Texas corporation, the General Petroleum Corporation of California, Richfield Oil corporation, Shell Oil Company of California, Tide Water-Associated Oil company, Union Oil Company of California, which comprise the so-called "major" concerns operating in this area, and 33 independent concerns.

Charges of Government.

The government charged that as part of the alleged conspiracy the defendants brought about the organization of two associations, one the Fair Practices association, composed of the major and all except one of the secondary concerns, and the Independent Refiners Association of California, Inc., which consisted of one secondary company and a group of so-called independents.

The indictment set forth that in furtherance of the conspiracy the defendants effected, thru a program of purchases by the major concerns of gasoline produced by independent refiners, arbitrary prices designed to eliminate competition. The government contended that with the major companies making such purchases the independents agreed to maintain prices for the rest of their gasoline at or about the same level.

NEW YORK CITY BOND ISSUE OF 30 MILLION SOLD

New York, Nov. 14 [Special].—A $30,000,000 issue of serial bonds of New York City today was awarded to a banking syndicate headed by the National City bank at a net interest cost basis of 2.562%. This was the largest municipal bond sale since the start of the European war. The bonds were immediately reoffered publicly.

Of the total, the $12,900,000 due in 1 to 30 years are being issued for rapid transit, dock improvement and water supply purposes; $9,000,000 of 1 to 25 year serial bonds are for various municipal and school purposes; $1,650,000 of 1 to 15 year maturities are for various municipal purposes, as are the $5,850,000 of 1 to 10 year serials.

The bid of the National City bank syndicate was 100.03 for $24,150,000 as 2½s, and the remaining $5,850,000 of 1 to 10 year bonds as 3¼s. The syndicate re-offered the serial bonds on a tentative basis of the 2½s priced to yield 0.40 to 2.85%, and the 3¼s from 0.40 to 2.35%.

COLUMBIA GAS' EARNINGS RISE IN 12 MONTHS

Westinghouse Nets $1,363,840 in Month.

Improved earnings of Columbia Gas and Electric corporation during the 12 months ended Sept. 30 were disclosed in a quarterly statement sent yesterday to stockholders. Net income climbed to $12,779,171, equal after preferred dividend requirements, to 52 cents a common share. In the preceding 12 months profit was $10,822,566, or 36 cents a share. Gross revenues of $97,741,266 contrasted with $94,709,767.

September quarter earnings totaled $668,514, against $299,534 in 1938. The corporation thru subsidiaries provides gas, electric, and other utility services in several states, including Ohio, Pennsylvania, and West Virginia. The statement showed electric customers served totaled 364,599 and gas customers 1,121,112 on Sept. 30. Both figures were the largest in the system's history.

Westinghouse Has Gain.

Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company's October net earnings were $1,363,840 and for the three months ended Oct. 31 were $3,321,022. Net earnings were $853,045 in August, $1,104,137 in September, and $2,731,023 during the quarter ended Sept. 30.

September net income of the American Telephone and Telegraph company declined to $32,702,175, on the basis of a report filed with the Federal Communications commission. This compared with $35,502,383 during September last year. Earnings during the nine months ended Sept. 30 rose to $125,035,896, from $111,550,421 in the first nine months of 1938.

Trane company, manufacturer of heating and air conditioning systems at La Crosse, Wis., reported earnings for the first nine months of the year were four times larger than in the corresponding period of 1938. Net income increased to $249,026, from $60,749. Sales increased 37 per cent to $3,587,109.

Cities Service Earns Less.

A statement of Cities Service company and subsidiaries and trusteed companies for the nine months ended Sept. 30 showed net income of $901,105, compared with $3,893,824 in the corresponding period last year. The Cities Service company last July placed control of several utility subsidiaries in the hands of two Chicago banks as trustees. Harris Trust and Savings bank was named trustee for the Cities Service Power and Light company. The trusteeships of the Kansa City Gas company, Wyandotte County Gas company, and the Gas Service company were placed with the City National Bank and Trust company.

Pacific Gas and Electric company had net income of $25,633,593, or $2.83 a share, in the 12 months ended Sept.

Warn Democrats of Western Revolt Over Trade Treaties

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14 (AP).—Representative Murdock [D., Ariz.], who usually supports administration policies, asserted in a statement today that there was "great likelihood" that proposed trade agreement programs would alienate some western states from the Democratic party.

Representative Murdock (left) and Representative Disney, who warn of Democratic party split over trade treaties.

Murdock's statement was a new manifestation of dissatisfaction among some Democratic congressmen, especially those from oil and copper states, with state department administration of the reciprocal trade program.

Disney [D., Okla.], a member of the house ways and means committee, released to the press today a letter to Secretary of State Hull contending that lowering of the excise tax on oil imports in the Venezuelan trade treaty had no basis in law.

"It is respectfully suggested," Disney wrote, "that this action was not within the powers granted or intended to be granted by congress or implied by the reciprocal trade agreement act as passed by the congress."

The Oklahoman said the excise taxes on imports of oil, copper, coal and lumber were in a special category and were not susceptible to alteration in the trade agreements.

Both Murdock and Disney said they were not opposed to the trade program in principle, but would oppose continuation on its present basis if lowered taxes on copper and oil were permitted to become effective.

Murdock said he felt that state interests would be "amply protected" if senate ratification were required before the trade agreements became effective. The treaties are negotiated by the state department and go into effect after the President has signed them and the other signatory nations have ratified them. Disney also said he favored senate ratification.

Authority for continuing the program expires next June 12 unless congress votes to continue it.

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Nov. 14. — Foreseeing wartime economic dislocation in underproduction of consumer goods and overemployment and overconsumption, James Maynard Keynes, noted economist, advocates a system of compulsory saving as a means of raising the estimated total of 400 million pounds sterling [about $1,600,000,000] as loan money for financing the war.

The plan is described by some financial experts as a system of deferred payments. It would apply to all classes of people. Keynes' object is to ensure increased earnings and he would withhold expenditures on consumption until the country's producti e resources are free to cope with increased demand.

His proposal is that every one earning an income above the suggested minimum of £150 annually should contribute part of it on a graduated scale. This contribution would be divided into two parts, one of which would be income tax payment, and the other a savings deposit—or a loan to the state bearing the low interest rate of 2½ per cent.

New York Central Places $5,700,000 Rail Orders

New York, Nov. 14 (AP).—New York Central railroad announced today it had placed orders for 64,000 tons of steel rail and track accessories at a cost of $5,700,000 for delivery in 1940. The rail order was divided among Bethlehem Steel, Carnegie Steel, Inland Steel, and Algoma Steel companies.

PRACTICES OF STEEL TRADE ASSAILED BY WEST COAST GROUP

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14 (AP).—A spokesman for independent steel fabricators on the west coast told the monopoly investigating committee today that railroad freight rate practices and steel producers' price methods placed his associates at a competitive disadvantage with mill affiliated fabricators and those located in the east.

T. A. Loretz, general manger of the Pacific Coast Steel Fabricators association, said the group would ask the interstate commerce commission to outlaw the carriers' practice of permitting "fabrication-in-transit."

Under this practice, he said, a fabricator in Birmingham, Ala., is permitted to order steel from Chicago, fabricate it at Birmingham, and ship it to Phoenix, Ariz., for example, at the thru rate from Chicago to Phoenix instead of at the combined rate for the two shorter hauls. As a result, Loretz said, west coast fabricators found it impossible to compete with eastern fabricators, even at points as near to Los Angeles as Phoenix.

Illinois Central Suburban Traffic Runs Above 1938

Suburban service on the Illinois Central electric trains showed an increase of 1.6 per cent in October over the same 1938 month, the carrier reported yesterday A total of 2,832,948 passengers rode the trains, compared with 2,789,456 in October, 1938.

RAILROADS CURB TRUCK SHIPPING, OIL MEN TOLD

Use of Legislative Barriers Charged.

BY HAL FOUST.

America's railroads were accused yesterday of erecting legislative barriers to America's highway commerce. The accusation was made in addresses before the American Petroleum institute, in session this week with 3,000 delegates in the Stevens hotel.

Ted V. Rodgers.

The speakers were Chester H. Gray, director of the National Highway Users' conference, and Ted V. Rodgers, president of the American Trucking association.

"There have been trends in the last ten years in highway legislation and regulation," said Gray, "toward 'balancing' interstate commerce by various and devious methods to neutralize the effect of the commerce clause of the constitution.

Modern Barriers Cited

"Fortunately, so far as railroad transportation is concerned, barriers at state lines long ago disappeared. Unfortunately, in these more modern times of highway transportation, barriers to highway transportation have appeared—supported or sponsored in too many instances by representatives of railroads.

"We must not allow states to become provinces into which persons and commodities cannot enter without complying with a multiple of additional regulations and expenses, or furnishing to guards maintained by the state such personal identification as may be required."

Cites State Regulations.

Gray listed as enemy No. 1 to free movement of commerce the ports of entry maintained at the boundaries of some western states, including California. Other regulations listed as obstructive were inspections and quarantines, liquor legislation, oleomargarine restrictions, labeling and packaging rules, standardization and grading requirements, requirements for the use of resident labor and materials, and advertising at state expense of locally produced farm and other products.

Rodgers told of weight limitations on trucks enacted in some states to restrict commercial hauling, he said, and not to protect the roads or their users.

"I don't believe I am betraying any confidence when I tell you many of

Trusts for Protection of Property

PRESENT Trusts, effective when executed, and Trusts Under Wills, effective after the death of the makers, are two efficient methods of providing for the management of property and the distribution of the income therefrom. Successful results depend on careful planning of the trust and the selection of a capable trustee.

The First National Bank of Chicago, through many years' experience in the planning and administration of trusts, is particularly equipped to function as trustee. It brings to trusts under its management financial strength, sound judgment, conservatism, integrity and the assurance of a continued corporate existence—all essentials of a satisfactory trustee.

A discussion with officers of the Trust Department may assist you in planning the future management and distribution of your property. Interviews are confidential and without obligation.

DEARBORN, MONROE AND CLARK STREETS

Stocks, Bonds

New York Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 14.—The stock market closed higher today for the first time in a week. Fractional advances ruled. Volume was 775,240 shares.

The list's relatively better performance was attributed chiefly to technical factors, altho note was taken of additional favorable dividend and earnings announcements. The European war situation was said to have been of little influence.

A flurry of buying in the forenoon lifted prices a point or so. Representative industrial issues were bid up in place of the recently favored "cheap" issues. Some resistance was met, however, and the list settled back, holding to a narrow pattern thereafter.

General Motors was among the active features and closed ¾ point higher, within a fraction of the year's high. Chrysler climbed a point. Other motors also improved.

Steel shares showed gains running to more than a point at one time, but fractional gains ruled for leaders at the close. United States Steel, Republic, and Bethlehem were active.

Air transportation shares closed at or above previous highs. United Air Lines and Transcontinental and Western Air, up about ½ point each, stood out. Eastern Air Lines also added ½ point.

In the aviation manufacturing section Curtiss-Wright, North American Aviation, and Aviation corporation, recent favorites, slipped fractionally. Others, notably Douglas, United Aircraft, Sperry corporation, Glenn Martin, and Boeing, worked higher.

Fractionally higher prices ruled in the oil, copper, and mechandising sections.

Taking their cue from the main list rail shares firmed.

Power and light shares hovered close to previous finals thruout the session.

New York Bonds.

New York, Nov. 14 (AP).—Bonds caught the rallying spirit of the stock market today and recorded many gains. Rail loans attracted a fair following from the start. A day or two ago the carriers appeared to traders to be scraping bottom after a long backdown from the September war market highs. Signs of buying revival appeared yesterday and were a little more pronounced today.

United States government loans recorded many advances ranging to 12-32ds of a point and some low yield corporates followed.

Plus signs also predominated in the foreign division. Gains running from 1 to 3½ points included Panama A 5s [assented and stamped], Queensland 6s, Finland 6s, Australia 4½s and 5s, Belgian 6½s, and Copenhagen 5s.

Transactions totaled $7,046,100, face value, against $6,191,000 Monday.

Chicago Stocks.

Fractional advances were the rule yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange. Aero Equipment touched a new 1939 high at 15⅛, but fell back in late trading to close ¼ off at 14¾. Sales totaled 23,000 shares.

A gain of ⅛ was registered for Commonwealth Edison, most active issue, on sales of 1,800 shares. It closed at 31⅛. Borg-Warner climbed 1¼ at 27½. Middle West and Hupp Motor also advanced. Marshall Field, W. B. Jarvis, Aviation and Transportation, Borg-Warner, and Aviation corporation finished ⅛ to ¼ lower.

Bank Stocks.

Bid prices on several bank stocks rose yesterday in light trading. Continental Illinois gained ½ point at 86½. Other advances were made by American National, Chicago Title, and Northern Trust.

Commodities

Commodity futures were mostly lower in quiet trading yesterday. Cocoa, feature in Monday's news, declined .06 to .13 cent a pound, canceling part of the sharp advance registered on news that Britain planned to buy up the entire British West Africa cocoa output.

Tin was an exception to the general trend. Futures advanced ½ to 1½ cents a pound and the cash metal was quoted at 52 cents, up 1 cent.

Both domestic and world sugar futures advanced slightly. Refiners still quoted 5 cents a pound for their product, but refined was said to be available at 4.90 cents in competitive southern areas.

Silk, coffee, hides, wool tops, lead, and cottonseed oil were on the losing side, but declines were limited to small fractions of a cent in most cases.

Rubber futures closed .30 cent a pound lower to .05 cent higher. Copper was also irregular. Zinc futures finished unchanged.

OIL LEGISLATION BELIEVED LIKELY AT SPECIAL CALL

Output Shows Increase; Nebraska Pool Found.

Gov. Horner indicated yesterday that oil legislation may be on the agenda of the special session of the Illinois legislature, which he said he hopes will be completed by Christmas. At the same time oil production in the nation and in Illinois was reported to have increased last week, and Nebraska's second well in 10 days came in with a production of [illegible] to 200 barrels a day.

Horner said he was "inclined" to include oil control legislation in the special session, but would not make up his mind definitely until he receives a report from Neil H. Jacoby, chairman of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission.

Studying Oil Problem.

Jacoby, a University of Chicago professor, has been making a study of the oil problem for several weeks, and is in Washington, D. C., at present. Horner said he had asked Jacoby to look into "all phases" of oil regulation.

Horner repeated an earlier statement that oil taxation is under consideration as a potential source of revenue for higher old age pensions. The governor said he wanted legislation to boost the maximum pensions to $40 a month, effective Jan. 1 when increased federal aid will be available.

The Oil and Gas journal reported the nation's oil output rose 291,093 barrels daily to 3,789,117 barrels in the week ended Nov. 11. Illinois production increased 2,379 barrels to 338,558, which compared with the Illinois peak production of 344,267 barrels in the last week of September. Last week's biggest increase was in Texas, where output jumped 261,949 barrels to 1,547,372.

59 Illinois Wells in Week.

In Illinois 59 wells were brought in during the week ended Nov. 11, and 15 tests were abandoned. Wells brought in this year to date total 3,115, compared with 1,665 in the corresponding 1938 period.

The Nebraska strike was announced by the California-Nebraska Oil Company, Ltd. The new well was brought in by the company about 10 miles northeast of Ogallala, Neb., at 1,950 to 2,240 feet. Officials said they believed that the Hayes shale, in which the oil was found, is a continuation of rich Wyoming fields.

The first Nebraska strike was brought in 10 days ago near Falls City, which is close to the Kansas-Nebraska border. Its initial production was estimated at 150 barrels a day. The firm which drilled this well is preparing to sink another hole nearby.

The bureau of mines reported stocks of domestic and foreign crude petroleum at the close of the week ended Nov. 4 totaled 230,994,000 barrels, an increase of 541,000 barrels compared with the preceding week.

BONDS TOTALING 4 MILLIONS ARE SOLD BY BOSTON

Boston, Mass., yesterday awarded $4,000,000 of various purpose bonds to a syndicate on its bid of 100.1399 for $1,500,000 as 2¼s; $1,450,000 of relief bonds as 1¾s; $1,000,000 of funding bonds as 1¾s, and $50,000 of fire station bonds as 1¾s.

The New Jersey state house commission authorized the state treasurer to sell $10,500,000 of unemployment relief bonds, the probable time of the sale being Dec. 19. Sale of $2,000,000 in grade crossing elimination bonds may also be made at the same time. The remainder of the $21,000,000 ratified in the Nov. 7 election will be held in reserve to help meet next year's relief obligations.

CHICAGO HOUSING LOAN SOLD AT PAR PLUS PREMIUM

Interest Rate Only 0.6% Per Year.

Temporary loan notes of the Chicago Housing authority, totaling $3,465,000, were sold yesterday at a premium to a banking syndicate. The purchase of the Chicago unit's notes was part of a $49,675,000 issue of temporary loan notes of various local housing authorities.

The syndicate was headed by Chemical Bank and Trust company of New York and included the Northern Trust company of Chicago.

The low bid by the Chemical bank group in the Chicago purchase was for par and accrued interest to date of delivery plus a premium of $81.86 with interest on the six months notes at the rate of 0.6 per cent per annum.

Two Other Banks Bid.

There were two other bidders, both Chicago banks, and both at higher rates of interest than the New York group. The First National Bank of Chicago was second with a bid of 0.66 per cent plus a premium of $69.30. The Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company was highest, with a bid of 1 per cent, plus a premium of $866.25.

According to Miss Elizabeth Wood, executive secretary of the Chicago Housing authority, the money will be used for construction expenses during the next six months on the Ida B. Wells housing project at 37th street and South Park way, for colored families. A total of $1,887,000 will repay the United States Housing authority for cash borrowed.

Ten Other Cities Finance.

Local housing authorities of 10 other cities participated in the initial issue by the USHA for federal housing in the various parts of the country. The purchases were made by the institutions for their own investment portfolios only, it was reported, and were in line with the plans of the United States Housing authority administrator for public financing by local housing authorities with the aid of the federal housing bureau.

According to Miss Wood, the south side project probably will be completed next November.

PRICES OF WHEAT FUTURES HOLD IN NARROW RANGE

Wheat prices held within rather narrow limits on the Chicago Board of trade, with the December future closing ⅛ cent higher. The new crop months were unchanged to ⅛ cent lower.

Brokers who frequently act for export interests were good buyers of corn futures, but the market showed an easy undertone and closed ⅛ to ⅜ cent lower. It was easier to trace the buying than the selling, brokers said.

Soy beans developed independent strength and closed ½ cent higher.

First National Bank to Pay Million Christmas Fund

The First National Bank of Chicago will pay 16,000 members of its Christmas savings fund a total of about $1,000,000, the bank said yesterday. The amount will be about 20 per cent above the 1938 payment. The First National is one of the few Chicago banks to make substantial Christmas savings fund payments. Most banks have dropped Christmas savings funds and have not pushed them actively because of their inability to get an adequate return on these funds.

Business Bits

Don Francisco.

Don Francisco, president of Lord & Thomas advertising agency, will speak tonight at the annual meeting of the Chicago Better Business Bureau, to be held in the Grand ballroom of the Palmer House. "Business Needs Friends" will be the subject of his talk, which will be broadcast over a national network.

Representatives of virtually every industry in the United States will gather today and tomorrow at the Palmer House for discussions on modern production equipment and systems. The meetings will be sponsored by the American Management association. Officers from the ordnance department of the army will outline the army's plans for industrial coördination and preparedness.

The Illinois Society of Certified Public Accountants will hold a dinner meeting this evening at the Union League club. Dr. William A. Paton, head of the department of accounting of the University of Michigan, will speak.

Howard Coonley, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, will address members of the Chicago Association of Commerce today at a luncheon meeting at Hotel La Salle. He will speak on "American Industry in the World Today."

A. H. Motley, western advertising manager for the Crowell-Collier organization, will address members of the Chicago Financial Advertisers association today at their regular monthly meeting in the Bismarck hotel.

Owen D. Gilman and Frank P. Collyer have joined the Chicago office of Fuller, Rodney & Redmond. Both formerly were with Shields & Co.

RAILROADS CURB TRUCK SHIPPING, OIL MEN TOLD

Erection of Legislative Barriers Charged.

these bills are sponsored by railroads," he said.

Conger Reynolds, chairman of an institute committee on alcohol-gasoline blends, said politicians still were coddling a proposal to convert farm products into a motor fuel for blending with petroleum under legislative compulsion.

"The proposal is subject to unprejudiced analysis," said Reynolds. "The chemists know that alcohol fuel costs more than petroleum fuel, enough to boost the cost to motorists from 2 to 4 cents a gallon. Chemists know they can produce gasoline from coal cheaper than they can produce power alcohol. Yet politicians fondle the idea before farm constituents as a measure for reducing the crop surplus.

Wallace's Shift Described.

"Even Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, once an exponent of the idea himself, has become skeptical after thinking the thing thru, and is now among those who, altho continuing to favor scientific study of the subject, do not regard alcohol as the solution of the farm problem which its ardent proponents call it."

Murray D. Van Wagoner, Michigan highway commissioner and president of the American Road Builders' association, told of progress being made in having states amend their constitutions to prohibit expenditure of gas tax revenue on uses foreign to streets and highways.

Dr. Gustav Egloff, director of research for tme Universal Products company, warned delegates against statutory regulations of octane ratings for retail sale of gasoline. He said this would kill competition in improving the quality of motor fuels.

AMERICAN MILLS CONSUME COTTON NEAR PEAK RATE

Growers' Hopes for Cut in Big Surplus Raised.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14 (AP).—Near record consumption of cotton by American mills during the last three months has raised grower hopes that a sizable dent will be made this season in the nation's large surplus.

The census bureau reported today that consumption during October amounted to 686,936 bales, a record for the month. This brought the total for the first three months of the season to 1,940,956 bales. In October last year 543,857 bales were consumed and in three months period 1,636,665 bales were used.

May Approach 1936 Record.

Agriculture department officials said that if this rate should be maintained during the remainder of the season, domestic consumption would approach the 1936 record of 7,950,000 bales. The amount consumed domestically last year was 6,900,000 bales.

Exports likewise were running far ahead of last season. The census bureau reported foreign shipments in October amounted to 886,332 bales, compared with 464,439 in the same month last year. This volume brought total exports for the three month period to 1,754,181 bales compared with 1,053,940 bales in the corresponding period last year.

See Exports of Million Bales.

Officials said that should exports continue at this rate, the season's volume would be about 6,900,000 bales, or the largest since 1933.

Domestic consumption of 7,775,000 bales and exports of 6,000,000 bales would result, officials said, in lowering the 14,000,000 bale surplus by almost 2,000,000 bales. They added, however, that both domestic consumption and exports might shrink later in the season.

There have been reports that domestic production of textiles has been running ahead of sales, resulting in the accumulation of excess inventories.

AMERICA'S FLAG FLEET.

The maritime commission has been mentioned often in the news. Is it a private organization in which stock can be bought or is it connected with the government?—H. F.

Answer: The United States Maritime commission is not a private company, nor is it organized on a corporate basis. It was established by the merchant marine act of 1936, amended in 1938, as a government agency to develop the American flag merchant fleet.

The law provided that the commission foster the growth of a merchant marine, adequate for the water shipping requirements of American commerce and capable of conversion into a naval auxiliary in time of war.

The maritime commission supplanted the old United States Shipping board bureau of the commerce department and acquired all the property of the United States Shipping Board Merchant Fleet corporation, which was dissolved.

Thru construction subsidies covering as much as one-third of the cost, and thru operating subsidies, the maritime commission is empowered to aid American shipbuilders and operators in meeting foreign competition.

Under the subsidy program, the commission finances the construction of vessels and sells them to private operators at the cost it estimates would have been charged by a foreign shipbuilder. Foreign shipbuilding costs are considerably below those of domestic shipyards. The commission also advances loans to private steamship lines which purchase the vessels.

The commission is engaged in a billion dollar program to construct 500 ships in ten years. Vessels will be fitted for swift diversion from normal shipping to national defense if needed. The commission pays for the armament features in addition to the subsidy.

Under the construction program, the commission has contracted for 137 ships valued at more than 300 million dollars.

The operating subsidy is based on the difference between domestic and competitive foreign costs, but cannot exceed the amount of expense which places the American operator at a disadvantage in competition with foreign ship owners.

The commission also directs the training of maritime personnel, the study of essential foreign trade routes and the development of a long-range rehabilitation of the flag fleet.

The commission had operating agreements with more than 16 steamship companies and had under its control a fleet of 161 ships with a total tonnage of 1,411,000 on June 30, 1938. The gross tonnage of the entire American merchant marine was 12,050,000, second only to that of the United Kingdom.

DAY BY DAY ON THE FARM
By Homer Neisz

Winter Wheat Weak.

November 14, 1939.

FIFTY-THREE acres of winter wheat sown on the Du Page county farm this fall has made such a poor showing that the farm manager says it is doubtful whether some of the fields will come thru the winter with a strong enough stand to make a fair crop of grain next summer.

The wheat was sown about two weeks later than the normal date for seeding because the prolonged fall drouth made it impossible to plow the ground and prepare it for seeding at the right time.

There is a fair stand of wheat in all the fields, but none of it is as high as wheat usually is this late in the fall. The plants are not tall enough to cover the ground thoroly except in a few low places where surface moisture from the fall rains collected.

Top Dressing Planned.

Part of the wheat will be covered with a top dressing of manure from the barnyards after the ground freezes to protect it during the winter. Top dressing winter wheat with strawy manure is a common practice at the farm, but there may not be enough manure for all the wheat this year. The acreage is larger than usual. The latest planted fields will be top dressed first.

Covering wheat land with manure is considered especially important on thin soil where the manure adds needed plant food in addition to protecting the wheat against winter killing. It also helps to insure a good stand of clover or alfalfa when these legume seeds are sown in the wheat.

Straw also makes a good top dressing for wheat. It protects the crop from the weather and adds some plant food to the soil. The value of wheat straw for fertilizer is said to be more than the straw usually will bring when baled and sold for commercial uses.

Intended as Nurse Crop.

The wheat at the farm was intended to serve as a nurse crop for grasses and legumes to be seeded in February or March. It may not be possible at that time to tell whether enough wheat will survive in the different fields to pay to save it for grain. If any of the wheat dies out during the winter the land will be disked next spring and seeded in oats unless grass and legume seeds already have been sown in the wheat. Should any of the seedings be put in, the wheat will be left to protect them even tho the stand is too thin to make a crop of grain.

So far this has been the driest fall on record in several of the states in the winter wheat belt, according to figures of the weather bureau. Total rainfall in Kansas in September and October was less than one inch. The previous low for that state was in 1888, when more than twice as much rain fell as during the same months this year.

Total precipitation in September and October for the entire region between the Appalachian and Rocky mountains was the lowest since the weather bureau started keeping records. Rain and snow during the last two weeks have brought partial relief in many sections.

PROFIT FALSELY ASSAILED, SAYS REV. J. F. O'HARA

Notre Dame Head Berates Rabble-Rousing.

Popular misconception of the word "profit" has stirred up agitation by politicians to destroy private initiative and regiment life in the United States. This assertion was made last night by the Rev. John F. O'Hara, president of the University of Notre Dame. He spoke at the Edison Electric institute's third annual accounting conference at the Edgewater Beach hotel.

The Rev. John F. O'Hard.

Profits have been falsely described as "manna from heaven for the blessed few on the inside," he said. Actually, he asserted, profit is something owed to somebody for a real service. He assailed the false conception of profit.

Material of Class Warfare.

"That picture of profit has quickly become material for class warfare," he asserted. "The politician found it excellent for rabble-rousing. The bureaucrat seized upon it as the bottomless well for new government expenditures. And it remained the principal bait for suckers in Wall street."

The Rev. Mr. O'Hara asserted that accountants could counteract the false notion about profits and build up the correct conception in their reports.

Cites Steel, Utility "Profit."

Profits are really wages for tools, he said. Recently, he observed, some companies have pioneered in making clear than only a small part of the consumer's dollar goes for profits.

In a nine year report of operations made last year, he said, the United States Steel corporation showed that the rate of return to its stockholders over the nine years was only 2½ per cent on their investment, altho the company in that time took in more than six billion dollars. Another breakdown by United States Steel showed that owners had invested $11,534 for each of the 187,000 employés.

He also called attention to a study made last year by the Indiana tax study commission of the state's electric, gas and water utilities. It showed that 10,190 men were employed by the utilities at an average wage of $1,161 a year. The public, or stock holders, had invested $52,314 in tools and equipment for each man employed.

Shows Per Man Spending.

"The companies took in from the sale of their products a total of $78,-167,601 in the year 1936," he said. "This amounted to $7,668 per employé. The company paid $913 per man in taxes. It spent $2,227 per man for goods and services purchased from others.

"Those who put up their savings to lay cables and pipes, to furnish dynamos and coke ovens, received a return on their savings invested of 4½ per cent if they were bond holders and 41-3 per cent if they held stock, and this return was subject to personal income tax assessment.

"This is not a class warfare picture. Neither is it a stock promotion picture. But it is an honest picture, and one calculated to stimulate the use of common sense in the solution of our common problems."

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

Pork and hog prices yesterday fell to new five year lows for the month of November under pressure of heavy supplies. A total of 81,400 hogs arrived at the Chicago stock yards during the first two days of this week, against 38,365 for Monday and Tuesday, last week. This was the heaviest two day run of the year. Losses in hogs for the day amounted to mostly 10 cents after a barely steady opening.

A more dependable trade developed for cattle yesterday. Best light steers and yearlings sold strong to slightly higher, and most heavy stock was about steady. Little price change occurred in ovine stock.

[All prices are in dollars per 100 pounds.]

Residents of Illinois have benefited by this new "SPECIAL" Loan Plan.

As little as $2.00 to $2.26 a week repays in full, including all charges, a $150 loan over 20 months at America's largest loan company. No salary assignments.

$2.00 a week on the average is all you need to set aside for every $150 borrowed on Personal's new amazing "Special" loan plan of only 1½% per month on the actual balance owed. This plan is for persons with a steady income or salary sufficient to meet payments promptly without undue credit strain and a good credit record. You don't need co-makers, life insurance, or bankable securities.

For persons without established credit and employment ratings and who wish to carry a loan larger than 8 to 12% of annual salary or income, Personal offers its "Regular" loan plan. On this plan an average of $2.26 set aside per week takes care of everything on a $150 loan—the charge is based on 3% monthly on unpaid balances of $100 and less and 2% monthly on unpaid balances over $100.

Loans up to $300 on either plan on your personal note or with furniture or auto. Co-maker loans are also available on "Regular" plan. Seize this opportunity to save on loan costs. Come in or telephone today.

RATES REDUCED. Monthly rate reduced to 2¼% on loan balances of $150 or less and 2% on loan balances above $150.

LOAN	AVERAGE MONTHLY PAYMENTS* [including interest]
$ 50	$ 3.16
100	6.32
150	9.47
200	12.59
250	15.67
300	18.73

*Based on 20 months. Other amounts from $10 to $300 in proportion, 1 to 20 months to pay.

Save the Difference

Commonwealth's charge is less on all loans than the maximum permitted by law. Our monthly rate of 2¼% on loan balances of $150 or less and only 2% on loan balances above applies to ALL TYPES and CLASSES OF LOANS. Any one who can make regular payments can qualify; there is no discrimination. EVERYBODY GETS THIS SAME RATE. Of course, persons whose incomes are above average, can afford to make larger payments and thus make substantial reductions in their loan cost.

No credit inquiries of friends or relatives. Applications received by personal call, letter or telephone will receive immediate attention.

USED AUTOMOBILES FOR SALE.

Lincoln-Zephyr Leader Among Used Car Values WHY?

1. BECAUSE IT'S BEEN THE STYLE LEADER EVERY YEAR SINCE 1936.
2. BECAUSE OF 12 CYLINDER PERFORMANCE WITH REMARKABLE ECONOMY.
3. BECAUSE THE BODY AND FRAME ARE WELDED INTO ONE OF STEEL. NO BOLTS TO CAUSE RATTLES.
4. BECAUSE THE ELIMINATION OF RUNNING BOARDS PROVIDES A WIDE BODY AND ROOMY SEATS.
5. BECAUSE MOST USED LINCOLN-ZEPHYRS ARE GUARANTEED AND SOME CARRY THE FAMOUS R. & G. GUARANTEE.

We have grouped them for your convenience. Some have radios, heaters, and white wall tires. Variety of colors and upholstery. Come early and take your pick!

Sikorsky S-44, long range navy patrol bomber, which is prototype of commercial flying boats to be ordered by Export Air Lines for Atlantic service. The commercial version of plane will have two decks, upper for crew and lower for passengers. All military equipment in present bomber type will be removed. (Story on page 15.)

Routes over which American Export Air Lines seeks to open service to Europe. The two northern routes were proposed in line's original petition, but are blocked by combat zone proclamation. Direct New York to Lisbon route is to be taken on nonstop flights. Interim service will be started next summer over the New York-Horta-Lisbon route. (Story on page 15.)
